INQUIRY IN TAX SCANDALS SHIFTS HERE, M'GRATH TO BE CALLED LATER

Omaha Hearings End After Snyder and Foley Testify — U.S. Grand Jury to Convene in City Monday.

The Government's investigation into tax scandals in the Truman Administration will shift to St. Louis next week with J. Howard McGrath, former Attorney General, and other high Justice Department officials of the Truman Administration probable witnesses at a later time.

Edward H. Foley Jr., who served as Under Secretary of the Treasury when former St. Louisan John W. Snyder was Secretary, was the last witness at Omaha yesterday before the grand jury there declared an indefinite recess. Snyder, who had two sessions before the jury, and Foley were excused subject to recall.

Investigating 'Whitewash.'

Immediate purpose of the Justice Department investigation is to determine who was responsible for the original attempts to "whitewash" the activities of James P. Finnegan when he was collector of internal revenue in St. Louis.

Finnegan, now serving a two-year prison term at Terre Haute, Ind., was convicted of misconduct in office after United States District Judge George H. Moore and Senator John J. Williams (Rep.), Delaware, insisted on a thorough inquiry into Finnegan's office and criticized the whitewash attempts.

It has been disclosed by the Justice Department that investigators are looking into a number of possible violations of federal statutes, including perjury, obstruction of justice, fraud and conspiracy.

Senator Williams, in a Senate speech May 7, 1951, charged that both the Justice and Treasury Departments withheld "damaging evidence against Finnegan, whose conduct was then under investigation. Evidence in the files of the two departments was not submitted to a St. Louis grand jury, which "exonerated" Finnegan, Senator Williams declared.

Permitted to Resign.

Williams said the Administration, after whitewashing Finnegan, permitted him to resign and his resignation was accepted "with great reluctance" by President Truman.

It was the reference to the Justice Department, as well as the Treasury Department, by Senator Williams four years ago that led investigators to decide to call McGrath and some of his associates as witnesses in the present inquiry, it is believed.

The grand jury is scheduled to convene at 10 a.m. Monday, but may take up other matters before beginning the Finnegan inquiry. Evidence will be presented by Special Assistant Attorneys General St. John Barrett, John Lowther and Murray L. Randall.

The decision to recall Foley at a subsequent date, probably here, apparently indicated that his testimony at Omaha was considered important. Another indication of the importance of Foley's statements was the decision to excuse from further testimony at Omaha George J. Schoeneman, former Commissioner of Internal Revenue, and William H. Woolf, who once headed the Revenue Bureau's Intelligence Division. Both are subject to recall, however.

Wyllys Newcomb, Government counsel, who directed the Omaha inquiry, is not expected to participate in the early phase of the investigation here.

GOAT BUTTS IN ON DOG WALKERS, WON'T GO AWAY

Robert P. Howlett and his son, James, ventured out into the cold last night to walk their dog. When they got back home at 7087 Lindenwood place they found they were walking a goat.

The goat, a nanny, had been feeding on a neighbor's shrubbery. It took a shine to the Howletts and, politely ignoring the Howletts' barking cocker spaniel, took up a position on the front porch.

By tugging and pushing, father and son finally got the goat into the front yard. But that was a mistake. The animal began sampling some of Howlett's shrubs.

Field Officer Robert Brandau, of the Missouri Humane Society, answering an urgent summons, reached the scene. With Howlett's help he lifted the stubborn goat into a truck and hauled it away to the society's shelter at 1210 Macklind avenue.

There, in the congenial company of three other goats, Howlett's nanny today was chewing on whatever there is to chew on in an animal shelter.

ASKING FOR DATE ON STREET RULED TO BE FREE SPEECH

SIOUX City, Ia., Jan. 29 (AP) — When Air Force Sgt. James Wesley asked Miss Bonnie Baird, a police department employe, for a date on a downtown street she had him charged with disorderly conduct.

But Municipal Judge Berry J. Sisk ruled yesterday that the 26-year-old airman's "right of free speech" was violated.

In dismissing the charge, Sisk held that an old Sioux City ordinance which prohibits men from trying to make the acquaintance of women in public places was unconstitutional.

In dismissing the charge, Judge Sisk said he took "judicial notice of the commonly known fact that acquaintances are made daily without formal introductions by third persons and without immoral or indecent intentions." The judge added he hoped his ruling would not be construed as "a license to curbstone Romeos."

ICE ON SOME PARK LAKES RULED SAFE FOR SKATING

Two in Forest Park, Those In Carondelet, Fairgrounds Reach Desired Thickness.

Skating was permitted today in Carondelet and Fairgrounds Parks and on two lakes in Forest Park, after ice attained a safe thickness of 3½ inches.

Superintendent of Parks Thomas J. Purcell designated Jefferson Lake and Post-Dispatch Lake as the Forest Park skating sites. Fires to warm skaters mark the skating lakes, Purcell said. Boathouse Lake in Carondelet Park is open to skaters.

Grand Basin in Forest Park, a favorite with skaters, was not considered safe today, Purcell said. A further check was being made of the ice in O'Fallon Park, which may be declared safe later in the day.

JUDGE URGES GRAND JURY TO CHECK ON COUNTY NURSING HOMES

Weinstein Also Proposes Investigation of Existing Laws and the Facilities to Enforce Them.

An investigation to determine whether nursing home regulations have been violated, and whether existing laws affecting them are adequate, was suggested to a new St. Louis county grand jury today by Circuit Judge Noah Weinstein in his formal charge.

The jury of 12 includes six women, more than have ever served on such a body before.

Judge Weinstein said the inquiry should be directed particularly at plumbing and electrical wiring. Further, he said, it should be determined whether the public works department, which issues plumbing and electrical permits, is properly staffed.

Other Subjects to Check.

Among other subjects the jury might wish to investigate Judge Weinstein listed location of the county jail, establishment of a holdover separate from the jail, contract bidding, and auditing of county offices.

He noted that a law now requires that the jail be in Clayton, but said the jurors might well recommend to the State Legislature that it be somewhere else in the county, with provision for separation of first offenders and rehabilitation of prisoners.

"You should consider whether the county is receiving the advantages of true competitive bidding," he said, and specifically mentioned purchasing of supplies and equipment, construction and maintenance of streets and highways, and rental of space.

There have been frequent complaints that county contracts have been given to favored bidders.

Records of the county offices are examined by the county auditor under the present system. Judge Weinstein directed the jury's attention to the question of whether the public interest would be served better if the books were audited regularly by independent accountants.

Standing Ready to Assist.

The body was told that the Governmental Research Institute and the St. Louis Crime Commission stand ready to cooperate if called upon for assistance in any matter.

The judge noted that in many communities the grand jury has become known as a "rubber stamp" of the prosecuting attorney, and said that in such cases the members did not know of their true powers and duties. He reminded the body that it can start an independent investigation of any phase of county affairs if it so desires.

The foreman is Leonard G. Miller, 4 Armstrong drive, Glendale, vice president of Mutual Bank and Trust Co.

County Council Action.

A general tightening of controls over nursing homes was urged Jan. 19 in a resolution adopted by the St. Louis County Council. It said stricter regulations are "urgently needed in order to provide adequate health, safety and sanitary standards" in the homes.

The council action was in line with a recommendation by the County Health and Hospital Advisory Board, urging the council to support state legislation for closer inspection and more severe penalties for violation of regulations.

Legislative proposals to those ends were introduced in the 1953 session but were not passed.

PRESIDENT PADS SIGNATURE, USES 15 PENS ON RESOLUTION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP) —President Eisenhower used 15 pens in signing the Formosa security resolution today and gave 12 of them to witnesses.

Instead of just his signature, required on most measures, he strung out the signing to get more souvenir pens into play.

Ellsinore 'Riled Up' by Fines For Hungry Sow's Liberators

Special to the Post Dispatch.

ELLSINORE, Mo., Jan. 29—Practically everybody within shouting distance of this Carter county community was talking today about the celebrated case of Luin Leach's sow. The sow just grunted as she rooted around the barnyard searching for another frozen acorn.

Most concerned about what happened over in circuit court at West Plains the other day were Leach, who was not there because he was sick in a hospital at Poplar Bluff, and 11 of his friends. The friends were found guilty by a jury of breaking down the pound marshal's barn door in order to liberate the sow last August.

It seems, from evidence presented at the trial, that the famous pig strayed from her barnyard and was strolling down the street in violation of a town ordinance. Pound Marshal James Patterson spied her and locked her up. Leach and his friends gathered, it was reported, and somebody used an ax on the door of the pokey, which was the marshal's barn, after word got around that the sow was not getting enough to eat.

"This was illegal assemblage with intent to destroy property," cried County Prosecutor C. P. Turley.

"Nonsense!" snorted Defense Attorney Henry G. Morris of St. Louis. "The ordinance is illegal and, besides, the marshal wasn't taking proper care of the sow, a valuable property."

Morris announced he would appeal $10 and $20 fines assessed against Luin Leach's friends.

MOLOTOV AGREES TO THINK ABOUT ASKING RED CHINA TO USE RESTRAINT

Doesn't Reject British Approach But Declares U.S. Is Responsible for 'Menace of War' in Far East.

MOSCOW, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Soviet government has promised to consider a British request that it intercede with Communist China to further a proposed cease-fire along the Formosa strait. But the Russians say the United States is primarily responsible for tension in that area.

The Soviet position was set forth last night in a reply by Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov to the British move. A text, described as Molotov's answer, was distributed by the Soviet news agency Tass and broadcast by the Moscow radio.

The British request was delivered to the Kremlin yesterday by British Ambassador Sir William Hayter. His visit was timed to coincide with a similar plea to the Peiping government by the British charge d'affaires in China.

Hayter specifically asked for Soviet support of a move in the United Nations aimed at bringing about a cease-fire.

The British Ambassador also asked Soviet authorities to urge restraint on Communist China in the present crisis. A British embassy spokesman said Hayter acted with the prior knowledge of the United States State Department.

Molotov's Response.

The text broadcast by the Moscow radio quoted Molotov as saying "the statement made by the Ambassador would be considered by the Soviet government."

"It is perfectly clear," the text continued, "that these causes (of tension in the Formosa area) reside in the gross interference of the United States in the internal affairs of China, the endeavor to separate Taiwan (Formosa) from China. The aforementioned actions of the United States represent aggression against the People's Republic which has every right to Taiwan and the Pescadores.

"On the other hand, actions of the United States and the Chiang Kai-shek clique, which is being encouraged by it, lead to an intensification of international tension in the Far East and are full of the menace of a new war.

"If the United States were to stop its aggressive actions in the area of Taiwan, this would facilitate the easing of international tension."

Critical of Britain.

The broadcast said Molotov also "drew the attention of the British ambassador to the fact that if Britain were not supporting the United States in her aggressive actions in this area, the United States would not have decided to undertake such actions."

By the United Press.

Pravda today condemned a New Zealand-sponsored U.N. resolution that would call for a cease-fire between the Communist and Nationalist Chinese.

The Communist party newspaper attacked the resolution, to be introduced Monday in the U.N. security council, as "a new provocation against China."

The newspaper said New Zealand, in proposing the cease-fire, is acting "under strict observance of (United States Secretary of State) John Foster Dulles."

"In their aggressive policy in the Far East, American monopolists find support in British ruling circles though this policy does go against the vital interests of Great Britain."

MOLOTOV GIVES VIEWS TO HEARST

(Copyright, 1955, by International News Service.)

MOSCOW, Jan. 29—Soviet Deputy Premier and Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov told William Randolph Hearst Jr. today that the situation in the Formosan area constitutes a threat to peace and indicated that the Soviet Government might be willing to ask Communist China to agree to a temporary cease-fire.

Molotov made this statement in an 80-minute interview with the American publisher and Kingsbury Smith, INS correspondent, in his office in the Kremlin.

In response to a question Molotov said:

"The Soviet Union is interested in reducing international tension everywhere."

He added: "Everything that contributes to that end will find

PEIPING SAYS IT WILL HIT BACK AT ANY U.S. ACTION

Red Radio Rejects Cease-Fire — Charges U.S. Plot to Set Up China Defense Line.

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP)—Communist China rejected today any suggestion of a cease-fire with the Nationalists and warned that it would "strike back with heavy blows" if American forces try to stop it from taking Formosa.

The Peiping radio in a broadcast heard here termed the idea of a Formosa cease-fire "absolutely unacceptable" and declared:

"We are determined to liberate Taiwan (Formosa). If the United States armed forces dare to attack us, we will firmly strike back with heavy blows."

U.N. Council to Meet.

The United Nations Security Council has been called to meet Monday to consider a cease-fire move. The Council is expected to ask the Chinese Communists to attend if discussion of a cease-fire is approved.

British diplomatic representatives in Moscow and Peiping called on Soviet and Red Chinese leaders yesterday to urge support for the idea.

The Peiping broadcast, quoting an article in the People's Daily, an organ of the Red Chinese Government, said:

"The so-called cease-fire between the Chinese people and the Chiang (Kai-shek) traitors, planned by the United States Government and its followers is absolutely unacceptable. The Chinese people must eliminate the traitorous Chiang clique.

"Taiwan (Formosa) is territory stolen by that clique and it must be liberated by the Chinese people. There is no cease-fire to discuss.

The broadcast was the first Red Chinese comment since the world-wide moves yesterday to arrange a cease-fire, but the radio has been blasting the idea of a cease-fire since Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai said in a statement last Monday that his government would not agree to such a move.

Assails U. S.

"To have a cease-fire with the Chiang nest of traitors is to sell out the interests of the Chinese people," said today's broadcast. "It would mean allowing the United States to perpetuate its occupation of Taiwan and the Penghu (Pescadores) islands.

"Such a cease-fire would in effect force the Chinese people to submit to the U. S. war menace, tolerate U. S. division of China and place the national defense line of the United States on China's territory.

"It would be tantamount to tolerating the establishment of military bases by the United States on China's territory that would be fed as a springboard to extend aggression against China and prepare for a new war."

The broadcast said the United States on the one hand was "hatching a plot for a so-called cease-fire through the United Nations and on the other step-

NEHRU SAYS HE HOPES COMMONWEALTH TALKS WILL FURTHER PEACE

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP). INDIA'S Prime Minister Nehru expressed hope today that the coming British Commonwealth Prime Ministers conference could "further the cause of peace."

He declined, however, to discuss the Formosa situation with reporters at London airport where he arrived to attend the meeting which opens Monday.

Asked what he regarded as the greatest present danger, Nehru replied: "War."

"We must think of peace," he added. "We must not think of war or providing for war."

PRESIDENT GOES SOUTH, DULLES ALSO ON VACATION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (UP) —President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles signaled relaxation of Washington tension over the Far East today by leaving the capital on separate vacations.

Mr. Eisenhower took off from National Airport for a 48-hour rest at his Augusta (Ga.) golfing retreat after signing the war-if-necessary Formosa defense resolution which cleared Congress last night. He arrived after a one-hour and 54-minute flight.

Mr. Eisenhower was accompanied by a friend and golfing partner, Clifford Roberts, New York broker and chairman of the executive committee of the Augusta National Golf Club.

Dulles took off from Bolling Air Force Base for a week of fishing in the Bahama islands. He, too, gave every appearance of looking forward to his vacation without fear of an early blowup in the Far East.

Both officials will be protected during their absence by high-speed communications circuits with Washington. If a new crisis develops, the President can be back here in less than two hours and Dulles in less than four hours.

Physics Society Faces Toughest Problem---Making Ends Meet

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29—The officers of the American Physical Society asked the membership yesterday to lay aside for the moment equations of nuclear physics, electronics, relativity and meson theory and attend to the following :

$BP+CPN+DN=P$; and $FP+G(N-N^)+HN^=I$.

The equations were used to "convey to the members the society's biggest financial headache publishing the Physical Review.

Although the formulas are simpler than those in physics, they tell the membership that if the journal continues in its present form the cost of publishing will outrun income by $325,000 to $203,000 in 1955. The letters in the formula stand for printing, mailing, editorial work, subscribers, pages and nonmember subscribers.

SENATE ACTION GIVES GO-AHEAD TO TACHEN MOVE

Evacuation of Threatened Islands 200 Miles North of Formosa Could Start Any Time.

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEH, Formosa, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Chinese Nationalists today greeted with considerable satisfaction the news of the United States Senate's approval of President Eisenhower's firm policy for Formosa's defense.

The President's signature on the fight-if-we-must declaration was expected to signal the beginning of an American-shielded Nationalist withdrawal from the Communist menaced Tachen islands.

Tao Hsi-sheng, one of President Chiang Kai-shek's advisers on national policy, said the Senate's approval of the declaration would tend "firmly to safeguard the security of the free world in the western Pacific."

Fleet Standing By.

Evacuation of 15,000 Nationalist soldiers and about the same number of civilians from the exposed Tachens, 200 miles north of Formosa and only 18 miles from the Red China mainland, could begin at any time.

Standing ready to cover the operation was the United States Seventh Fleet, an armada of 100 or more warships including at least four aircraft carriers.

The necessary orders to the commander of the Tachen garrison, Liu Lien-yi, were believed to have been taken personally by the Nationalist defense minister, Gen. Yu Ta-wei. The minister returned to Taipeh last night from the Tachens.

Nationalist troops there were reported to have pledged full support for any decisions taken by the government here. Communist radio broadcasts recently have been appealing to the garrison to defect.

Red Build-Up.

Chinese press reports today said Communist ships continued to pour men and equipment onto Yikiangshan, the tiny island eight miles north of the Tachens whose invasion by the Reds set in motion the Eisenhower declaration.

Nationalist fighter-bombers attacked six of the Red vessels

MEASURE PASSED BY SENATE 85-3 WITH KNOWLEDGE IT CAN BRING WAR

Eisenhower Calls Move 'Evidence of U.S. Determination to Resist Aggression' — Issue Now Goes to U.N.

By GEORGE H. HALL
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—President Eisenhower signed today the congressional resolution passed at his request giving him authority to use American armed might in defense of Formosa, the Pescadores and related islands in the Formosa Strait and the East China Sea.

In putting his signature to the historic measure, passed 85 to 3 by the Senate last night, Mr. Eisenhower said the resolution evidenced the determination of the United States to "resist Communist aggression" in an area vital to its security.

Nonpartisan Opposition.

Senators who voted against final passage of the resolution were men of differing political faiths — Morse (Ind.), Oregon; Lehman (Dem.), New York, and Langer (Rep.), North Dakota.

Missouri Senators Hennings and Symington, Democrats, and Douglas (Dem.), and Dirksen (Rep.), Illinois, voted for the measure.

The eight absent Senators announced they would have voted for the resolution if able to be present. They were Bricker of Ohio, Flanders of Vermont and Potter of Michigan, Republicans, and Chavez of New Mexico, Frear of Delaware, Johnson of Texas, Kennedy of Massachusetts and Neely of West Virginia, Democrats.

Power Almost Unlimited.

The resolution gives the President almost unlimited power to act in the area, power which most legislators contended he already had under the Constitution. He can employ air, sea and ground forces in defending the Quemoy and Matsu islands close to the China mainland and strike at the mainland itself if he considers that necessary to the defense of the Nationalist Chinese refuge on Formosa.

The President issued this statement after he had completed the signing before Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and congressional leaders:

"I am deeply gratified at the almost unanimous vote in the Congress of the United States on this joint resolution. To the members of the Congress and to their leaders with me here today, I wish publicly to thank them for their great patriotic service.

'Americans United.'

"By their vote the American people through their elected representatives have made it clear to the world that we are united here at home in our determination to help a brave ally and to resist Communist aggression.

"By so asserting this belief we are taking a step to preserve the peace in the Formosa area. We are ready to support a United Nations effort to end the present hostilities in the area, but we also are united in our determination to defend an area vital to the security of the United States and the free world."

The Senate debated more than 11 hours yesterday before passing the resolution, which the House had approved 409 to 3 on Tuesday, the day after receiving the President's request.

Issue Shifts to U.N.

With completion of this action by the United States Government attention on the struggle in the Formosa area will shift to the United Nations in New York, where the Security Council is to meet Monday to discuss a cease-fire between the Chinese Nationalists and the Communists.

Before final passage the Senate turned back by overwhelming votes two amendments and a substitute resolution which would have limited the scope of the President's authority and stressed the role the United Nations should play in effecting a settlement.

The debate in the Senate was one of the strangest in memory. Some Senators acknowledged they were not sure exactly what they were doing. Many made painful efforts to explore the ramifications of the President's proposal without reaching explanations that could be accepted by all. Some Senators voted in favor of the resolution for reasons that appeared to be in conflict.

DIPLOMATS SURE U.N. WILL INVITE REDS TO DEBATE ON CEASE-FIRE

Council Meeting Supported by U.S.—Veto Not Applicable on on Question of Invitation to Peiping.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 29 (AP)—Western diplomats predicted today the United Nations Security Council will invite Red China to a debate here on a Communist-Nationalist cease-fire when it meets Monday on the crucial Formosa question.

New Zealand called the meeting of the 11-nation Council yesterday. The United States and Britain both backed the call but only Britain publicly supported New Zealand on the proposed invitation.

Diplomatic sources said Nationalist China probably would abstain on the debate proposal and vote against the invitation and the United States probably would vote "yes" on both. They added they could not forecast the Soviet votes but expected all other delegations would support both moves.

Not Subject to Veto.

Both Nationalist China and the Soviet Union—like the United States, Britain and France — can veto proposals classed as "substantial." But these sources said the bid to invite the Chinese Communists would be ruled merely "procedural," and so no veto would be possible.

The proposed cease-fire would apply to Nationalist-held islands near the Chinese mainland—which Congress has authorized President Eisenhower to protect with United States forces if he deems them essential to the defense of Nationalist-held Formosa and the Pescadores.

Sir Leslie Knox Munro of New Zealand, the council's January president, summoned the body in response to a letter he himself had written requesting an "early meeting."

Munro's letter proposed consideration of "the question of hostilities in the area of certain islands off the coast of the mainland of China." At a news conference, he said he meant the Tachens, Quemoys and other offshore islands—but not Formosa and the Pescadores. He said New Zealand "expects that the government of Peiping will be invited to attend, and we trust that its representatives will attend."

Chinese Acceptance Unsure.

Nobody has yet circulated a cease-fire resolution to Council members, and no sure signs were forthcoming whether either the Communists or Nationalists would accept a cease-fire.

The Red Chinese have made one appearance in the U.N.—in 1950 during debate on the Korean war.

Sir Pierson Dixon, British delegate, in a statement welcoming New Zealand's step, said a cease-fire would increase the possibility of peaceful "adjustments of other problems of the area."

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., United State delegate, also issued a statement saying it would "make a genuine contribution toward a strengthening of the peace."

JOB INSURANCE CLAIMS UP 7800 IN PERIOD OF WEEK

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (UP)—Unemployment insurance claims increased slightly during the week ended Jan. 15 but were lower than for the same week last year, according to the Department of Labor.

Unemployment insurance claims totaled 1,963,800 for the week, an increase of 7800 over the previous week but 41,400 below the same week in 1954.

The department reported also that 19,000 jobless exhausted their insurance benefits in eight large states for the week ending Jan. 15.

New unemployment insurance claims, indicating fresh unemployment, declined by 35,000 to 320,800 during the week ended Jan. 22. This was the second week of decline.

So far this year, the department said, the volume of new claims has been somewhat lower than a year ago. The federal-state-unemployment insurance program covers 36,500,000 of the nation's more than 60,000,000 workers.

Afghanistanian Greets Chou.

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP)—Foreign Minister Mohammed Ali Khan of Afghanistan has sent a message of greeting to Red China's Premier Chou En-lai on the occasion of the establishment of diplomatic relations between their two peoples, the Peiping radio reported last night. Chou had sent a similar message to Afghanistan.

REDUCING ARMY NOW QUESTIONED BY SYMINGTON

He Says Administration Should Be Increasing Armed Services if It Expects Showdown.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (UP) — Senator Stuart Symington (Dem.), Missouri, criticized the Administration in a Senate speech yesterday for planning cuts in the armed services at a time when there is a crisis over Formosa.

Symington said the United States Army has 20 divisions against 575 Russian and Chinese divisions—yet the Administration plans to cut this "tiny number" and to reduce the Marines by 32,000 men.

The Senator, a former Secretary of the Air Force, said that if the Administration thinks it is close to a showdown with the Communists, it should build up the armed forces instead of cutting them.

He said the Army does not have enough airlift for a mobile striking force or enough ammunition for "real trouble."

He believes the Communists are ahead of the United States in developnig guided missiles, Symington said, and perhaps ahead in atomic and hydrogen bombs.

Some military experts, Symington said, believe the free world and the Communists have reached atomic stalemate in which neither side would dare use hydrogen bombs lest it also be destroyed. That would certainly mean land fighting in the next war, he added.

Symington said he was voting for President Eisenhower's Formosa defense resolution, "because I believe he is trying to achieve peace."

"Bpt I also believe this Administration is making a grave mistake in not telling the people all the truth about the present danger to their survival as a result of the hydrogen bomb," he said.

By the Associated Press.

Symington said mail and telegrams he has received have been "running heavily against this request of the President," but added that he doesn't believe this would be the case "if the people knew the truth about the danger that now literally hangs over this country as the result of the possession by the Communists of both the atomic and hydrogen bombs."

ITALIAN SENATE APPROVES BILL TO JAIL TAX DODGERS

ROME, Jan. 29 (AP) — The Italian Senate last night approved a bill to toughen Italy's tax laws by threatening evaders with jail and heavier fines. The bill now goes to the Chamber.

Italian tax dodgers—if they are caught at all — now are usually subject only to light fines. There is no provision for jailing them. Jail terms under the new law would range up to six months.

Man Switches Prisons.

TORONTO, Jan. 29 (UP) — Kenneth Rapson began serving a nine-month jail term today for falsely confessing to 11 safecrackings in order to escape from his common law wife. He said "I wanted to get away from my woman for a long time.

ARMY PORTABLE X-RAY UNIT USES ATOMIC ENERGY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (UP)—The Army boasted today a new X-ray machine is portable, operates without electricity and can produce pictures of a soldier's wounds minutes after he is hit on the battlefield.

The machine utilizes a form of atomic energy. It weights only 48 pounds and can be carried on the back by medical aides. It cost only $200.

In a demonstration to the press, the machine gave a positive print in 60 seconds, much like that of a polaroid camera, of a World War II leg wound received by Ralph Santos, CBS cameraman. Santos was wounded by the Japanese in the Pacific.

Dr. Stanhope Bayne-Jones, research and development technical director in the Army Surgeon General's office, said the machine represents a "humanitarian application" of atomic energy since it is powered by radioactive thulium. Thulium's radioactive powers last about a year. It can then be returned to an atomic pile for rejuvenation.

The Army said the device could be of great use to civilian doctors when in time of disaster when power lines are down or when patients cannot be moved.

OIL FROM SHIP SPREAD ON SEA, TRAPPING BIRDS

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 29 (UP)—Oil covered 600 square miles of the North sea today, trapping thousands of birds.

The Danish tanker Gerda Maersk started the trouble 11 days ago by jettisoning 6000 tons of crude oil when the ship ran aground. The oil has been spreading ever since. Today it was drifting along the coast of the Danish island of Roemoe, where it has clogged the feathers of uncounted seabirds.

Schoolchildren are patroling the Roemoe beaches, rescuing and cleaning birds that reach the shore. The Svalen Wild Life Association is planning to set out in small boats to rescue what birds it can and give the others a speedy death.

The owners of the Gerda Maersk have offered to pay the costs of the Svalen expedition.

70 NORTH KOREANS REPORTED PUT TO DEATH BY REDS

SEOUL, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Korean Pacific Press news agency reported today about 70 Koreans were massacred and 30 more were jailed by the Communist North Korean regime late last December after their plan for mass escape to South Korea was discovered.

The agency said more than 100 North Koreans had planned to escape by ship from Wonsan, on the west coast of the peninsula, but the Communists detected the plan.

7 Korean Communists Killed

SEOUL, Jan. 29 (AP)—National police headquarters today announced guerrilla-hunting police in southwest Korea yesterday killed seven Communists rebels and captured two others in two encounters.

ATOM SCIENTISTS END U.N. TALKS ON WORLD CONGRESS

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Jan. 29 (AP)—An international panel of atomic scientists yesterday ended a session of 17 meetings held here to advise on arrangements for a world congress of atomic experts from 84 countries.

The congress, to open in Geneva, Switzerland, Aug. 8, is expected to last 12 working days. discussions are to center on use of atomic energy to produce cheap electricity and uses of such energy in industry, medicine and agriculture.

The scientists, including United States, Soviet, British, French and Indian authorities, served as an advisory board for United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold. Dr. Homi Bhabha, Indian member of the panel, has been decided on as congress chairman, it was learned.

The 60 U. N. members and 24 other countries that belong to United Nations specialized agencies will be invited to send scientists. These include several Soviet bloc countries — Albania, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

Red China was excluded by vote of the U. N. General assembly and the scientists turned down Russia's bid by academician D. V. Skobeltsyn to change the rules and include the Chinese Communists.

PRIME MINISTER HEDTOFT OF DENMARK DIES IN SWEDEN

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 29 (AP)—Prime Minister Hans Hedtoft of Denmark died unexpectedly here today. He was 52 years old. Death was attributed to a heart ailment.

Hedtoft, leader of Denmark's Social Democratic party for nearly 20 years, was in Stockholm for a third session of the Nordic Council, which opened yesterday. He dined last night with Prime Minister Tage Erlander of Sweden and later made a broadcast over the Swedish radio. Friends said he displayed no signs of ill health. He was found dead in bed in his hotel room at 9 a.m.

The Social Democratic party press in Copenhagen said Foreign Minister H. C. Hansen will succeed Hedtoft as Prime Minister.

Hedtoft first became Prime Minister in the fall of 1947 and served until 1950. His present term began in 1953. The son of a tailor, he began his political career at 24.

Soldier's 'Chute Opens 3 Seconds From Ground; He Gets a Cut Lip

TALKEETNA, Alaska, Jan. 29 (UP) — A 21-year-old paratrooper plunged nearly 900 feet in free fall yesterday and walked away with only a cut lip after his emergency parachute opened just 3 seconds before he hit the earth.

He was Pvt. Walter J. Arion, Whitetail, Mont., one of 1800 members of the 503rd Airborne Regimental Combat Team who leaped into the Alaska wilderness from more than 100 C-119s in the joint Army-Air Force winter maneuver "Exercise Snowbird."

Seven men were injured. The worst casualty was a broken ankle suffered by a medical officer.

It takes about eight seconds for a body to reach earth from 1000 feet and Arion had about three seconds of life left when his emergency chestpack chute blossomed out when he was about 100 feet from the ground.

Brig. Gen. Harry Fisher, deputy commander of the Eleventh Airborne Division, was first to reach Arion who arose shakily out of a 3-foot deep hole in the snow, grinned and told Fisher "I'm okay, sir."

PAPERS STOLEN FROM U.S. ATOM SCIENTIST'S BAGS

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Jan. 29 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission disclosed today that a search is under way for official papers stolen from the suitcase of an AEC radiation technician.

The papers were travel orders and were not classified, said Earle Hightower, security chief at the AEC's Camp Mercury, where atomic tests are due to start next month. The camp is 60 miles northeast of here.

James A. Hoffman, technician of the University of California radiation laboratory at Livermore, Calif., arrived by plane at Las Vegas Wednesday to participate in the tests.

Two other members of the AEC staff met him and they drove to a cafe. After dinner they discovered a window of their locked automobile broken and Hoffman's two suitcases missing.

The suitcases were found Thursday by two youngsters on a street. The clothing was intact. An envelope containing papers was missing, along with an electric razor and combat boots.

WOLF LADEJINSKY LEAVING FOR NEW POST IN VIET NAM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (UP)—Wolf Ladejinsky, fired by the Department of Agriculture for "security and technical" reasons, leaves tomorrow for a new foreign aid post in Viet Nam.

Ladejinsky was hired as a land reform expert by the Foreign Operations Administration after being ousted as an agricultural attache in Tokyo. The FOA said it found no ground for questioning Ladejinsky's security.

He will serve as adviser to the FOA Indochina mission.

Friends of Both Sexes Listed in 6 Notebooks of Strangled Playboy-Financier.

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 — Six loose-leaf note books in which Serge Rubinstein had meticulously written the names of 1000 friends and business associates of both sexes were studied by police today in a search for the strangler of the playboy-financier.

The books were found in the luxurious five-story Fifth Avenue house where the 46-year-old convicted draft dodger met a violent death just before dawn Thursday.

Every name in them will be checked and every person who can be located will be questioned, Deputy Chief Inspector Edward A. Feeley of the New York police said.

The inspector conceded that no motive had yet been found for the murder and that as a result the solution of the case must depend on "legwork and more legwork" or a lucky break.

Money and Affairs of Heart.

The books gave police important leads to the two subjects they were most interested in—Rubinstein's financial activities and his romantic affairs.

Four women were questioned yesterday, including a brunette secretary, Patricia Wray.

She admitted the Russian-born financier had called her at 2 a.m. Thursday—only about three hours before his death—and had invited her to his home. She said she had ignored the invitation.

(The United Press account said Miss Wray, 24, a showgirl turned secretary, admitted during nine hours of intensive questioning that she was the woman Rubinstein telephoned five times while he was out Wednesday night with Miss Estelle Gardner, a model. She said he failed to reach her on his early calls, but at 2 a.m., after he had returned to his mansion, he awakened her with a phone call.

(She said he wanted her to come to his home but she refused.

"I was half asleep," she explained. "I was too exhausted to understand what it was all about.")

Convict Questioned.

Every conceivable lead was being followed, Inspector Feeley said, including one which led to a prison cell at Sing Sing.

The inspector said he had sent two detectives to the prison at Ossining, N.Y., to interview an inmate who had told prison officials he believed he had information "which might be useful in this case." the inspector declined to identify the convict.

However, it was reported the detectives had talked to John Sorrenti, 34, who is serving two and a half years for forgery. Sorrenti, a cafe society figure until he got into trouble, is supposed to have become friendly while at the Tombs with a cellmate named Emmanuel Lester. Lester is out on bail and under indictment for attempting to extort $500,000 from Rubinstein.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan's office was asked about a report that "several long blonde hairs" were found snagged in Rubinstein's fingernails. A spokesman said nothing had been heard of it. He added: "The medical examiner's report is not yet complete. As to the 'long blonde hairs'—if they had been found, we would neither confirm nor deny it. Any clear answer, in such a case, would be helpful to the killer."

Parade of Women.

The parade to police headquarters of women Rubinstein knew began before noon yesterday and continued into the night. The women, most of them attractive, were generally escorted by two detectives but after questioning left by themselves; braving the line of newspaper photographers and reporters with shouts of: "I can't tell you a thing."

Miss Wray, employed by the Trans-Era Petroleum Corp., in which Rubinstein had an interest, was questioned for seven hours Thursday. Yesterday after an hour more of questioning, she left the station house with red-rimmed eyes.

Miss Wray's story was an important lead in the establishment of a chronology of Rubinstein's last movements. Police had learned that Rubinstein dined with Miss Gardner from 9 o'clock Wednesday night to 1:30 a.m. Thursday and then took her to his home for a nightcap.

Miss Gardner, it was established, left just before 2 a.m. Rubinstein, apparently, telephoned Miss Wray, immediately after.

About three hours later, Rubinstein was bound, gagged and strangled in his third-floor bedroom. His body was discovered by his butler shortly after 8 a.m.

Others Questioned.

Others questioned were identified as Miss Billie Kane, a secretary, and Dorothea McCarthy, a model.

Miss McCarthy admitted she had gone out on dates with Rubinstein and said police had questioned her about "lots of things." Asked if she were related to the Senator from Wisconsin, she said: "I am not."

Shortly after 5 p.m. a tall red-headed girl arrived. She was identified as Pat Sinnott.

Later police brought from Yonkers, N. Y., Betty Reed, a singer, who had often been a companion of Rubinstein. Miss Reed had gone to the home of a friend after the killing and was reported "in seclusion."

(Miss Reed, who was in the cast of "Oklahoma!" for a year, the Associated Press said, was described by detectives as "possibly Rubinstein's closest woman friend." Wearing an ankle-length mink coat the 26-year-old coloratura soprano and frequent cafe society companion of the murdered man did not dodge photographers but ignored all questions put to her by reporters. Feeley said Miss Reed had been "co-operative, but could shed no light on the slaying."

(An auburn-haired beauty in a mink stole and black evening gown also was called in. Detectives identified her as Barbara Cook.

("Yes, Cook," she told reporters freely when she came out. "Barbara Gaylord Cook. . . . actress. Not working. Not 'between shows' or 'at liberty.' Just not working. Mr. Rubinstein was a very old and dear friend. I'd known him six or seven years. I saw him at a cocktail party Saturday night.")

Many False Reports.

As in all such cases, the murder drew scores of false reports and rumors. One was that two "rough" men had followed Rubinstein and Miss Gardner from Nino's La Rue restaurant to his home.

The other was that police had requested Scotland Yard and the French Surete to send them complete details on Rubinstein's financial activities in London and France.

Inspector Feeley said flatly: "They're both pipes."

The Scotland Yard report also stated that the information was being gathered at the request of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. An FBI official in New York said: "We are not investigating the murder of Serge Rubinstein."

GEN. PHILLIPS

5 Big Carriers to Form Nucleus Of Tachens Evacuation Fleet

Four Already in Area and Midway Is Heading There — Ships Will Be Organized Into Task Forces.

Military Analyst of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.

THE POWERFUL naval force being assembled under Vice Adm. Alfred M. Pride will shortly be composed, as to principal ships, of five large carriers, six cruisers, including the 17,000-ton, eight-inch gun Helena, 50 destroyers, a hunter-killer group of one small carrier and two to four destroyers, several radar picket submarines, a seaplane tender with two squadrons of Martin P5M flying boats (29 aircraft), minelaying and minesweeping vessels and fuel, ammunition, supply and repair ships. The large carriers have a normal complement of aircraft of between 75 and 100.

The Nationalist navy would combine with the Seventh Fleet to operate under Adm. Pride for evacuation of the Tachens. This force consists of six destroyers and escort destroyers, some minesweepers, LSTs and a number of smaller amphibious and patrol craft.

The whole will be organized into task forces. The naval organization is fluid and task forces are organized and reorganized to provide a force able to do the particular mission in hand.

Two Fleets in Effect.

This large force has been assembled without drawing ships from the Atlantic fleet or the Mediterranean. This can be done because it is Navy practice to provide in an organization such as the Seventh Fleet what amounts to two fleets. Ships are rotated between their home station and sea duty about every six months in order to give men some time at home. In an emergency, rotation is stopped. Ships remain on station beyond the normal tour of duty.

At the same time, if necessary, the tour of ships on home station is shortened and they rejoin the fleet. The three cruisers and eight destroyers scheduled to leave San Diego for the Far East early in February are a case of a shortened tour at home station.

Between September and February, 33 ships have been transferred from the East Coast to the West Coast. The Navy Department denies that this had anything to do with the present emergency. However, Quemoy was shelled Sept. 3 and sporadic shelling and bombing has continued ever since.

Although the Navy states that this transfer was merely for the purpose of providing for enough ships to give the crews a reasonable amount of duty on home station, the coincidence of the dates when the movement started indicates that the Navy started to converge toward the trouble spot months ago.

The four carriers now in the vicinity of Formosa are the Essex, Yorktown, Wasp and Kearsage. The Princeton, which is assigned to the Seventh Fleet, is, Adm. Pride stated, "on another beat."

Midway to Join Fleet.

The Midway, one of the three larger carriers completed after the end of World War II, has cut short its visit to Singapore on a trip from the Atlantic around the Cape of Good Hope and is heading north to join the Seventh Fleet. It is scheduled to go to Bremerton, Wash., for modernization as soon as other work at the West Coast naval base is out of the way. It had been scheduled in the meantime to join the Seventh Fleet until Bremerton was ready to receive it.

The great naval force under Adm. Pride, although not quite complete, is ready to operate at any time.

No firm decision has yet been made to evacuate the Tachen islands. They will not be in serious danger for perhaps a month, in the opinion of competent authorities in the Pentagon. These experts believe that the next Red actions will be to capture other small Nationalist-held islands in the vicinity.

The Tachens will then, they believe, be subjected to an effective blockade so that it will not be possible to supply them with ammunition and food. Most of the military garrison of about 8000 men in on Upper Tachen, which is the most defensible island in the group, while most of the 15,000 civilians are on the smaller Lower Tachen.

Bombarded Daily.

Upper Tachen is within medium artillery range of Yikiang island, now held by the Reds. It is being bombarded daily and the artillery effort is increasing as more artillery is established.

The blockade would be carried out by aircraft and surface vessels. The Chinese Communists have bombarded the Tachens with the largest air formations ever flown in Chinese history. Two hundred aircraft have bombarded Upper Tachen at one time, completely obscuring the island with dust clouds.

The light naval forces that have been assembled by the Reds are also the largest in Chinese history. They have been reinforced by a considerable number of high-speed motor torpedo boats furnished by the Soviet Union and with three to five submarines.

The Nationalist navy and air force are inferior to the Red Navy and air force in the vicinity of the Tachen islands. This insures the ultimate capture of the islands.

The seas were calm for the capture of Yikiang—the Reds waited until they were. On Formosa the Nationalists are waiting nervously for what may happen the next time the seas are calm.

MRS. BRUNGARD SAYS ONLY NEW CHARTER CAN SOLVE PROBLEMS

Welfare Chief Appears Before Aldermanic Committee, Tells of Difficulties in Own Department.

Administrative difficulties which arise from illogical grouping of functions within the various municipal departments cannot be solved without the adoption of a new city charter, Mrs. E. G. Brungard, Director of Public Welfare, told the Legislation Committee of the Board of Aldermen yesterday.

The committee, which has been holding up since last May a bill to call an election of a board of freeholders to draft a new basic document for the city's government, held the first of a series of meetings to hear the opinions of department heads yesterday.

Mrs. Brungard pointed out that a new charter was advocated in a report on a survey of governmental problems made for the city in 1941 by Griffenhagen & Associates and again in 1947 and in 1953 by citizens' committees which mayors asked to help with municipal financial problems.

Reorganization Need.

Her own department provides a good example of the need for reorganization which cannot be accomplished without a new charter, she said. The department spends more than $16,000,000 annually in carrying out operations of hospitals and institutions and public health activities, penal institutions, and public parks.

She said she believed her department should be broken down into three separate departments, one concerned with hospitals and public health, another with penal and correctional activities and the third with park and recreational affairs.

Some phases of these activities are now scattered in other existing municipal departments and should be consolidated, she stated.

In addition, the department of public welfare now supervises some matters which have no logical place in the department, she added. Services handled by the Legal Aid Bureau and the Public Defender's office, now under her jurisdiction, should come under the Law Department, she said she believed.

Question on Board.

Mrs. Brungard also questioned the wisdom of retaining the Board of Public Service in its present form. The conglomerate variety of functions and agencies the board supervises in different fields of specialized activity makes it impossible for all members of the board to exercise sound judgment in all the matters which come before it, she stated.

She advocated setting up specialized appeals committees to handle the various appeals which come from the different departments and establishing a Board of Public Works to carry on engineering work for the city.

Dr. J. Earl Smith, health commissioner, and Dr. Walter Henerich, hospital commissioner, also appeared before the aldermen. Both outlined the difficulties they were having in obtaining and retaining qualified personnel in technical and professional posts because of salary limitations in the present charter.

Sanitation Department.

Dr. Smith also said he believed that such functions as rubbish and garbage collection and street cleaning should be placed in a separate department concerned with sanitation. These are presently functions of the Department of Streets and Sewers, which is also concerned with street and sewer maintenance.

The committee will meet again next Friday to receive opinions of the Park Commissioner, the Water Commissioner and the Director of Public Utilities on how the present charter provisions affect their work.

COUNTY POLICE BOARD OK'D BY 6 CIRCUIT JUDGES

Commissioners to Be Sworn in Saturday —to Hold First Meeting Shortly After.

The five members of the new St. Louis County Board of Police Commissioners will be sworn in next Sautrday at 10 a.m. by Circuit Judge John A. Witthaus at Clayton.

This was announced yesterday by County Supervisor Luman F. Matthews following receipt of a letter reporting that the six St. Louis county circuit judges, meeting en banc, found no occasion to disapprove the appointments.

Under the county charter amendment adopted last November, the police commissioners are appointed by the county supervisor, subject to approval by the county council, but any of the appointments may be rejected within 20 days of the council's action by a majority vote of the judges.

Word from Presiding Judge Franklin Ferriss that the judges saw no reason to exercise their power of disapproval removed the last obstacle to organization of the police board.

The commissioners are expected to hold their first meeting shortly after being sworn in. They will select an superintendent to administer the police department which, beginning July 1, will supersede the sheriff and constables in enforcing law in the county's unincorporated areas.

The commissioners selected by Matthews from a panel of 10 submitted by a screening committee are Clark R. Gamble, president of Brown Shoe Co., and Frank P. Aschemeyer, general counsel of General American Life Insurance Co., who will serve three-year terms; Arthur B. Baer, president of Stix, Baer & Fuller Co. department store, and Irving Edison, executive vice president of Edison Bros. Stores, retail shoe chain, who will serve two-year terms, and Walter L. Metcalfe, attorney, appointed for a one-year term.

Gamble, Baer and Metcalfe are Republicans; Aschemeyer and Edison, Democrats. Aschemeyer was named as the fifth member after the county council had rejected selection of Theodore A. Kienstra, head of a Ferguson building supply firm, because of his political activities as a Democrat.

TAVERN OWNER ACQUITTED OF MURDERING HIS WIFE

Paul J. Southard, who operates the Bluff View tavern at 2365 North Eighty-ninth street, French Village, a mile northeast of East St. Louis, was acquitted by a circuit court jury at Belleville yesterday of a charge of murdering his wife.

He testified that he shot her with a shotgun in self-defense after she threatened to hit him with a hammer, which was found under her body. The shooting occurred in the tavern the morning of Jan. 12, 1954. Witnesses said Southard and his wife, who worked with him at the bar, had been arguing continually. The jury deliberated eight hours.

CHARLES THOMAS NAMED ADVISER TO COMMERCE DEPT.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 — Charles Allen Thomas, president of Monsanto Chemical Co. of St. Louis, has been elected to the Business Advisory Council of the Department of Commerce, it was announced yesterday.

Thomas was one of seven new members named to the council, which advises Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks on business trends. Another new member is Charles Sawyer, a former Secretary of Commerce and now a partner in Dinsmore, Shohl, Sawyer & Dinsmore of Cincinnati. Harold Boeschenstein, president of Owens - Corning Fiberglas Corp. of Toledo, O., was re-elected chairman.

TOO MANY DELINQUENCY 'EXPERTS,' SPEAKER SAYS

Too many persons who consider themselves "experts" on the problem of juvenile delinquency are making the problem more difficult to solve, members of the Social Planning Council of St. Louis were told yesterday.

"Almost everyone we talk to considers himself an exprert on the subject," Arthur B. Shepley Jr., chairman of the council's juvenile delinquency review committee, explained to 200 members attending the meeting at Downtown Y.M.C.A., 1528 Locust street.

This has complicated the attempts of the committee to evaluate the causes and possible solution of the problem, he said. He stressed the need for an agency to co-ordinate all the work of social agencies which combat juvenile delinquency.

DEATH OF HAROLD BUTLER RULED ACCIDENT BY CORONER

A coroner's verdict of accident was returned yesterday in the death of Harold Butler, a general contractor who was shot to death Wednesday night in his home at 3641 West Maline avenue, Bel-Ridge.

His wife testified that he came home in a belligerent mood that led to a scuffle, in which she hit him with a small bat and then left. When she returned a short time later, he was sitting in the living room, she said.

She went upstairs, and in about five minutes heard a shot, Mrs. Butler added. Capt. Harry Newbold of the sheriff's office testified that an automatic pistol in an empty crib near Butler's chair apparently went off accidentally when he reached for it. He was shot in the chest.

ACCIDENT VERDICT RETURNED IN JOHN KALHORN DEATH

A verdict of accidental death from carbon monoxide poisoning was returned yesterday by a coroner's jury in the death of John Kalhorn, operator of a motorcycle sales agency.

Kalhorn collapsed Tuesday night at his home, 5511 Winona avenue, as a neighbor, Robert Hicks, was telephoning for an ambulance for Mrs Kalhorn. Hicks reported that he had found Mrs. Kalhorn unconscious in a living room chair.

The husband was dead on arrival at City Hospital, Mrs. Kalhorn was revived at the hospital. Police reported that fumes from the gas furnace were forced back down a flue pipe because both doors to a utility room were closed, causing a backdraft.

ALDERMEN GET BILL TO LICENSE PARKING LOTS

Proposal Introduced by Roddy, Sets Annual Fee at $1.50 for Each Space.

A bill to require the licensing of commercial parking lots and garages, and setting the annual fee at $1.50 for each parking space, was introduced in the Board of Aldermen yesterday by Alderman Joseph Roddy.

The City Charter lists public garages as among the businesses subject to a license tax, but there is some question as to parking lots. When a bill authorizing the city to levy a license tax on parking lots and garages was introduced in the State Legislature last Wednesday by St. Louis Representatives Eugene P. Walsh and Paul M. Berra, there was an informal opinion from the City Counselor's office that the city already possessed this authority.

Listing Required.

However, on rechecking, the office stated that while the power to license public garages was listed among the types of business subject to a license tax in the Charter, parking lots were not included. The Supreme Court has ruled that unless such a business is listed in the Charter it is not subject to a license tax.

Representative Walsh told the Post-Dispatch he intended to press for enactment of his measure. The commercial parking lot is the principal target of the bill, he said, because it usually represents a plot of ground from which a building has been removed and is thus paying less real estate taxes than before.

"If merchants and manufacturers must pay a license tax, I certainly believe that parking lot and garage operators should be subject to a license tax in order to equalize the tax load in the city," he said.

Roddy also joined with Alderman Anton Niemeyer in sponsoring a bill in the aldermanic board that would make it unlawful to sell, display or distribute comic books and magazines "permanently featuring" various types of crime.

Board of Review.

Included is a provision for a five-member board of review, serving without pay, to govern the distribution of books and magazines. Violators would be subject to a maximum fine of $500 and a 90-day jail sentence.

Any publication holding up to ridicule any group because of race, creed or color would also be subject to prosecution. The bill exempts accounts of crime reported in the general dissemination of the news.

The board passed, by a vote of 17 to 6, a zoning ordinance amendment changing the 3400 and 3500 blocks of Halliday avenuue from a two-family district to a district for multiple dwelling units.

Alderman kay Lohse (Rep.), Fourteenth Ward, who introduced the amendment, said he had done so at the request of 70 per cent of the property owners in the area because rooming houses already were in operation.

Two aldermen, Louis Aboussie and Niemeyer, spoke out against the measure, declaring it would lead to a rapid deterioration of the neighborhood. Mayor Raymond R. Tucker is expected to veto it.

Highway Change.

Another bill amending slightly the route of the northern leg of the Third street inter-regional highway also was passed. It would keep Sixth street open at Biddle and O'Fallon streets and close those two throughfares at Sixth.

The board passed an ordinance revising the schedule of fees for electrical inspections, increasing the average for each inspection from $2.90 to $5.90. The Division of Electrical Inspection said this would permit hiring of additional inspectors.

Sydney Dock Walkout.

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 29 (UP)—Five thousand dock workers paralyzed the waterfront here today with a three-day walkout protesting against suspension of longshoremen who refused to work on a holiday earlier this week.

Strange Blue Light Reported In Air Over Oregon Mountains

LA GRANDE, Ore., Jan. 29 (AP)—A strange blue light is reported bobbing in the air over the mountains along the Weston-Elgin highway these cold winter nights, and no one who has seen it has an explanation.

It was first seen about two weeks ago. A State Highway Department snow plow team of Manuel (Swede) Erickson and Barney Thompson reported that they saw a blue light on the highway ahead of them. Erickson, driving told this story:

He dimmed his lights. There was no change in the blue light which seemed to be coming toward him on the highway.

Erickson stopped. So did the blue light. Then it started moving up, down and sideways. After a moment of this, it moved upward and vanished over the trees to the left, with a hum. Erickson started up and the blue light reappeared in the sky to the right of the highway, emitting a bluish glow with an occasional blue flash, then it vanished.

A week later, Robert Backus, another night time plow driver, stopped to check one of his chains. As he stood outside he noticed with some surprise that he was casting a shadow. Then he looked up, he said, and overhead was the blue light bobbing and from it came a humming sound.

Backus started up, he said, and the light followed a little way, then it moved leisurely down a canyon until it was out of sight.

The men said they thought 500 yards was about the closest they had been to the light.

AUTO AGENCY ROBBED OF $3000 BY 3 YOUNG MEN

Armed Youths Hold Customer, 6 Employes at Bay, Rifle Safe and Cash Register.

The Johnny Londoff Motor Co., automobile sales agency at 2359 Palm street, was robbed of about $3000 last night by three young men who threatened Londoff, a customer and six employes with pistols as they rifled a safe and cash register.

Londoff, who also operates a bowling alley and cocktail lounge on the premises, was seated at a desk in the showroom with a customer, John Stevens, 1443A St. Louis avenue, when the robbers entered.

They ordered Londoff, Stevens and six employes to a rear office. One robber stood at the front door as a lookout while the others forced Londoff to open the safe.

Woman Holds Up Cafe.

A soft-spoken woman, a Negro, walked into a White Mill sandwish shop at 802 North Kingshighway early today, pointed a small automatic pistol at Allen Green and Henry Davis, cooks, and forced them to turn over $70 from a cash register.

The woman then walked quietly out and two customers at counter stools were unaware a holdup had taken place. The woman joined two men in an automobile on a rear parking lot and the three fled east on Enright avenue.

Sam Zide, proprietor of a grocery at 4267 Olive street, was robbed of $500 last night by a Negro who ordered cigarettes, then held his hand in his pocket as if he were armed and forced Zide to put the money in a paper bag. The robber fled after forcing Zide and a clerk to lie on the floor in a back room.

Robbed in Apartment.

Miss Barbara Smith, a saleswoman, was bound and gagged yesterday by a young Negro robber who entered her third-floor apartment at 4319 Lindell boulevard. He escaped with $3 from a piggy bank, photographs of her, personal papers and keys.

Miss Smith was asleep when the man, armed with a pistol, entered from an adjoining apartment through a bathroom. He tossed her a negligee and permitted her to put it on under the bed clothing before making her get up.

Then he gave her a drink of water before stuffing a towel in her mouth and tying her to a chair with several belts. He left the same way he had entered after ransacking the apartment. Miss Smith worked herself toward the door within a few minutes and attracted the attention of the apartment manager, Mrs. Edith Mitchell, who freed her.

Doctor Is Held Up.

Dr. John E. Eubanks, a physician with offices at 1433A East Broadway, East St. Louis, told police a young man with a revolver robbed him of $35 when he was alone in the office last night.

Dr. Eubanks, a Negro, said the robber, also a Negro, locked him in a closet after taking his money. He worked the door open in a few minutes and telephoned police.

Loss of $1320 to two robbers dressed as hunters was reported to the St. Louis county sheriff's office yesterday by Frank Frimel, president of Thomas J. Johnson & Co., a real estate firm at 4540A Gravois avenue.

The robbers were carrying shotguns, Frimel said, and stopped him near his clubhouse about four miles southeast of Pacific.

He said they halted him and asked for a match as he turned his automobile toward a gate leading to the house, where he was taking some building material. All but $270 was company money he intended to take to a bank on returning to St. Louis, he said. They took the $270 from his wallet; the rest was in a cloth bag.

The men ordered him not to move for five minutes, and drove off in an automobile they had parked about 40 feet away, Frimel told deputy sheriffs.

WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH WHEN FIRE RAZES HOME

Mrs. Walter Wilson, 22 years old, was burned to death last night in a fire which destroyed the farm home of her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wilson, near Festus. Festus is 30 miles south of St. Louis on Highways 61-67.

Her body was found on a bed in the bedroom of the frame house, located on Platton road, eight miles south of Festus. Wilson said he was awakened by the heat of the fire about 10:30 o'clock. He roused his wife, grabbed his two-year-old grandchild and called a warning to his daughter-in-law. He said he thought she followed them from the burning building.

Neighbors' attempts to control the blaze with buckets of water failed. The fire was believed to have started in the kitchen, but its cause was not determined. Mrs. Wilson's husband, a long-haul truck driver, was on a trip to Ohio. The elder Wilsons suffered minor burns of the face.

CORRECTION

In the advertisement for Schonberg's Super Market, 6660 Delmar, which ran Thursday, Jan. 27, the price for cigarettes was incorrectly listed at $1.50 per carton with other purchase of $1.50. The correct price for cigarettes is $1.59.

FEW CLUES FOUND TO 2 WHO HELD UP WOMEN IN HOME

Sheriff's Aid to Have Mrs. Evarts A. Graham and Employe View Photos of Suspects.

Slim clues were all the sheriff's office had today as its investigation of the robbery of Mrs. Evarts A. Graham, wife of the professor emeritus of surgery at Washington University Medical School, and her housekeeper continued.

Capt. A. H. Piotraschke, head of the sheriff's larceny squad, said the two men who held Mrs. Graham and the housekeeper, Miss Tillie Heck, prisoner at pistol point in the Graham home in a rural area on Old Jamestown road in north St. Louis county Thursday night and early yesterday, were "professional and very careful operators."

The robbers, after firing one shot which just missed Miss Heck's head, slapping her in the face and tossing a silver bowl at both the women, escaped in the family station wagon with $2220 in cash—$2150 of it was Miss Heck's savings and $70 was from Mrs. Graham's purse—a mink cape, jewelry, guns and other articles.

Victims to View Pictures.

Piotraschke said he planned to have Mrs. Graham and Miss Heck view today about 25 pictures of known burglars and robbers in the hope that they might be able to identify the men who robbed them.

He said the fact that the robbers wore gloves and handkerchief masks during the entire two hours and 15 minutes they were in the home indicated they were professional and very careful thieves.

Mrs. Graham reported the men worked in a leisurely manner and did a thorough job of ransacking the house, while keeping her and Miss Heck constantly under guard. The taller of the two robbers, she said, appeared to be "the boss." He and his accomplice whistled tunelessly while they worked, she added, and the leader had high praise for his helper when he said, "That Joe. He works like a beaver."

The robbers left no fingerprints, Piotraschke said. One clue is the spent slug from the shot which missed the back of Miss Heck's head by about eight inches. The slug went through the binding ends of two books and fell to the floor of the living room in front of the bookcase.

Footprints in Snow.

They also have footprints in the snow leading from where the robbers apparently parked their automobile, 1000 feet southeast of the Graham home in a private driveway, to the small conservatory for flowers and plants, through which they entered the house. There are automobile tire tracks, Piotraschke said, which might be traced.

Mrs. Graham reported receiving an anonymous telephone call at 10:45 a. m. today from a man who asked for "Mrs. Heck," saying he knew two men who had wanted to commit a robbery, but were somehow interrupted. These, he suggested, may have been the ones who robbed the Grahams. He hung up before he could be asked who the men were.

A telephone repairman at the house at the time attempted without success to trace the call. He said it was made from a coin-operated telephone.

Descriptions of the robbers tally with those of two men who robbed the home and guests of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Fuchs on Old Halls Ferry road, in the same general area as the Graham home, of $65 in cash, and property valued at $470 last May 14, Piotraschke said.

As in the Graham case, the men who entered the Fuchs home tied up Mrs. Fuchs; her brother-in-law, Edward Fuchs, and his wife, Cornelia, 9425 Jennings road, Jennings, and Miss Koren Leichswiger, who lives with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fuchs. They also cut telephone wires and both men wore gloves. The robbers have not been apprehended.

Son Born to Silvana Mangano.

ROME, Jan. 29 (AP)—Silvana Mangano, Italian film actress, gave birth last night to a seven-pound boy. Her husband, film producer Dino Lourentis, is in the United States. They have two other children, both girls.

TOW BOATS FIGHT THROUGH MASSES OF ICE ON RIVER

Towboats were fighting their way through masses of floating ice on the Mississippi river today as sub-freezing temperatures continued in the St. Louis area. A low of 4 degrees above zero was recored at the airport this morning and the downtown weather station reported a low of 7 above.

With the prospect of continued near-zero weather tomorrow and Monday, towboats already were reported having difficulty getting through the lock at Alton Dam. The river ice belt extended as far south as Chester, Ill.

The Army Corps of Engineers said the boats were cutting their own channels through the ice, which covered 50 per cent of the water's surface. Icing conditions here and to the south are the most severe since 1950 when traffic was halted about a week by an 80-mile ice jam below St. Louis, one officer said.

The 185-foot steam-propelled towboat Attu, leased by the Engineers to the United States Coast Guard, yesterday cut a channel about a mile above Pearl, Ill., on the Illinois river, to assist an ice-bound tow. Pearl is about 70 miles north of St. Louis.

CALM WAITRESS USES OWN RUSE TO OUTSMART ROBBER

A man ordered coffee from Mrs. Janice Lucas, waitress in the Royal sandwich shop, 8241 North Broadway, early today, then calmly remarked:

"What would you say if I told you this was a holdup?"

Before she could reply he continued:

"You heard what I said. This is a holdup," and held his hand threateningly in a pocket.

Equally calm, Mrs. Lucas glanced out a window and said: "You must be crazy. There's a police car right across the street."

Without noticing there was no police car there, the would-be robber headed for the door and fled north on Broadway.

MURDER CHARGE FOR WOMAN IN DEATH OF ST. LOUISAN

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 29 —Miss Sarah E. Fly, 27-year-old former state employe, was indicted on a murder charge by the Davidson county grand jury yesterday in the fatal beating of a St. Louis business man in a Nashville night club Dec. 18.

Police said she struck William D. Fernandez on the head with the heel of her shoe in a fit of jealousy. Fernandez, 33, died shortly after leaving a hospital where he had received first-aid treatment.

He was a shoe pattern manufacturer and partner in Patco, Inc., 1651 South Grand boulevard. His partner, Russell A. Muller, was in the night club with Fernandez and took him to the hospital. Fernandez lived at 1641 South Spring avenue.

WOMAN WINS $600 IN PRIZES FOR QUIZ PROGRAM ANSWER

Mrs. John B. Buehler, 6956 Hillsland avenue, collected about $600 in prizes, including a gas range, on a television program yesterday for knowing that the Dead Sea is the world's deepest depression below sea level.

For coming up with the right answer to the jackpot question on Carl McIntire's program, "What's Your Bid?" on Post-Dispatch Station KSD-TV, she won the stove, a clock radio, an overnight bag, an electric iron, a camera and a set of aluminum kitchenware.

The jackpot is built up from day to day as the question remains unanswered.

E. ST. LOUIS MAN DIES FOLLOWING FIGHT ON PORCH

Other Disputant Charged With Manslaughter—Couple Released on Bond as Witnesses.

Lawrence Fertig, 17 Godier drive, East St. Louis, died early today in a fight with another man on a porch at the home of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ballman, at 254 Turf court, Webster Groves.

Fertig was 29 years old, and was employed as a laborer for the American Bituminous and Asphalt Co. in Maplewood. Maurice Lee Fuller, 6618 Hurstgreen lane, Affton, who fought with Fertig, was charged with manslaughter in a warrant issued by Magistrate Leslie T. Lewis and reelased on $5000 bond. The Ballmans were released on bond as material witnesses.

Police Chief Ovid Yadon said he was told that Fuller, who said he had been friendly with Mrs. Ballman for more than a year, followed Fertig and the Ballmans to their home when he saw their automobile pass his on U.S. Highway 66 near Laclede Station road.

Fuller was quoted as saying that Ballman objected to his going into the house, whereupon Fuller kicked a storm door out and a fight with Fertig ensued. Fuller told the police chief, "I'm not sure whether I kicked him or not."

Ballman called Webster Groves police, and they said they found Fertig lying in the back yard. At St. Louis County Hospital he was pronounced dead, but the cause of death was not determined immediately. He had a bruise on the head, his face was swollen and he had bled at the mouth. An inquest was scheduled for Monday.

Fuller, a plumber, is 33, married and has two children.

He said he telephoned Mrs. Ballman yesterday afternoon and she told of plans to go with her husband and Fertig to a tavern and later to a hotel for drinks, but they made no arrangements to meet. Fuller told of going to the places mentioned, but said he did not see the Ballmans until they were on the way home.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Where Help Is Needed

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

In the course of an absorbing article in the Post-Dispatch regarding proposed housing for the aged in this area, it was suggested that those interested call at the Housing Authority headquarters. Well, I was and I did. And what happened? I didn't get past a pretty, pleasant, and terribly overworked switchboard operator.

In a split second between flurries of pluggings-in and pluggings-out, I managed to state my purpose in calling. More activity at the switchboard, interpolated by apologies, then. "What was it you wished to know?" This threw me. "Almost anything that wasn't covered in the Post-Dispatch article," was about the best I could do.

More calls, one of them—I hoped—to or from a "case worker" prepared to answer questions. And finally from the harassed operator: "Do you live alone?" I admitted my solo status. "Sorry," said the operator, "the proposed apartments are for couples only." Plug-in, plug-out, plugplugplug. . . .

So, what I want to know from you, dear editor, or from any of your readers who may have managed to leap the switchboard hurdle, are these two things: What's for widows and old maids (pardon the expression) whose income permits a bit more than "furnished room with kitchen privileges" but can't begin to cover existing apartment rents?

That's one question. Here's the other: In these proposed units, suppose papa and mama are admitted. One or the other finally completes "the fullness of his years." Is the survivor then bounced out, or what?

SINGLET.

A Place to Be Preserved

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The recent letter reporting a reader's memories of Maplewood interested me greatly. My father and mother moved to Maplewood, which was then called Benton, in about 1855.

Mother often spoke of the Suttons and Brunos, who were her neighbors. She was 97 when she died 32 years ago. That would make the old Sutton place in Maplewood at least 125 years old.

Why not preserve the old house as a memento to the city's first citizen?

MRS. M. DOVER.
Fenton.

Credit for a Departure

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Those who advocate dropping the state income tax because of ineffective collections, and substitution of a three-cent sales tax because it can be collected, must be given credit for one thing.

Their proposal to collect taxes on the ability to collect is certainly a departure from the old theory of assessing taxes on the ability to pay.

Unfortunately, the suggestion would relieve higher-salaried Missourians of annual tax payments of $52,500,000, while it would boost sales tax income $90,000,000 a year, most of which would be paid by the lower-salaried Missourians.

If evasion of state income tax payments is as widespread as reported, it is reasonable to suppose that proper enforcement would result in sufficient revenue to meet rising costs of state government and public education. Back taxes and penalties collected from evaders could be applied toward building better state prisons.

Like a Western Cougar

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I have been reading these letters about panthers and I cannot keep quiet any longer.

Last summer I was driving down a shady, graveled road, approaching a sharp curve where a little hollow comes out between two low hills. To my astonishment, a good sized "varmint" leaped from the bank beside the hollow into the road and glided into the weeds and underbrush on the opposite side.

This "cat" was larger than a bobcast. Its head was longer than that of a bobcat, but was not sharp-pointed like a wolf or fox. Its tail was extremely long, was thick but definitely not bushy. It carried its tail straight out and low, its body close to the ground as it slipped into the bush. The hair was short and smooth. The color is the only thing about which I am puzzled. It was a very light, tawny-gray. I thought a panther was darker.

I have lived the greater part of my life in the country. I enjoy all animals, including "painters," therefore I was not excited or scared. This animal was not a wolf or fox, as some have intimated. It was built more like the Western cougar, only smaller, than a grown one, and lighter in color.

MRS. H. C. GOAD.
New Florence, Mo.

Up to the Legislature

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Now that a bill has been introduced in the Missouri Legislature to impose jail sentences on those convicted of practicing or advocating "nudism" in our fair state, a very serious question should be thrashed out before this bill comes up for final passage.

Shall these outrageous offenders of our woolen and cotton sense of dignity and decency be given the privilege of serving their sentences with or without their clothes on?

L.T.K.

Too Great to Be Denied

One federal agency which the average citizen cannot afford to have budgeted into flabbiness is the Food and Drug Administration. The FDA protects his health and his pocketbook. Yet it is no longer able to do its job well, according to a startling warning from an official who knows.

Bradshaw Mintener, Assistant Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, tried to put the public on notice in an address to a New York Bar Association group. As reported by the United Press:

> "The present level of appropriations places a limitation on efforts to prevent contamination of the nation's food and drug supply with filth, and eliminates most planned programs to seek out violations which cheat the consumer," he said.
> As an example, he said that the FDA has had to drop its checking of products' weight, and tests to determine if water or cheapening ingredients have been added to food.

Mr. Mintener also revealed that FDA's operations today are practically the same as in 1940, held there by inadequate funds. So is its staff. Yet there are far more food and drug products on the market than 15 years ago. There are millions more consumers to be protected against harmful products and deceitful advertising. The public interest in FDA has grown, but FDA has not.

Unfortunately this extremely important agency has suffered a kind of continuing crisis of neglect or attack for many years. Only three years ago, because of an omission of law, FDA lost authority to send inspectors into factories, which it had been doing for years. Congress restored this power after constant urging from Congresswoman Leonor Sullivan of St. Louis and others.

Now comes an Assistant Secretary of the Cabinet department in charge of FDA to tell the public that the agency cannot assume its full responsibilities. Where is the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare in this picture? Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby ought to be in the front lines protecting her important but hobbled agency.

"The needs of the public and of the regulated industries are too great to be denied," Mr. Mintener said. The needs of housewives and hungry families and sick persons requiring sound drugs are too great to be denied. And the needs of FDA are too great to be denied.

Congress should give it ample funds for a staff of inspectors adequate to protect the public welfare.

Eat an Egg

The Government wants everybody to eat eggs, eggs and more eggs. In fact, it wouldn't mind if the entire populaiton went on an egg binge. The problem-producing fact is that hens are flooding the market with a record supply. Since the egg industry has not asked the Government for price supports, Secretary of Agriculture Benson thinks the least consumers can do in return is eat eggs. Lots more eggs.

Eating more eggs should be a cinch. For, in addition to being good fried, poached, boiled, and steamed, cooked with tomato juice or wine or minced clams or mushrooms, made into omelettes or eaten with crepes suzettes, eggs can be plopped into any number of edibles and drinkables with nothing but profit to the palate.

Whether inserted into a chocolate malted milk shake or cornbread or a Ramos gin fizz, an extra egg makes almost anything good and anything good a little better. So down with all those extra eggs—for nourishment, for edification, and, like Secretary Benson says, for country.

No Way to Get More Pay

State Senator William E. Hilsman of St. Louis is exhibiting a touching concern over the size of the salary paid to Recorder of Deeds Anthony J. Denny. The Senator thinks the City Hall office holder deserves $10,000 annually instead of the $6000 he now gets.

Senator Hilsman even has a scheme to get around the statutory prohibition against boosting the salary of a public official during his term of office. He would give Mr. Denny a few additional duties—even though they are unnecessary—and the extra pay would be for the "extra" work. Isn't that nice? This trick was worked in a previous Legislature for the benefit of City Treasurer John J. Dwyer, chairman of the Democratic City Committee. His salary as Treasurer is $8000; it was raised to $10,000 by giving him the job of supervising parking meter operations at an extra $2000 a year.

Senator Hilsman, who happens to be Democratic committeeman in the Twenty-eighth Ward, evidently reasons that what is good enough for the party chairman is good enough for a faithful wheelhorse like Mr. Denny. After all, Mr. Denny has been gracious enough to provide public employment for three members of the City Committee.

No one is likely to object to higher pay for the Recorder of Deeds if a good case is made for it. The objection lies in the cheap device of creating unnecessary work to get around the law.

Are the Foundations Afraid?

The attack of the Reece committee on such institutions as the Rockefeller and Ford Foundations was a fraud, but a successful one. So says Robert M. Hutchins, former Chancellor of the University of Chicago and now president of the Fund for the Republic. The foundations have been frightened away from everything that threatens to be controversial or unpopular.

If this is true, the effect is worse than its cause. At almost the same time Mr. Hutchins was talking, Gordon C. Clapp, former chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authorney, was warning of the prejudice against dissent and independent thinking which now is influencing government. Prof. Theodore Brameld of New York University talked of the anti-intellectual war conducted by "notorious demagogues, patriotic groups and reactionary congressional committees" and of the insecurity and fear they have spread.

All too sadly, these complaints have become an old story. More than one man has kept his mouth shut, even when his record was quite without blame, because of the price he might have to pay for free speech: perhaps a blight on his career or perhaps all the difficulties of clearing himself on a malicious charge of contempt or even of perjury.

What is new is Mr. Hutchins's declaration that even the great foundations are bowing to this madness. But their affairs are, after all, conducted by individual men. If the great name of a university does not protect a good and loyal teacher, why should the name of a long respected foundation protect a good and loyal administrator? It is all too easy to urge such men to be confident and courageous and brave. They must count the cost of courage.

Here lies the tragedy. It is that unscrupulous men will seek advantage, political or otherwise, by false appeals to prejudice and fear; and that they will pervert the mechanisms of honest government to harvest their infamous crop. There are signs these days that it will be more difficult henceforth to use congressional machinery for abuse. But the administrators of the schools and the foundations will have to do their part, too. If they "play it safe" and leave the burden to the handicapped individual, they forget the chief responsibility of their institutions: cultivation of the truth.

The Arts and the Government

In recommending the establishment of a Federal Advisory Commission for the Arts, President Eisenhower has directed attention to a shocking weakness in our national culture. In the richest country in the world the average "successful" novelist makes about $3000 a year. Composers, sculptors and painters must find the main support for themselves and their families in allied or remote activities. Poets are so disregarded that they have great difficulty in getting anybody to publish their works.

Nothing in the President's recommendation implied that federal subsidies for art were even being considered. Yet this is certainly one field in which governmental subsidy could operate without the slightest danger to the letter, the spirit or the mechanics of free enterprise. Admittedly it would need to operate with care. Indiscriminate aid to artists would not necessarily improve the quality of their work or stimulate a wider appreciation of it in the public.

The creation of a certain number of limited fellowships for artists of demonstrated capacity, however, would at least free them from the necessity of wasting their time in other pursuits. It would also constitute a kind of public recognition that conceivably would improve their standing in the community.

But whatever may be done would need to be administered by a commission wholly non-partisan and free enough in its thinking to tolerate the widest possible latitude of expression. The benefited artist ought not be required to consult the prejudices of his Congressman. And for that reason, the establishment of a self-perpetuating board of qualified citizens would be preferable to one that was constantly changing in personnel. The time might come, of course, when congressional disapproval would lead to such a board's abolition. That would be better than applying political criteria to artistic products.

In brief any aid to the creative life must first recognize the principle that the creative mind is not necessarily geared to utilitarian needs or the esthetic standards of the moment. If this sort of respect and confidence cannot be granted by official minds it would be better for the Government to leave art and artists as they are.

$229,000 To Be Returned

Persons to whom Laclede Gas Co. owes some $229,000 in rate refunds have until the end of this year to collect. After that, under terms of a Missouri Public Service Commission order, Laclede stands discharged of any further liability. If any balance remains Laclede may put it in its treasury.

The money is what is left of a fund of almost $2,500,000 that Laclede collected from St. Louis and St. Louis county gas customers between 1946 and 1948 pending disposition of a rate case involving its supplier, Mississippi River Fuel Corp. Many of those to whom refunds are due have not been found; others evidently received refunds so small they did not bother to cash the checks.

The likelihood, therefore, is that a substantial part of the $229,000 will still be in Laclede's hands at the end of the year.

No clear-cut opposition to Laclede's request that it be permitted to retain the money developed at the hearing before the Public Service Commission last fall. But Assistant Attorney General Harry Kay reported at the time that the State's position was that the money did not belong to the company.

Time for a Word on Tito's Toughness

Ever since Marshal Tito took Yugoslavia out of the Organization of Heroic and Ever-Obedient Soviet Satellites, he has issued regular press releases stating he is a better Communist any day than Stalin—or Malenkov, Molotov, Krushchev, Kaganovich, Mikoyan, Ponomarenko, Suslov, Pospelov, etc. (The Minister of Press and Propaganda obviously is under strict orders to check the death notices in Pravda before releasing any Russian name.)

This is perfectly natural. It makes Tito feel good about his argument that you can have Communism without being under contract to the Kremlin. Also it may make him feel that in accepting Western aid he has not sold his soul. Any psychiatrist will agree that this is good for the ego. But a while back, it seems that there was a feeling in Belgrade that these statements were not enough, that they should be bolstered by a good Moscow-type purge.

So Vice President Milovan Djilas was charged as a deviationist. Even though a member of the Yugoslav Communist Central Committee, he had talked a lot about speeding up the democratization of the nation. Vladimir Dedijer, Tito's wartime companion and biographer, was also hauled before the people's court when he said a kind word for Djilas. To some, this looked like a Yugoslav-scale replay of Moscow, 1936. In fact, the esteemed Commonweal said that Tito had gone to "India where he would not have to watch the bloodshed."

The astute editorialist, however, should have realized that things were not running true to pattern when the accused, although officially incarcerated, went on giving interviews to the Times of New York and the Times of London. Would the late great Prosecutor Vishinsky have tolerated such goings-on?

But the two men were brought to trial. Djilas was sentenced to 18 months in prison and three years on probation, Dedijer to six months behind the bars, both sentences suspended. And although they were imposed only on Monday, there is already word that both are to be appealed. This is not even a reasonable facsimile of Moscow jurisprudence.

Four More

Cities and towns in the St. Louis area that either are thinking about the City Manager plan of local government or are getting ready to vote on it, will be interested to know that at least four communities approved it last month. The January issue of The National Municipal Review reports the following adoptions:

- St. Louis Park, Minn. (pop. 35,289).
- Highland Park, Ill. (pop. 16,808).
- Roseville, Calif. (pop. 8723).
- Monahans, Tex. (pop. 6311).

The adoption in Roseville, Calif., is particularly noteworthy since approval was by a 2-to-1 vote after a narrow rejection 11 months earlier. The first time the proposal was defeated through indifference and when the second vote was held an aroused 75 per cent of the registration went to the polls. This is something for residents of hard-pressed communities in the St. Louis area to mark down.

When a Governor Got Mad About It

The Mirror of Public Opinion

As a new Governor, George Craig of Indiana was shocked to find state mental hospital patients without clothes, equipment which had never been used, poor food and little treatment; called for doctors, social workers and began a 'revolution.'

Gov. George N. Craig of Indiana in The Heartland

When I was campaigning for Governor, I had done quite a lot of talking about the mental health situation in Indiana, the bad state of our mental hospitals, and the need for improvement.

Among my campaign promises was a definite pledge that, if elected, I would do something about the situation.

Over considerable protest, I had appointed a woman, Dr. Margaret Morgan, as the new Commissioner of Mental Health. She had an excellent record as a psychiatrist and administrator, and as I look back I think she must also have been a fine psychologist.

She took me on a tour of a couple of our state's mental institutions. I will say, moreover, that even I wasn't prepared for the shock.

We found places where the so-called "difficult" patients were being kept in virtual dungeons. Those persons classified as "feeding problems" were in some cases kept in solitary confinement. Some of the inmates were naked and apparently had been for years.

We found medical and dental equipment that had never been used and a $5000 electroencephalograph which had never been connected.

At the Indiana Village for Epileptics (which is primarily for mental patients who are also epileptics) we found an institution that had never had a registered nurse, never had a dietitian, never had a social service staff.

There was no recreational program; educational activities were outdated and ineffective. Fiscal affairs and business procedures were obsolete.

Inmates were getting meat once a week, and a tasteless and unbalanced mixture of food generally.

Most of the inmates had never had a physical or mental examination, and the newly-admitted patients were being examined perfunctorily and hurriedly.

Before the day was over I had seen enough. I will confess to being more than a little warm under the collar.

I called together the heads of all state agencies and gave some orders.

The Indiana University Medical Center was asked to send doctors and specialists. The dean of the Medical School and his staff were "drafted" to set up a kind of "assembly line" for complete physical examinations.

Social workers were borrowed from the Department of Public Welfare to help the central office abstract and evaluate social histories and to help with the placement of patients who were found suitable for discharge.

Yes, there were several well enough to leave, and some who probably never should have been there, including one man committed as an epileptic who had been a victim of nothing more than delirium tremens.

Emergency supplies and equipment were shipped from various state agencies. Extra supplies of meat were ordered from the state farm so that meat could be included in the diet at least once a day instead of once a week.

Recreational equipment and dental and medical supplies and equipment were requisitioned from other state agencies.

In that one day it would seem that we started a small revolution. The truth is, however, that it was just a preliminary skirmish in a revolution which had started a few months before when the State Legislature, at my request, had passed a new "Health Administration Act of 1953."

Since then we have made rapid strides toward improvement of the system under which mental defectives of all types are handled.

The Indiana Village for Epileptics has a current record of a complete physical examination. There is a psychological and dental record for every patient. Medical records have been brought up to date and a system for maintaining these records has been installed.

Patients found in need of immediate care were transferred to the Indiana Medical Center or to local hospitals. Patients with serious mental illnesses were transferred to state psychiatric hospitals.

Now, for the first time, there are registered nurses on the staff. There is a trained psychiatric technician, a dentist, a trained dietitian, and a number of psychiatric social workers. Business procedures have been streamlined and improved personnel practices have been installed.

The same type of progress is being made all down the line in Indiana's mental institutions, although, because of existing circumstances, we have made more headway in some than in others. It's a long-term campaign.

Little Dixie Is Unreconstructed

From the Mexico Evening Ledger

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch ran an editorial about Little Dixie. It listed the results of a poll asking what counties are included in Little Dixie. Audrain, Callaway and Monroe topped the poll. Boone, Howard and Randolph followed with Pike and Ralls hard on their heels.

We'll grant (excuse the word) that Mexico is the capital of Missouri's Little Dixie and that Audrain is the premier Stars-and-Bars county in Missouri—just as it is the premier county of the state.

However, in so g'-ing (we don't approve of using swear words in editorials) we want to caution those good men in gray in Monroe, Boone and Callaway about the damyankees. Look to your pieces, Suh, and before we start another War Between Ourselves over the honor of leading Little Dixie, read that last paragraph in the P-D.

" . . . Today it is enough to fix Little Dixie, and by fix we mean to situate it on the map. We have no thought of correcting Little Dixie today or any other day."

"Correct" Little Dixie?

Go ahead and change the name of Arkansas;

Elect McCarthy President,

Lower Ol' Glory to half-mast for Vishinsky;

But "correct" Little Dixie? Not that.

Go ahead and pronounce Missou-rah, Missou-riii;

Kick your dog, call him loathsome;

Claim the bear on the state seal means we should be investigated by a Senate subcommittee:

But "correct" Little Dixie? Not that. . . .

"Correct" fried chicken, corn bread, and country ham?

. . . No. Never.

From The Milwaukee Journal.

In a recent speech on political parties, Senator Ralph Flanders of Vermont said: "A successful political party needs both a conservative and liberal group—the liberal to keep his eye on the needs of the people and the conservative to see whether the needs can be met."

Between Book Ends

Falling Out of Love

A GHOST AT NOON, by Alberto Moravia. Translated by Angus Davidson. (Farrar, Straus and Young, 247 pgs., $3.50.)

Out of the seemingly simple, almost worn theme of a young husband disturbed by the loss of his wife's love, Alberto Moravia has made a novel of remarkable and troubling intensity.

After two years of marriage, Riccardo, a dramatist working as a movie script writer in Rome, realizes that his wife—a very attractive but essentially commonplace woman—is rapidly withdrawing from him. Even worse, his efforts to discover the reason for the change seem only to make him more despicable in her eyes. Ironically, he has just won the favor of Battista, an aggressive and powerful movie producer, for whom he works only to earn the money he thinks his wife wants. Even as his marital life, and consequently his career as a film writer, begin to crumble, Battista invites him and his wife to Capri to discuss making a movie out of the Odyssey. Groping helplessly, he accepts, and among the sun-flooded terraces and dazzling grottoes (and in the course of a provocative if not entirely relevant analysis of the Odyssey from three points of view) he learns his humiliating fate and frantically attempts to ward it off.

Alberto Moravia

Perhaps Moravia stacks the cards against Riccardo by making his wife so very unwilling or unable to discuss her feelings, but if we accept her behavior, Riccardo's desperate gestures and, later, his hallucinations are understandable and immensely pathetic. Outside of the wife's almost incredible disdain, perhaps the one flaw in the narrative is the meaningless and violent accident with which it closes. For the rest, "A Ghost at Noon" is shaped with great skill and studded with insights into the fearful progress of disillusion and the suffering, much of it self-inflicted, of those who fall out of love.

Squalor in the Lowlands

THE DUCK HUNT, by Hugo Claus. (Random House, 183 pgs., $3.)

If you have the impression that people from the Lowlands are rosy-cheeked, gay, and full of laughing good humor, then you will be surprised by author Hugo Claus's description of a middle-class Flemish farming family. It would be very difficult to dredge up a more depressing, peculiar set of characters.

Ana, the daughter, whiles away her time by becoming romantically involved with (1) a no-good neighbor boy, (2) an American soldier, and (3) her simple-minded brother, Yannie. Yannie is also quite fond of his sister, and all the village girls are fond of Yannie. The mother, Marie Metsiers, who has "the eyes of a startled horse with their sidelong glances" was once a sought-after village belle, but has become an embittered old woman. The father, Metsiers, was neatly done away with years previously when he discovered that Yannie was not his son. The rest of the household is made up of Peter, an ex-prisoner, Jules, a religious fanatic, and Tanno, a dog, who certainly appears to be the most normal creature of the lot.

The plot, in general, has to do with arson, suicide, incest, murder, rape, and duck hunting.

The author was 19 years old at the time of the writing of the novel, for which he received the Belgian Prix Leon Kryn. The literary style is casual, which makes the dramatic punches all the more effective. In fact, if you have a weak stomach, it might be best to read only a page or two at a time.

AEC SAYS TESTS PROMISE BIG NEW DEVELOPMENTS

Report to Congress Tells of 'New Areas of Research,' Progress in Stockpiling.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission said today results of its 1954 hydrogen and atom bomb tests have steered it into "new areas of research . . . that hold promise of additional major developments."

In its semi-annual report to Congress for the last half of last year, the commission said it is moving also toward another result: "The stockpiling of weapons adding large potential to our defensive power."

The report gave no details of the results obtained at the Pacific proving ground in the Marshall islands, where "Operation Castle" was conducted in the spring of 1954. But it said that "the evaluation of the results . . . confirmed the pre-Castle promise of most significant progress in design, development and proof test of weapons."

New Tests Planned.

It reported also it is about ready for a new series of tests, scheduled next month in Nevada, presumably dealing with less powerful atomic weapons and their application to tactical use.

"The new tests are required," the commission said, "to obtain scientific knowledge essential to development and utilization of nuclear weapons for defense of this nation and the free world."

The AEC gave not even a hint of what it is working on in the hydrogen weapons field, but there is ground for speculation that it involves work toward:

1. New and cheaper techniques for making H-bombs, including dispensing with the A-bomb trigger now required to explode them;

2. New varieties of hydrogen weapons, including warheads for intercontinental guided missiles.

The commission devoted only a small part of its report to the military applications of nuclear energy, and of necessity avoided disclosing secrets in what it did say.

It went into more detail on other phases of its work—development of new types of atomic reactors, medical developments, research activities and its administration of the program which has cost the Government more than 13 billion dollars to date.

Other Points in Report.

Among other highlights of the report:

1. In the commission's view, the event of "greatest significance" in the last six months was the enactment of the new Atomic Energy Law placing "added emphasis on the development of peacetime uses of atomic energy," including the quest for economic industrial power from the atom.

2. Both domestic and foreign production of raw uranium ore increased, and mined ore is currently piling up faster than it can be processed into working materials. Processing plants are being expanded and new ones are in prospect.

3. Production of the pay-off materials of atomic energy—Uranium-235, plutonium, and explosive hydrogen — "continued to equal or exceed established schedules."

4. "Important advances" came out of physical research, including fabrication of an atomic energy by-product into a new potential weapon for the war on cancer.

Two half-dollar size pellets of radioactive "cesium" — a rare earth element — were prepared at a cost of "several thousand dollars," but pack the radioactive punch of "more than $20,000,000 worth of radium."

EDGAR D. LEE DIES; OFFICER OF FIRM, FORMER EDUCATOR

Edgar D. Lee, former educator and vice president of Lee-Rowan Co., manufacturers of metal closet accessories, died of a heart ailment today at his home, 7517 Wellington way, Clayton. He was 75 years old.

Mr. Lee, a graduate of the University of Missouri, served as president of Christian College at Columbia for 17 years before coming in 1935 to St. Louis. He was a founder of the metal closet accessories firm. He also had been a high school principal in Clarksville, Mo., and superintendent of schools at New London and Sikeston, Mo.

CANDIDATES NAMED FOR APPEALS COURT

John J. Wolfe and Russell H. Doerner Selected by Commission.

John J. Wolfe, former St. Louis county circuit judge, and Russell H. Doerner, of Webster Groves, today were named by the Appellate Judicial Commission as candidates to fill a vacancy on the St. Louis Court of Appeals.

M. C. Charles Mathes, of Hillsboro, a former State Senator, was the third man named to a panel from which a successor to the late Judge Walter E. Bennick will be selected. Under the nonpartisan court plan, Gov. Phil M. Donnelly must choose one of the three candidates to succeed Judge Bennick.

Wolfe, 58 years old, is a commissioner of the Court of Appeals. An Air Force officer in World War II, he lives in Ladue.

Doerner is president of the Missouri Bar Association. He has offices in Boatmen's Bank Building.

SHAKESPEARE CALLED UNFAIR TO PLAYWRIGHTS

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP)—William Shakespeare came under attack yesterday for being so good.

"This damned Shakespeare business is the biggest blackleg in our profession," playwright and author J. B. Priestley complained in a speech at a luncheon of the London Critics' Circle.

A "blackleg" is an anti-union strikebreaker, but Priestley's real complaint was that Shakespearean dramas keep Britain's leading actors too busy on the West End stage.

"If we are going to have drama, then we do want a little drama that relates to our own time," he said.

ARISTOPHANES HONORED BY RUSSIAN ORGANIZATIONS

LONDON, Jan. 29 (AP) — The Soviet Union went back 2400 years to line up Aristophanes on the side of "progressive mankind."

A commemorative meeting to honor the Greek playwright was held last night in Moscow under auspices of the Soviet Committee for the Defense of Peace, the Soviet Union of Writers, the All-Union Society for Cultural Relations with Aboard, and the U.S.S.R. Academy of Sciences, the Moscow radio reported.

Sergei Gerasimov, vice chairman of the Soviet Committee for Peace, told the group how Soviet people honored the memory of the ancient Greek writer "who was able at the very dawn of civilization to grasp the inhumanity of war and to brand it in his comedies."

DR. NATHAN HIRSCHBERG'S ESTATE VALUED AT $288,370

The estate of Dr. Nathan Hirschberg, a retired dentist, was valued at $288,370 in an inventory filed today in probate court at Clayton.

The inventory listed diversified stocks with a market value of $114,582. Other items included cash, $84,928; bonds, $56,000, and real estate, $20,500.

In his will, Dr. Hirschberg, who died Dec. 8, left $100 to Temple Israel and $250 each to four hospitals and sanitariums. He directed his real estate and $10,000 be given to his daughter, Mrs. Nancy H. Schukar, 7276 Cornell avenue, University City, and left the rest of the estate in trust for her. Dr. Hirschberg, 72 years old, lived with his daughter.

DR. A. H. COMPTON TO SPEAK AT MINNESOTA COLLEGE

Dr. Arthur H. Compton, distinguished service professor of natural philosophy at Washington University, was to leave today for St. Olaf College at Northfield, Min., where he will present a six-week lecture series on the relations of science to human affairs.

Compton will serve as the Louis W. and Maud Hill Family Foundation lecturer on a grant shared by Carleton, Gustavus Adolphus, Hamline MacAlester and St. Olaf colleges.

BAPTISTS TO RAISE $1,000,000 FUND

Expansion Drive Memorial to Paul Weber, Superintendent of Mission Board.

By JOHN T. STEWART
Church Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

St. Louis Baptists are raising $1,000,000 to build new churches in the city and county, it was announced this week by the Baptist Mission Board, 919 North Taylor avenue.

Funds will be used to establish new churches in neighborhoods not served by existing Baptist churches, and to expand the facilities of small churches, according to the Rev. Homer E. DeLozier, pastor of Maplewood Baptist Church and acting secretary of the mission board.

The expansion fund has been named the Paul Weber Memorial Building and Loan Fund in memory of the late Rev. Dr. Weber, who had been superintendent of the mission board for 14 years when he died last Nov. 26. The Rev. J. Edwin Hewlett, pastor of Southwest Baptist Church, is chairman of the fund campaign committee.

Plans to raise the $1,000,000 were approved at a recent called meeting of the mission board. The action was taken after the Rev. E. A. Stokes, assistant pastor of Third Baptist Church, had read a tribute to the Rev. Dr. Weber. The Rev. Mr. Stokes is a former president of the board. The Rev. Ovie A. Winscott, pastor of First Baptist Church of Rock Hill, now is president of the mission board.

The Rev. Dr. Weber was working on plans to expand Baptist work in the St. Louis area at the time of his death.

The Rev. Mr. Winscott has appointed a committee from the board to find a successor to the Rev. Dr. Weber. The St. Louis Baptist Association includes 66 churches in the city and county.

PASTOR RESIGNS TO TAKE PARISH AT MACON, MO.

The Rev. Edward G. Wulfekuehler Jr. has resigned as pastor of Compton Hill Congregational Church, Compton and Lafayette avenues, it was announced yesterday. Tuesday he will become pastor of Macon County Larger Parish, with headquarters at Macon, Mo.

He is a graduate of Beaumont High School, St. Louis; Drury College, Springfield, Mo., and the Pacific School of Religion, Berkeley, Calif. He has been a leader in summer youth conferences of the St. Louis Association of Congregational Churches. His parents live in St. Ferdinand township, St. Louis county.

His successor at Compton Hill Church has not been appointed.

New Pastor

THE REV. DR. G. CURTIS JONES

UNION AVENUE CALLS PASTOR FROM NASHVILLE

The Rev. Dr. G. Curtis Jones, who has accepted a call to become pastor of Union Avenue Christian Church, has been pastor of Vine Street Christian Church, Nashville, Tenn., for four years. At the Nashville church he succeeded the Rev. Dr. Roger T. Nooe, who has been serving as interim pastor of Union Avenue Church since the departure of the Rev. Dr. Hampton Adams last August.

The Rev. Dr. Jones is the author of several religious books, the most recent, "What Are You Worth?" He is a graduate of Lynchburg (Va.) College and Yale Divinity School.

A native of Virginia, he is 44 years old, married, and has five sons, including two sets of twins; there is a son 16 years old, and twins 13 and 5.

The Rev. Dr. Jones will assume his St. Louis pulpit after Easter, April 10. Union Avenue Church, Union boulevard and Enright avenue, has 2100 members.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

A free public lecture on Christian Science will be given in Loew's Orpheum Theater, 416 North Ninth street, at 12:15 p.m. Friday by George Channing of San Francisco. The lecture is sponsored by the eight Christian Science churches in St. Louis. Channing will give a different lecture at 8 p.m. Thursday at Sixth Church of Christ, Scientist, 3736 Natural Bridge avenue.

CATHOLIC WOMEN JOIN IN COMMUNION

National Honor Society Members Will Attend Old Cathedral on Founder's Day.

Members of the St. Louis chapter of Kappa Gamma Pi, national honor society of Catholic women's colleges, will join their 7700 fellow members tomorrow in nation-wide communion.

Local members will take communion at 9 a.m. at Old Cathedral, Third and Walnut streets. Msgr. Lloyd A. Sullivan, pastor of Old Cathedral, will be celebrant of the mass.

Mrs. Edwin G. Eigel of 3654 Flora place is national president of Kappa Gamma Pi. Sunday's service is the third annual founder's day general communion to be designated by Mrs. Eigel.

President of St. Louis chapter is Miss Mary Louise Streit, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George O. Streit of 7539 Wise avenue, Richmond Heights. Miss Streit is a graduate of Fontbonne College and a medical technologist.

Tomorrow's observance honors the late Rev. Francis V. Corcoran, C.M., founder and first moderator of the 28-year-old Catholic honorary society. A Vincentian, Father Corcoran was vice president of Kenrick Seminary and professor of philosophy at Webster College when he sponsored the founding of Kappa Gamma Pi in 1926. He served as its moderator until his death in January 1939.

It is a scholastic and activity honor society, and its members are Catholic women graduates of 94 affiliated colleges. There are no campus chapters, since students are elected to K.G.P. only at graduation. Metropolitan chapters exist in 32 major cities and there is a chapter in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Dr. Hager in Kennett.

The Rev. Dr. Wesley H. Hager, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, this week conducted a preaching mission in the Methodist Church of Kennett, Mo. On Thursday he will be the speaker at the annual meeting of the council of churches of Minneapolis, Minn.

Second Presbyterian Church Installs Electronic Organ

New York Organist Gives Concert on Instrument Described as Largest of Its Kind.

Second Presbyterian Church, Westminster place and Taylor avenue, dedicated its new electronic organ last night with a concert by Claire Coci, organist for the New York Philharmonic Symphony Society.

The new organ, which has the tonal equivalent of 150 ranks or speaking stops, is described by Second Church staff members as the largest of its kind in the world and the first electronic organ in a St. Louis church. It cost $35,000, about half of what a conventional pipe organ of comparable size would cost, according to W. Ben Knight, member of the church committee which recommended its purchase.

Specifications for the organ were drawn by Max Hodges, organist and choir director of Second Church and head of the music department of Shurtleff College, Alton, Ill. The instrument consists of a swell organ, great organ, choir organ, and a pedal organ. It resembles a conventional four-manual console, but the working parts are a maze of tubes concealed in a back room.

The sound comes from 10 revolving loudspeakers of high fidelity.

The organ was built at Macungie, Pa., near Allentown.

It has been in use about six weeks and has been "well received by our congregation and visitors," the Rev. Chester C. Carnahan, associate pastor, said. "We are delighted with the musical quality of the tones," he added.

Before the electronic organ was bought, a committee from Second Church visited churches in Rochester, N.Y., and Memphis, Tenn., to hear and inspect organs of the same type.

Since the new organ was installed last Nov. 28, Second Church has had visits by music committees from churches in Connecticut, Alabama, Illinois and St. Louis. "All our visitors have been amazed by the tonal quality of our electronic organ," the Rev. Mr. Carnahan said.

RABBI TO GIVE SERMON AT EPISCOPAL SERVICE

Rabbi Jerome W. Grollman, associate rabbi of United Hebrew Temple, will preach the sermon at the annual Festival of Lights at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Christ Church Cathedral, Thirteenth and Locust streets.

It is the custom of the Episcopal Cathedral to invite a Jewish rabbi to speak at this service, which is a colorful ceremony of ancient Jewish origin.

The Festival of Lights has a dual significance. It goes back to the Feast of Dedication instituted in 165 B.C. by Judas Maccabaeus and his followers after they had recaptured Jerusalem and cleansed their Temple of pagan worship.

For Christians, the festival recalls Jesus Christ as "the Light of the World." At the service a large candle on the altar represents the revelation of Christ. From this candle the light is carried to 12 candles carried by young men who represent the 12 apostles. Then the lights spread to other candle bearers and to the choir.

DR. DAHLBERG MAKES TOUR TO RAISE COLLEGE FUNDS

The Rev. Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, pastor of Delmar Baptist Church, is visiting several large cities in the interest of a $250,000 fund-raising campaign for Bacone College, Baptist college for American Indians at Muskogee, Okla. He is making the tours as president of the American Baptist Home Mission Society.

Tuesday night he spoke at a fund-raising dinner in Oakland, Calif., and Thursday night in Los Angeles. He returned home this morning.

LONDON RECTOR TO PREACH HERE DURING LENT

The Rev. Dr. Marvin Charles-Edwards, rector of St. Martin's-in-the-Field Church, London, England, is one of six clergymen who will conduct the daily noonday Lenten services of the Metropolitan Church Federation, it was announced yesterday. He will preach at Christ Church Cathedral, Thirteenth and Locust streets, March 7-11.

The federation will conduct the six-week Lenten series, it was announced by the Rev. Dr. Allen Hackett of Pilgrim Congregational Church, chairman of the federation's Commission on Evangelism. In former years, Christ Church Cathedral conducted the first three weeks' services of Lent and the church federation the last three weeks.

Ash Wednesday is Feb. 23, and the first week's noonday services will be conducted by Bishop Arthur C. Lichtenberger of the Missouri Diocese of the Episcopal Church. Other preachers during Lent will be, in addition to the Rev. Dr. Charles-Edwards, the Rev. Dr. James H. Robinson of New York; the Rev. Dr. Reuben K. Youngdahl of Minneapolis, Minn.; the Rev. Dr. Hampton Adams of New York, formerly of St. Louis, and during Holy Week, the Rev. Dr. Halford E. Luccock of Yale University.

PASTOR STEPHAN SPEAKS ON LUTHERAN BROADCAST

The Rev. Paul G. Stephan has begun a three-month series of 13 sermons on the Lutheran Hour Sunday broadcast. He is pastor of Mount Calvary Lutheran Church, 1444 Union boulevard.

The Rev. Mr. Stephan served as guest speaker on the Lutheran Hour radio program in the summers of 1951 and 1952. He is a graduate of Concordia College, St. Paul, Minn., and Concordia Seminary, St. Louis.

Bills Try for 5th Straight Against St. John's Tonight

By Robert Morrison

The present St. John's of Brooklyn team, carrying the colors of an ancient and illustrious name in eastern college basketball, faces St. Louis University tonight as possibly the best of three Redmen teams the Bills will have met.

That is the estimation of St. Louis Coach Eddie Hickey as he sends his Bills after victory No. 10 against the newcomers from the metropolitan area in the 8:30 homecoming contest at Kiel Auditorium.

Riding a winning streak of four, the Bills are 11-point favorites to move aside the husky Redmen, who have walloped Holy Cross and lost by only a point to North Carolina State in a 7-and-4 season thus far.

The points didn't mean much last week when the Bills carried a theoretical edge of eight against Wichita and won only by two, with Jim McLaughlin's miracle field goal in the last second. Things could get that tough again unless the Bills demonstrate more general stability under pressure.

Rubber Game.

"This is the rubber game between us," commented Hickey, with reference to a 77-47 Holiday Festival victory for the Bills over St. John's last year, and an 81-66 victory for the Redmen in a National Invitation Tournament game the year before.

"I'm confident St. John's now has the best team that we have faced but I don't think it's out of line to say we're coming up with our best, too."

Two years ago St. Louis had a relatively youthful team when it lost to the team from Brooklyn; last year, a year older but missing scoring ace Dick Boushka because of illness, the Bills played brilliantly in running up a 30-point margin.

But last year was an off year for St. John's, which started intercollegiate basketball in 1907 and had several brilliant seasons along the way until it became known as a tournament fixture under Coach Joe Lapchick.

Since 1943 (the first of two straight N.I.T. championship years under Lapchick), St. John's has missed an invitation to the event only twice. That was in 1948, under Coach Frank McGuire and last year under Coach Al (Dusty) DeStefano, now in his third season.

Two Seniors in Front Line.

Two seniors of old acquaintanceship with the Bills, three sophomores and two juniors make up the front-line of strength for St. John's this season. In general the Redmen are hefty but with surprising mobility.

Top scorer is Soph Bill Chrystal (6-5 and 220) with a 19-point average, who jumps or drives for shots. Another soph is Mike Parenti (6-7 and 235), said to be the man who will cover Robin Freeman when the Redmen play at Ohio State Monday.

The old soldiers or seniors are big Ed Cunningham (6-4, 212) who probably will be defending against Boushka, and Capt. Marty Satalino, one of those excellent shots who come out of New York. The juniors include the round man of startling appearance, 6-5, 250-pound Pete Carroll, not a starter but sometime a remarkable troubleshooter.

Preachers Seek Seventh Win

Concordia Seminary's basketball team will be seeking its third victory in four starts since the Christmas holidays when it meets Culver-Stockton College of Canton, Mo., tonight at 8:30 at the Concordia field house. The visiting Wildcats won an earlier meeting, 64-56, one of five Preacher defeats in a campaign in which they have scored six victories.

Good screening and sharp shooting from the outside have carried Bill Herrington's Culver-Stockton team to five victories against seven reverses. C-S will be trying to snap a two-game losing streak, with the most recent reverse coming at the hands of Central College of Fayette, a club Concordia defeated here in a 75-73 overtime thriller.

Dave Marr of Steger, Ill., is one of the C-S set-shot experts and Paul Wright, a 6-5 St. Louisan, takes care of the boards and also helps greatly in the point production. Dick Weimer, Frank Narid, Dean Jensen, Norman West, John Bier, Lou Predmore and Clyde Peterson are others likely to see service for the visitors.

Concordia Coach Pete Pederson will start his regular "big five" of Harold Rast (leading scorer with 146 points in 11 games), Augie Lubkeman, Dave Jockel, Dave Wacker and Dave Ludwig.

The Preachers will play twice on the road next week but will be at home Thursday night to Lincoln U. of Jefferson City.

C.B.C. Loses Overtime Game at Cape, 73-71

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Jan. 29—Cape Girardeau Catholic High, paced by Fred Meystedt's 40 points, defeated C.B.C. of St. Louis, 73-71, in an overtime basketball game here last night. The teams were tied 67-67, at the end of regulation time.

Shurtleff Defeated.

Jim Carey contributed 29 points but Shurtleff College of Alton bowed to Millikin University at Decatur last night, 89-73. Milliken made 43 of its points at the free-throw line, Don Morris counting 18 of his 26 points there. Mel Sheets and Roger Lotchkin each scored 20 points.

Cleveland High Wins Normandy Relay Swim

Cleveland High School swimmers captured the second annual Normandy High School invitational relay meet yesterday with a total of 38 points. Other totals: Principia 28, Normandy 18 and Roosevelt 14.

300-YARD MEDLEY RELAY—Won by Cleveland (Wadel, Hunsaker, Little); Normandy, second; Hadley, third. Time—3:23.5 (new record; old record 3:25.5, by Cleveland, 1954).

180-YARD MEDLEY RELAY—Won by Cleveland (Gardner, Hunsaker, Martin); Hadley, second; Normandy, third. Time—1:51.7.

Western Wins, 56-52, Over Country Day

Western Military Academy gained its third ABC League basketball victory in four starts when it defeated Country Day, the 1954 champion, 56-52, last night at Country Day.

In a nonleague game, Principia Academy won from Luther North of Chicago, 45-43, while on the same program at Concordia Seminary, Lutheran High defeated Luther South, 89-70. The same four teams will play tonight at Principia Academy, with the opponents and starting times reversed.

Also on tonight's program, John Burroughs will play Pembroke Country Day at Kansas City.

League standings:

| | W. | L. | Pts. | O.P. |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| John Burroughs | 3 | 0 | 182 | 141 |
| Western M.A. | 3 | 1 | 216 | 202 |
| Country Day | 1 | 3 | 187 | 233 |
| Principia | 0 | 3 | 145 | 157 |

Fast Finish Gives Johnson Victory Over Ramon Fuentes

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29 (AP)—A seldom invoked Pennsylvania scoring rule helped Georgie Johnson, tenth ranking middleweight, to a hairline verdict over bloody but unbowed Ramon Fuentes at Convention Hall last night.

Johnson, 154, Trenton, N.J., was awarded a split decision over Fuentes, 153, the fourth ranking welterweight from Los Angeles. An estimated 2500 fans—no receipts were disclosed—saw the hotly contested nationally televised (NBC) fight.

The officials were widely split. Referee Willie Clark scored Fuentes the winner, 6-4; Judge Jimmy Mina voted for Johnson 6-3-1 and Judge Nick Spano carded five rounds for each man.

However, Spano used a scoring regulation that has been in mothballs in Pennsylvania for longer than most veteran ringside observers care to remember. He gave the decision to Johnson—12 to 5 favorite—on the basis of a strong tenth round.

Johnson, who spent most of the night backing away from the lunging attack and smashing two-hand barrages of Fuentes, dropped the Mexican for a count of eight in the final round with a right hand to the chin. Fuentes staggered upright at three, and after taking the mandatory eight count, managed to shake his head clear enough to stay away from the Jersey fighter's flailing fists.

It was the knockdown and Johnson's clear-cut tenth round edge that swayed Spano to the 23-year-old middleweight's corner. The Associated Press scored Fuentes a 5-4-1 winner on the strength of his aggressive tactics.

Fuentes face was bloody at the finish from cuts alongside both eyebrows and a deep gash across the bridge of the nose. Johnson was cut on the left cheekbone.

The cards:

Judge James Mina—
J J J J F J F F E J—J 6-3-1
Judge Nick Spano—
F J F J F J J F F J— 5-5
Referee Willie Clark—
F J F J F J F F J—F 6-4
Associated Press—
E F J J F F J F F J—F 5-4-1

David Earl Dethroned By Bolden

By W. J. McGoogan

Eight winners in the Open division of the twentieth annual Golden Gloves tournament will begin work at the Rock A.C., after a brief vacation, for the trip to Chicago and the Western Golden Gloves finals scheduled to be held there Feb. 28, March 1 and 2.

Sam Westbrooks again will be coach of the team, as he was last season when the St. Louis aggregation brought back the team trophy.

Three of them are from Vashon Center, two from Rock A.C., two from St. Paul Social Center, an East St. Louis organization coached by the veteran, Ted "Pop" Myles, and one from Carr Recreation Center.

Brooks Rolls Along.

Leon Brooks, Vashon, successfully defended his welterweight championship with a knockout of Calvin Smith, of the Neighborhood A.C. in the second round.

David Earl of St. Paul Social Center, lost his 135-pound crown to Wardel Bolden of Carr in one of the best scraps of the final program. Bolden was the stiffer puncher and was more aggressive than Earl.

The bout which attracted the most attention of the eight Open class bouts was the final one of the evening between Jess Bowdry of Rock A.C. and Willie Anderson of Tandy.

Bowdry, winner of the 135-pound novice championship in 1954, grew to the middleweight open class, where the weight limit is 160 pounds, in the last 12 months.

Jesse finished strongly to grab a close, but unanimous decision from Anderson. The verdict was not unanimous among the fans, but it appeared to be a just one.

The first two rounds were fairly even with Anderson having a slight edge, but Bowdry put on a finish good enough to convince the judges and the referee that he should have the nod.

Golden Gloves for Silvers.

Another interesting bout was the heavyweight contest between Kenny Silvers, St. Paul Social Center, and Lucius Tate, Fort Leonard Wood, which Silvers won on a decision. Giving away 39 pounds to Tate, who weighed 222, Kenny proved to be the superior boxer and shook up his much heavier opponent in the second round.

Five of the Open bouts went to decision, there were two technical knockouts and one actual kayo.

Irvin Thatch of St. Paul Social Center scored a TKO over the Indian, Jack Anquoe, Rock A. C., in the second round. Thatch clearly outclassed Anquoe, and Coach Tony Anderson finally stood up in the corner and signaled to Referee Bob Ingham to halt the contest to save his charge from further punishment.

The other TKO was scored by Larry Freeman, Vashon, over Clarence Chatman, Vashon, in the second round when Chatman's handlers decided he had enough after the end of the first round.

Smith accounted for the only actual knockout.

Attendance at the finals was announced as 10,364 with receipts of $18,213.50. The tournament is sponsored by the Globe-Democrat.

Referees Not Seeing Double: Eddington Twins Win Bouts

By Neal Russo

Double trouble in the Open division in future tournaments may come from identical twins Daniel and Don Eddington of Gamble Center, who had little difficulty gaining novice titles in the Golden Gloves last night.

Dan beat August Becerra, Granite City Lincoln A. C., at 118 pounds, and Don won from James Anderson, Tandy, at 112.

Brotherhood award — Roger Cozart, Bangert A. C.

Kinney was a Gloves official, Ivey and Clement were G. G. champions killed in World War II, and Gilmaster was long the chief timekeeper.

Fighters in Audience, Too.

The awards presentation apparently was too quiet for several customers, who slugged it out a few rows behind Marty Marion, White Sox manager. He flies to spring camp in one month. First in the A. L.? "The White Sox, with the Indians second," says Marty.

In the corner of Tommy Reynolds in his 112-pound Open title victory over Alva Wallace of Scott Base, was brother Joe Reynolds, former Gloves titleholder who has won two of three bouts as a pro. In the 126-open class, William White of Vashon outboxed lefthooking Willie Walker of Rock to earn a split decision. Walker had advanced by knocking out Cornelius Fowler, 1954 champion at 118 pounds.

Frank Spight of Buder, in the final because the man from Scott who beat him in the semifinals suffered a broken arm, took advantage of his extra "life" by knocking out William Willingham of Neighborhood Association in the 175-pound novice class.

Redhead Greer, North Dupo youth who has been boxing only three months but proved to be a tough sensation in the early rounds, was no match for seasoned Arthuer Merritt of Gamble, victor in the 147-pound novice class. Merritt has been boxing three years.

Under A.A.U. rules, the referee was only the "policeman" and votes were cast by the three judges on a 20-point maximum basis. Judges were Howard Hess, Fred Connell, Whitey Schubert, Gene Minnigerode, Moxie Holloman, Ed Bishop and Emil Hagen. Referees were Harold Wertich, Dick Young, Ed McClain, Jim Richie, Glenn Reed and Bob Ingham.

OPEN RESULTS

Haddix Turns Down Cards' Offer; Same Salary as in '54

THE fact that Pitcher Harvey Haddix has rejected the 1955 salary offer of the Cardinals is not taken by the club as a serious difficulty, it was said today by Jim Toomey, Cardinal public relations man.

In the absence of both General Manager Dick Meyer and Vice President Bill Walsingham, who are in New York to attend the major league meetings, Toomey verified the fact that Haddix has turned down the club's first offer.

"Harvey has been asked to come in from his home in Ohio for a contract talk," said Toomey. "I know that Meyer and Walsingham feel sure of an agreeable settlement."

Haddix has objected to an offer of "the same salary I got last season." He thought he deserved a raise in view of his record of 18 games won and 13 lost. He indicated he will accept the invitation to come to St. Louis for a conference.

'Dimes' Bowling Meet At Ferguson Lanes

The fourth annual Ferguson March of Dimes bowling tournament will open today at the Ferguson Lanes, 123 South Florissant. The ABC-sanctioned event consists of men's and women's singles and doubles, as well as mixed doubles, all at a 60 per cent handicap.

Trophies will be given in all divisions and the singles winners will receive an all-expense air trip to the Cardinals' opener at Chicago. Entry fee is $2.50 per event, with $1.50 of this going to the March of Dimes polio fund. The meet will continue tomorrow, as well as next weekend.

Glen Wallar Burial To Be in Louisville

Following funeral services at Kriegshauser Mortuary tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, the body of Glen L. Wallar, former sports editor of the Globe-Democrat will be sent to Louisville, Ky., for burial. Mr. Wallar died Thursday night at his home, 4540 Morganford road. Survivors include his widow, May; a daughter, Mrs. Mary Couch of Mount Carmel, Ill.; two sons, Howard and Enlo, both of Mount Carmel; a sister, Mrs. Fay Lella of Linden, N.J., and a brother, Paul, of Granite City. He was 73 years old.

Harrison Trails By Nine Strokes In Coast Golf

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Jan. 29 (INS)—It was up to the rest of the hand-picked field of professional golfers to try to catch Johnny Palmer today as the third round of the $15,000 Thunderbird invitational golf tournament unfolded in Palm Springs.

The stocky Charlotte, N. C., professional added a substantial, if not spectacular, 68 yesterday to his sensational 10-under-par 62 of the opening round for a two-day total of 130 over the sun-drenched S.P.A. course—14 under par.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Louis, had a second round 72, which gave him a 139 total for the 36 holes.

Closest of Palmer's pursuers, who tore the sporty Thunderbird course apart, was Mike Souchak, ex-Duke University end playing out of Durham, N.C. Souchak fashioned his second successive 66 yesterday for a mid-point tally of 132.

Following at 133 were Bo Wininger, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Wally Ulrich, Rochester, Minn.; Shelley Mayfield, Chicopee, Mass., and Bud Holscher, Santa Monica, Calif.

Beaumont High Seeks 16th Win in Row

Beaumont High will seek its sixteenth straight basketball victory and its fifth in the Public High League when it meets Roosevelt tonight at 6:30 at the St. Louis U. gym on West Pine.

In other games on the tripleheader program, last of the first semester, Hadley Tech will play Central at 8 and Cleveland, the 1954 champion and still in the hunt for the '55 title, will oppose Southwest at 9:30.

Wheelchair Basketball Tonight.

St. Louis wheelchair basketball team, the Jets, will be hosts to the Kansas City Rolling Pioneers in a game at Battery A Gymnasium, 1231 South Grand boulevard, tonight. The game will start at 8:15.

Trabert Loses To Rosewall in Aussie Tennis

ADELAIDE, Australia, Jan. 29 (UP)—Lewis Hoad and Ken Rosewall today assured Australia of the singles title by downing their American opponents in straight sets in the semifinals of the Australian national tennis championships.

The favored Hoad downed Rex Hartwig, who was handicapped by an injured right shoulder, 6-1, 6-4, 6-3, in the first semifinals match.

Ken Rosewall, playing in top form, upset Tony Trabert, U.S. Davis cup ace, 8-6, 6-3, 6-3. Trabert had boasted after he and Vic Seixas had won the doubles title yesterday that he was out to score a slam of the world's tennis titles.

Hoad will play Rosewall for the singles title Monday.

Jim Jackson On Walker Cup Team Again

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (UP)—The U. S. Golf Association today named its nine-member Walker Cup team for the bi-annual match with Great Britain at St. Andrews, Scotland, on May 20-21.

William C. Campbell of Huntington, W. Va., was named captain. Other members will be Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Tex.; Lieut. Joe Conrad of San Antonio, Tex.; Bruce Cudd of Portland, Ore.; Jim Jackson of Glendale, Mo.; Dale Morey of Indianapolis; Billy Joe Patton of Lumberton, N. C.; Harvie Ward Jr., of San Francisco; and Dick Yost of Portland, Ore.

There will be three alternates. The first is Rex Baxter of Amarillo, Tex.; second, Hillman Robbins of Memphis, Tenn., and the third, Ed Meister of Cleveland, O.

Ashburn Asked To Take Salary Cut by Phillies

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 29 (AP)—Richie Ashburn—one of the fastest men in the National League—has given the Philadelphia Phillies a speedy answer to its first 1955 contract offer.

Reached by telephone, Ashburn said yesterday he had been asked to take a 15 to 20 per cent cut in his 1954 pay, reported at $15,000.

Ashburn hit .313, drove in 40 runs as a leadoff man and stole 10 bases last season. Next to Catcher Smoky Burgess who appeared in 108 games, Ashburn was the best hitter on the club.

"I thought I had a pretty good year," he said. "I can't understand why I'm asked to take a pay cut."

On other baseball fronts, Phil Rizzuto and Eddie Robinson, veterans; as well as Pitchers Ralph Terry and Tom Sturdivant and Shortstop Woody Held have agreed to terms with the New York Yankees. . . . Bobby Shantz has signed his contract with the Kansas City Athletics. . . . Paul Smith, who hit .321 with Havana last year, and Pitcher Roger Bowman have come into the Pittsburgh Pirate fold. . . . Veteran George Metkovich and recruit Bob Malkmus have signed with the Milwaukee Braves.

Buchholz to Perform For Jaycee Tourney

Earl Buchholz Jr., national champion in the Junior Chamber of Commerce tennis tournament last year, will participate in an exhibition of tennis form and trick shots at the Sherman Park center, Kingshighway and Easton, at 1 p.m. today. The event is intended to stimulate interest in the second annual Jaycee meet, in which 500 St. Louis youngsters are expected to compete.

Others in today's exhibition include Erica Puetz, Missouri Valley girls' champion; Dick Horwitz, finalist in the national indoor doubles meet; Neil Drury and Bev Tolan. Players who wish to enter the national tournament may do so through their schools, or they may obtain application blanks at the Jaycee office, 511 Locust street.

Maryville Five Gains Victory Over Miners

MARYVILLE, Mo., Jan. 29 (AP)—Maryville State College got out of the M.I.A.A. cellar spot it shared with the Missouri School of Mines last night by beating the Miners 82-76.

Maryville now has one victory against three losses in the Conference. Rolla has lost all four.

National League Owners Consider Expansion Idea

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP).

THE National Baseball League "kicks around" the idea of expanding to 10 teams today with the American League scheduled to consider the same possibility tomorrow.

National League officials will take a look at sample schedules setting up 162-game seasons in their meeting this afternoon. The American League's expansion committee will follow the same program tomorrow.

Those are just two of five baseball meetings on tap this weekend, however, before the Sunday night dinner by the New York chapter of baseball writers.

Hawks to Show New Goalie in Game Tonight

By Harold Flachsbart

Frank Eddolls's Chicago Blackhawks will be trying to snap a three-game losing streak and a 10-game winless streak when they meet the Detroit Red Wings at The Arena tonight in St. Louis's fifth regularly-scheduled National Hockey League game of the winter. Game time, 8:15.

The Hawks' last point in the standings was gained Jan. 19 in a 3-3 tie with Toronto and they have gone 10 games since scoring their last victory right here in St. Louis, a 3-2 decision over the Toronto Maple Leafs Jan. 2. For the season, the last-place Chicago club, which has looked big league on two of its four previous appearances here, has won only 8, lost 29 and tied 10.

The Hawks will show a new goalie, 21-year-old Hank Bassen, moved up from Buffalo to replace Ray Frederick, who had been subbing for injured Al Rollins.

Detroit is only two points behind the league-leading Montreal Canadiens and is making a strong bid to capture an unprecedented seventh straight regular-season championship. The Wings will be missing Ted Lindsay, their all-star forward who is under a 10-day suspension for striking a spectator last Saturday at Toronto.

However, the Wings, who captured the Stanley Cup last spring for the sixth time since 1936, have other stars in their lineup, including Gordie Howe, four-time N.H.L. scoring champion; Red Kelly, four-time all-star defenseman; Goalie Terry Sawchuk, an all-star in 1951, '52 and '53; Bob Goldham, another defense man they call a "second goalie," and forwards like Marcel Bonin and Dutch Reibel who are sparking the club's most recent drive. Bonin is a former St. Louis Flyer.

East St. Louis Five Gains 15th Victory

East St. Louis played cat-and-mouse with Granite City last night to beat the Happy Warriors, 50-20, in a controlled-style basketball game which held the losers to eight field goals and four free throws.

The victory was the fifteenth in 16 games for East St. Louis.

Clayton Upsets Maplewood in League Game

Webster Is Beaten by Brentwood

By John J. Archibald

They said that the Suburban League was going to be tough this year and last night's results proved it. Maplewood's dream of a perfect league season was dispelled by Clayton, 63-61, but second-place Webster Groves was prevented from tying the Leafs because Brentwood defeated the Statesmen, 57-53.

In another Suburban surprise, Wellston came up with its second victory of the season, 48-44, against Ladue. Both Trojan triumphs have been in league play, so they now have a record of 2 and 5. John Jones, the league's top scorer, made 22 points for Wellston.

Maplewood, which now has a 6-1 record compared to Webster's 5-2, led Clayton by nine points with five and one-half minutes to go, but the Greyhounds kept stealing the ball. Frank Hubbard's goal with 30 seconds remaining put Clayton ahead, and Frank Kearney's free throw gave Coach Wally Geisz's team its two-point edge. Jack Pirre of Maplewood suffered a sprained ankle that kept him out during the fourth quarter.

Bob Kohly's 30 points led Brentwood to its overtime victory over Webster Groves. Jerry Wolff had 19 points and Larry Marshall 14 for the Statesmen.

In other Suburban games, University City remained in the thick of the fight by defeating Ferguson, 45-38, and Normandy nipped St. Charles, 51-50.

Pattonville bettered its position in the North County League by stopping Riverview Gardens, 45-31. Pattonville has a 6-1 mark, to Riverview's 4-2. Jennings drubbed Maryland Heights, 47-28.

One of the stronger Class B teams of last season, Berkeley, indicated it was getting ready for next year as the Bulldogs reversed an early beating by Fairview to win, 46-38, in another North County League game. The young Berkeley team trailed for three quarters of the contest, and was tied at 38-38 with a minute to go before it broke away.

Bob Johnson, a 185-pound junior, got through Fairview's defense to score his fourth field goal of the quarter to put Berkeley ahead. A goal by Jim Howell and several free throws, including one by Howell after the game had ended, provided the eight-point margin.

Johnson had 16 points for Coach John Shnell's team, while Leroy Luebbert paced Fairview with 13, just half the total he made when Fairview defeated Berkeley, 59-44, in an earlier game. Berkeley has a season record of 3 and 14.

Shoemaker Suspended.

ARCADIA, Calif., Jan. 29 (UP)—The nation's leading rider, Willie Shoemaker, and Panama-born Jockey Rogelio Trejos yesterday drew five day suspensions from Santa Anita's board of stewards for careless riding.

The suspensions start next Tuesday and run through Saturday, costing both potential mounts in the San Carlos Handicap next Wednesday and the Santa Margarite and San Felipe Handicaps Saturday, Feb. 5.

Shoemaker drew his suspension for causing interference while riding J. Frost in the third race Thursday. Trejos was set down for causing interference on Busher's Song in the fifth race.

St. Mary's Is 71-58 Winner Over De Andreis

By Harold Tuthill

If St. Mary's High students go about singing the latest popular refrain, "Let the Sunshine In," it will be because of the Green Dragons' basketball upsurge rather than any desire to do anything about the cold wave.

Early this season it was a pretty dark picture for Vern Winter's Dragons as they were slow in overcoming the handicap of a late football season and their prospects seemed bleak, indeed, when they lost their Catholic Athletic Conference opener to De Andreis, 47-44, to drop to a record of two victories, nine defeats.

Since then, though, St. Mary's has done an about face, won all six of its games and when it turned the tables on De Andreis last night, 71-58, it took a firm hold on first place in the league race with a 5-1 record. Now the St. Mary's record is a more respectable 8-9.

Laboure, a 62-49 victor over Du Bourg's revamped quintet, took over second place when Mercy nosed out McBride, 60-59, to throw three schools in a tie for third place, all with 3-3 records.

St. Mary's owes much of its current success to a couple of out-court shooters, Charles Stiebel and Roger Powers. As they have improved, they have taken some of the pressure off Dennis Klos, Bob Rumping and Bob Molitor and made it difficult for the opposition to cover them.

As Glen Murphy, the De Andreis coach, put it, "St. Mary's has become a team of such versatile shooters, it's hard to know which ones to guard."

Stiebel and Klos, with 23 points each, were the big guns against D-A. Murphy's Wildcats led after the first quarter, 19-16, but when Stiebel's late goal in the second quarter put the Dragons in front, 31-29, at the intermission, they were there to stay.

They hit 23 of 40 field goal attempts, a percentage of 57.5, while De Andreis took 64 shots, made 21 of them for a 32.9 mark.

Miss Romack's Play Features Doherty Event

MIAMI, Jan. 29 (UP)—National Amateur Champion Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Cal., led the way into the semifinals of the Doherty Women's golf tournament yesterday as defending titlist Grace DeMoss Smith failed in the second round.

The blonde Miss Romack scored two easy victories with some of the best golf of the tournament. She defeated Ellen Gery of Reading, Pa., 4 and 3, then whipped Marjorie McMillan of Milwaukee, 6 and 5.

Mrs. Smith, of Miami, lost her touch on the fast Miami Shores greens and bowed to young Barbara McIntire of Toledo, O., But the brunette upsetter fell victim herself by the same 1-up margin to stocky Joyce Ziske of Waterford, Wis., in the quarter-finals. The loss was a tough one for Miss McIntire, who had a 2-up advantage after 10 holes.

Cookie Swift Berger of Buffalo, N.Y., proved the nemesis for the tournament's Cinderella girl, Greta Leone of Chicago. Mrs. Berger gained a 3-and-2 third-round victory over Miss Leone, who had defeated the tournament medalist, Vonnie Colby, and entered the quarter-finals with a 45-foot chip on the 18th green.

The spectacular shot in the cup on the 410-yard final hole for a birdie 4 kept Miss Leone's luck alive by giving her a 1-up win over links veteran Mrs. Harold Stone of Ware Shoals, S.C.

French Youth of 15 Wins Men's European Figure Skating Title

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Jan. 29 (UP)—Alain Giletti, a 15-year-old French skating virtuoso, outclassed 13 rivals from eight nations last night to win the men's European figure skating championship.

Giletti, whose pirouettes were copied from those used by America's former world champion, Dick Button of Englewood, N.J., had eight placings and a total of 179.75 points, even though two of his double jumps were not well executed. He landed on two feet in both instances, instead of on one foot.

Michael Booker of England was second, Karel Divin of Czechoslovakia third and Norbert Felsinger of Austria fourth.

Burnine, Drafted by Giants to Finish His Eligibility at Mizzou

COLUMBIA, Jan. 29 (AP)—Hal Burnine, University of Missouri end drafted by the New York Football Giants, said yesterday he would play his final season of eligibility at Missouri.

Burnine, the Big Seven's leading pass receiver last fall, is a junior but the Giants were within the rules in placing him on their list.

Manush, 156, Leader In Early Wynn Meet

VENICE, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP)—Heinie Manush, Washington and Detroit outfielder, led baseball figures after two rounds of the Early Wynn Invitational golf tournament but he was still pretty far down the list. Manush, now a resident of Sarasota, has 76-80—156.

Leader in the 54-hole event is Pro Bill Hook of Cincinnati with 72-73—145, one over par. Hook is two strokes better than another Cincinnati pro, Karl Rohmann. The leading amateur is Arlo Martin of Newton, N.C., at 154.

Other scores by leaders in the baseball world include Jack Russell, Clearwater, 158; Dizzy Trout, Detroit, 160; Al Lopez, Tampa, 161; Wes Ferrell, Sarasota, 162; Paul Waner, Sarasota, 163; and defending champion Freddie Hutchison, Anna Maria, 165.

Golfers had today off and finish the tournament tomorrow.

Notre Dame Shortstop Signs With Yankees

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (UP)—Tom Carroll, 18-year-old Notre Dame student who had been sought by 13 major league baseball clubs, signed as a bonus player with the New York Yankees yesterday for "a sizeable sum."

Carroll, a New York sandlotter from suburban St. Albans, L.I., is a six-foot, three-inch shortstop and will be carried on the Yankee roster for the next two seasons under baseball's bonus rule. He is the second bonus player on the Yankee roster, the other being First Baseman Frank Leja.

As a Notre Dame freshman last season, Carroll had a .550 batting average and last summer played baseball at Halifax, Nova Scotia, and batted .320, hitting eight homers.

Cubs Drew 748,138 Fans, Lost $72,000 in '54

CHICAGO, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs yesterday disclosed the club lost $72,000 in 1954 after drawing 748,138 fans, lowest since 1944.

Although the Cubs drew 15,000 less fans than in 1953, the 1954 financial loss was far less than the $206,000 in 1953.

For the eighth straight year, no dividend was declared in the annual report to stockholders.

All officers and members of the board were re-elected.

Lincoln U. Victor.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 29—Lincoln University's basketball team gained its fourteenth victory against two defeats by winning from Central Missouri of Warrensburg, 85-43, last night. Paul Davies and Nurlin Tarrant paced the winners in scoring.

84 IN CIRCUIT CLERK'S OFFICE GET PAY RISES

Total Is $43,320 a Year—Judges Also Approve 2 New Deputy Sheriffs.

Salary increases totaling $43,320 a year for 84 employes of Circuit Clerk Phelim O'Toole were approved yesterday by the circuit judges meeting in general term.

Monthly increases will be from $25 to $55, on salaries now ranging from $200 a month for janitors to $555 a month for chief deputy circuit clerks.

The increases, effective April 1, are expected to be approved by the city Board of Estimate and Apportionment and the Board of Aldermen.

Also approved by the judges was appointment of two new deputy sheriffs named by Sheriff Martin L. Tozer.

Appointment of two new deputy circuit clerks by O'Toole also was approved. They were Horace Gentry, 4021 St. Ferdinand avenue, and Mrs. Essie Lee Smith, 3157 Brantner place, both Negroes.

Tozer was authorized by the judges to appoint three additional deputies for prisoners at Homer G. Phillips Hospital.

Tozer told the judges the three guards now on duty, each of whom works an eight-hour shift, were insufficient because prisoners are scattered through the hospital instead of being in one detention ward.

ABACUS BEATS ADDING MACHINE IN SPEED CONTEST

A Japanese student using an abacus defeated an American student operating an adding machine in 10 straight tries in an adding and subtracting speed contest at St. Louis University, it was announced yesterday.

The abacus is an ancient oriental computing device. It has a number of beads mounted on sticks set in a frame. In some of the speed runs at the university the student using it had a margin of as much as 20 seconds over his competitor.

Yoshiki Yasui of Tokyo, a graduate student in business administration, used the abacus. He learned to operate the device an an employe of a commercial establishment in Japan. George E. Lewis of Benton, Ill., a freshman in commerce and finance, who used the adding machine, said he may ask for a rematch when he builds up more speed.

FARM PRICES RISE 2 PCT. IN MONTH, COSTS 1½ PCT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—Farm prices rose 2 per cent between mid-December and mid-January, thus staying a bit ahead of farm costs, which went up nearly 1½ per cent in the same period.

The Agriculture Department, which reported this late yesterday, said the farm price average is about 6 per cent below that of a year ago, 9¼ per cent under what it was two years ago when President Eisenhower entered the White House, and 22 per cent lower than the record high in February 1951 when the Korean war was going on.

Higher prices received by farmers for cattle, chickens, strawberries, lettuce and green beans were credited by the department with chief influence on the mid-December to mid-January average price rise.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING NOT HELD, QUORUM LACKING

A regularly scheduled Board of Education committee of the whole meeting could not be held today for lack of a quorum, and Board President H. M. Stolar sharply criticized three absent members, saying they "have consistently boycotted these Saturday meetings."

The three, Charles J. Dyer, Dr. James J. McCaffery and James F. Morrell, all of the board's "old guard" faction, have not attended a Saturday session since establishment of the committee of the whole system last fall, Stolar said.

Five members were on hand for the meeting, two short of the required minimum. Besides Stolar, the other "blue ribbon" members present were, Louis H. Antoine, Daniel L. Schlafly and Clem F. Strockman. Oscar A. Ehrhardt was the fifth member present.

"Blue ribbon" members Charles H. Christel and Henry O. Whiteside, were out of the city. The other absentees were Mrs. Irma H. Friede and J. Harry Pohlman, both identified with the "old guard" faction. Pohlman, suffering a heart condition, has not attended a meeting since June. Mrs. Friede's attendance has been good.

BANK TELLER FACES EMBEZZLING CHARGE

George A. French Accused of Stealing $6079 in 4-Year Period.

A warrant charging George A. French, a teller at Southern Illinois National Bank, Broadway and Collinsville avenue, East St. Louis, with embezzling $6079 was issued yesterday by United States Commissioner Vera Fellner in East St. Louis.

French, whose wife has been in ill health for some time, signed a statement admitting the embezzlement over a period of about four years, John A. Harszy, bank president, said. French took the funds from his individual teller cash account, it was alleged.

The shortage in this account was discovered by Federal Reserve bank examiners Thursday while French was on a short vacation. Harszy said previous examinations of his account had failed to show any discrepancies.

French, 40 years old, 3021 Lincoln avenue, East St. Louis, had been with the bank 17 years and had been a teller for the last 10 years. His salary was $330 a month. Harszy said French's father had agreed to make restitution.

A hearing has been set for Monday when, by agreement, French will surrender to the commissioner.

INDICTMENT CHARGING FRAUD IN SCRAP METAL DISMISSED

An indictment charging Louis J. Bernard and William G. Stenzel with conspiring to defraud the United States Government through falsification of the weight of scrap metal they purchased at McDonnell Aircraft Corp. was dismissed today by Roy W. Harper.

Allegations in the indictment indicated that it was not the Government but the aircraft firm that was directly defrauded, Judge Harper ruled.

In another indictment, Neil R. Ford, former McDonnell employe, was charged with falsifying weight records so that Bernard and Stenzel allegedly received more metal than they were paying for. This indictment was dismissed last month by United States District Judge Rubey M. Hulen on the ground the Government lacked jurisdiction.

SOUTH KOREAN NAVY TO GET 9 UNITED STATES WARSHIPS

SEOUL, Jan. 29 (AP)—Foreign Minister Y. T. Pyun said today the United States has agreed to turn over nine warships to the South Korean navy on a five-year loan basis. Pyun said the loan would take place soon and that the five-year period could be extended later by agreement.

The Foreign Office said the nine ships are part of the 27 which Defense Minister Sohn Won Il recently said would be delivered to South Korea. Two destroyers are included among the vessels.

United States Ambassador Ellis O. Briggs expressed satisfaction over the agreement.

PLANES HUNT YACHT MISSING SINCE JAN. 14

Last Radio Message Said Ship Was Safe Despite Severe Storms —No Further Word.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Jan. 29 (AP)—A widespread search over the Atlantic and Caribbean was resumed today for a 60-foot schooner missing for two weeks. Aboard it are Ward Wheelock, Philadelphia advertising company executive, and six or seven guests.

A 120,000-square-mile plot was covered yesterday by Navy, Coast Guard and Air Force planes. The Coast Guard planned to continue the sea search today to cover areas missed yesterday.

The schooner, the HSH, has not been heard from since Jan. 14, the day after it left Bermuda for a voyage of about 1200 miles south to Antigua in the British Leeward islands. Eighty-mile-an-hour gales had been sweeping the Atlantic a short time before.

Friends of Wheelock here said it was possible the schooner may be safe at the Mill Reef Club in Antigua. The club is 10 miles from a telephone and the owner may not have reported his arrival.

The Coast Guard at Norfolk, Va., said that aboard besides Wheelock, his wife and son, Ian, are Mr. and Mrs. J. Kent Willing of Philadelphia. Willing is senior trust investment officer of the Girard Trust Corn Exchange Bank.

In addition, three Bermudans identified here as Mr and Mrs. Harry Darrell and Miller Powell, were reported as guests. Darrell is known here as an experienced boat handler.

The HSH reported by radio at 8 p.m. Jan. 14 that it was all right despite the rough weather and would make a further report the next day. That was the last word heard.

RUSSIA PROMISES TO STUDY MOVE FOR CEASE-FIRE

Question on Tachens.

Molotov was asked what would be the attitude of the Soviet government to the possibility of a temporary cease-fire, to facilitate the withdrawal of Nationalist Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's forces from islands close to the mainland, if no agreement could be reached next week at the U.N. Security Council meeting for a permanent cease-fire between the Chinese Communist and Chinese Nationalist forces.

Molotov replied:

"I can provide a short reply to that question. If Chiang Kai-shek should desire to withdraw his forces from any islands hardly anyone would try to prevent him from doing so."

Asked whether that meant that Molotov thought the Communist Chinese forces on the mainland would not attack a withdrawal or ships which might facilitate a withdrawal, he said:

"I am not authorized to speak for the Chinese People's Republic. That question should be asked of them."

He was asked whether the Soviet Government would be prepared to ask the Chinese Government that question.

Fences With Hearst.

Molotov, gazing intently at his interviewers, said: "Is the Government of the United States asking us to do that?"

Hearst quickly answered: "We are not speaking for the American Government in any way. We are simply journalists."

Molotov then said, "I am taking note of that."

Hearst again said he wished to make it clear "we are simply asking a journalistic question, we are not representing and not speaking in any way for the American Government."

Hearst opened the conversation by telling Molotov he was pleasantly surprised by the friendliness of the Russian people in the streets and wherever he encountered them.

He said this encouraged him to hope that relations between the Soviet Union and the United States could be improved.

Room for Improvement.

Molotov replied that "relations between our two governments are such there is room for improvement but relations of our peoples toward Americans are quite good."

Hearst then raised the question of the Formosa crisis. He asked whether Molotov felt the situation which had developed there constituted a serious threat to peace.

Molotov answered:

"The situation in the area of Taiwan, or Formosa as you call it, is of course such as to draw everybody's attention to it because it creates tension in the Far East and reacts negatively on the whole international situation.

"It presents a threat of war and a threat of violation of peace. It cannot be considered otherwise than one which intensified international tension and creates a threat of war.

"I cannot fail to add that in my view the responsibility falls on the United States in view of its interference in Chinese internal affairs in Formosa, which is an integral part of China."

Molotov's attention was called to British Foreign Secretary Sir Anthony Eden's statement that China did not control Formosa for more than 100 years.

Cites Cairo Declaration.

Molotov cited the Cairo declaration, the Potsdam agreement, the Japanese surrender terms, and a statement which Molotov said was made by the President of the United States in 1950, all of which Molotov added made it clear that Formosa belonged to China.

(The Allies in the Cairo declaration in 1943 said that "all the territories Japan has stolen from the Chinese, such as Manchuria, Formosa and the Pescadores, shall be restored to the Republic of China."

(The Potsdam declaration in 1945 said "the terms of the Cairo declaration shall be carried out," and at the San Francisco conference on the Japanese peace treaty, which Russia refused to sign, Japan renounced claims to Formosa and the Pescadores.

(On Jan. 5, 1950, President Truman said the United States stood by its Potsdam pledge to give Formosa back to China. This was just after the Chinese Communists had driven the Nationalists off the mainland and before the Korean Communists invaded South Korea, later to be joined by the Chinese Reds.)

"The present situation," said Molotov, "arises from the fact China was deprived of the island first by Japan and now by the United States."

On Reducing Tension.

Hearst said: "The Soviet government sought at the Geneva conference to avert an extension of the Indochinese conflict. Is it prepared to do likewise in respect to the Formosan 'situation?'"

Molotov answered:

"In one respect the position of the Soviet government is the same as far as Indochina, China, or any other area is concerned.

"That is, the Soviet Government is interested in reducing international tension everywhere. Everything that contributes to that end will find support on the part of the Soviet Union in so far as it does contribute to that end.

"What is needed is that measures should be directed toward reduction of international tension."

Molotov said he was looking at the situation from a realistic point of view and it must be recognized that the Chinese (Communist) Government controls the whole mainland of China and the Chinese people feel they have achieved, not without difficulties, a great national victory.

Therefore, he added, Communist China is bound to insist on respect for its national territory and interests.

'Realistic' Policy.

"As far as the U.S.S.R. is concerned," he said, "it is developing its relations with China on a basis of equal rights and friendship, taking into consideration the mutual interest of the two countries.

"We consider this realistic."

Smith said that he understood the Soviet position in respect to Communist China but the important and immediate problem was to find a solution which would prevent the current situation from developing into a general conflagration that might endanger the peace of the world.

Molotov replied: "China does not threaten anybody and it would be well if nobody threatened China."

Hearst asked, "If the American Government would use its good offices to urge its Chinese friends to seek a peaceful solution of this problem would the Soviet government be disposed to do likewise with its Chinese ally?"

Molotov answered:

"It must be realized that the two parties are not the same. There can be no comparison between the governments of the Chinese People's Republic and the so-called Chiang Kai-shek government."

Molotov said the Nationalist government should move to some other spot.

Austrian Treaty.

Turning to the European situation, Hearst inquired whether as a first step toward disarmament the Soviet government would be prepared to join with the Big Three western powers in evacuating military occupation forces and bases from all of Austria pending conclusion of an Austrian peace treaty.

Molotov went into a lengthy exposition on the Soviet government's well-known position about American defense bases around the world, asserting their existence constituted an unfriendly attitude toward the Soviet Union and was threatening Russia.

Smith said he could not agree that measures which the American Government had taken and which were supported by the American people and North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations were unfriendly. He emphasized that they had been prompted in the interests of security and the maintenance of lasting peace.

Molotov then asked whether if everybody agreed to withdraw military bases from Austria could it be done elsewhere and if so, how.

Smith answered that it might prove to be contagious.

The interviewers said they did not wish to become involved in a debate over the question of American bases. The meeting then came to a conclusion.

SENATE ACTION GIVES GO-AHEAD TO TACHEN MOVE

last night, reporting possible damage to all of them. The vessels, type undetermined, were believed to range from 2000 to 3000 tons in size.

After hitting the ships in the Tachen area, the Nationalist planes flew over the mainland and dropped rice and leaflets on six provinces—Chekiang, Fukien, Kiangsi, Hunan, Hupeh and Anhwei.

Nationalist quarters were none to happy over the scheduled meeting Monday of the United Nations Security Council to consider a cease-fire in the offshore island area. They expressed fear that a cease-fire would have a chain reaction effect to the Communist advantage.

They undeniably hope the Communists will refuse acceptance.

Landing Ships Wanted.

By the United Press.

The commander of the Seventh Fleet is inquiring about landing craft to be used in evacuating Chinese Nationalist men and equipment off Tachen beaches.

A high American official said the ships sought by V. Adm. Alfred M. Pride will go into shore through waters believed to contain mines.

It was estimated in Taipeh that it will take "only three or four days" to take the soldiers and civilians off the Tachens once the operation starts.

The landing craft will be under the cover of the Seventh Fleet's guns and carrier planes as well as Fifth Air Force F-86 Sabrejets now on Formosa.

High American sources said also American jet bombers would be alerted on United States bases in Asia throughout the operation "for whatever assignment might be given them."

Earnest Hoberecht, United Press correspondent, reported from an air base on Formosa that United States pilots have received advance clearance for hot pursuit of any planes attempting to attack.

Hoberecht was told by authoritative sources that the American pilots will shoot only if shot at, but will not permit the Red Chinese to seek a privileged sanctuary as they did beyond the Yalu river in the Korean war.

Pride's fleet already has massed north of Formosa and the admiral told newsmen he could start the evacuation of the Tachens within a "few days."

Military observers speculated on whether the Communists would allow the peaceful evacuation or risk the possibility of an open clash with American military forces.

RUSSIANS CLAIM TO HAVE ATOM-POWERED AUTOMOBILE

BERLIN, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Soviet Union claimed today its nuclear scientists have developed an atomic-powered automobile. Details were distributed by the Soviet government's press and propaganda machinery to East European satellites.

The Lausitzer Rundschau in East Germany published an article saying the "successful experiments" were conducted by Prof. V. P. Romadin, Stalin prize winner and nuclear physicist.

It said: The atom auto is a normally constructed vehicle with the exception of the engine, which is described as "the atomic oven." Heat from the oven turns lead into liquid. The lead is held in constant circulation and vaporizes water which runs the wheel-moving turbine.

The article said a new alloy was developed to protect the driver from dangerous radiation.

QUEEN, DUKE TO VISIT OSLO

ZONE FARE PLAN OF P.S.CO. TAKEN UNDER STUDY

State Commission Ends Hearings After Opposition Testimony for County Riders.

By BOYD F. CARROLL

Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 29—The application of St. Louis Public Service Co. for a zone fare system, the sixth such request in six years, was under submission today by the Missouri Public Service Commission.

Hearings in the case, involving an estimated annual gross revenue gain of $400,000 to $450,000, were completed yesterday after opposition testimony was presented on behalf of St. Louis county and 10 county municipalities, whose longhaul riders would bear the brunt of the proposed higher fares.

Paul B. Blomgren of Bloomington, Ind., assistant professor of transportation at the University of Indiana, appeared for the county opponents yesterday as an expert witness. He was the only county witness.

Cites Inequities in Plan.

Blomgren told the commission fare proposals in the plan which placed "almost the entire zone change burden on suburban riders" would offset the advantages of the plan.

The proposed plan, he asserted, was not a uniform one and should relate the fares to distances traveled.

"It is not possible to set up a perfect zone system," the witness said, "but it should be as uniform as possible. Inequities in this plan are not minor ones. The zones should be approximately equal in length. Discriminations should be kept to a minimum."

Blomgren said a lower basic fare would tend to stimulate riding and give the short-haul riders a "break." He conceded on cross-examination by Gaylord C. Burke, counsel for the company, that he had never designed a mass transit zone fare plan for a public utility.

10 Fare Zones Proposed.

The pending company plan calls for 10 fare zones in the city and county, with extra 5-cent-a-zone charges in addition to basic fares. A proposed new 30-cent round trip fare, good for one day for single vehicle, no-transfer rides within one zone, would cut riding costs for short-haul riders, chiefly in the city.

Other witnesses have said long-haul riders, who in some instances would pay up to 15 cents in zone charges under the plan, in addition to the present 20-cent basic fare on local lines and 25-cent basic fare on express lines, would pay an additional $650,000 a year.

The city of St. Louis did not oppose the plan in the hearings, but City Counselor Samuel H. Liberman urged modification of the proposed 30-cent round trip fare for short-haul passengers in one zone to grant such passengers transfer privileges. He declared this would stimulate riding.

Cites Mileage Differences.

Henry P. Ingebritsen, public utilities engineer for St. Louis, testified in support of Liberman's transfer proposal for the short-haul, single-zone riders and pointed out mileage differences existing in rides on lines within one zone.

James M. England, chief accountant for the commission, introduced accounting department studies yesterday showing Public Service Co., in the 12 months ended last Oct. 31 earned net operating revenue of $1,200,721.

He said this was a rate of return of 4.78 per cent on a rate-making base of $25,946,923 for the company. He estimated the rate of return would have been 5.52 per cent had the proposed new fares been in effect in the same period.

"The United States Government completely disregarded the solemn condemnation by the Chinese people made by (Red Chinese Premier) Chou En-lai Jan. 24 (in which Chou referred to the Communist plan to take Formosa).

"On the very same day, Eisenhower submitted to Congress a special message on the so-called 'situation developing in the Formosa strait.'

'Threat by U. S.'

"As can be seen from the message, the U. S. Government is trying by means of these war provocations, including a threat to use atomic weapons, to compel the Chinese people to tolerate U. S. intervention in China's internal affairs.

"The Chinese people resolutely oppose and solemnly condemn this U. S. war provocation. We are determined to liberate Taiwan. If the U. S. armed forces dare attack us we will firmly strike back with heavy blows."

Despite the tone of the Chinese broadcast, British officials were reported still hopeful Peiping would accept an invitation to participate in cease-fire talks.

A Foreign Office spokesman disclosed that Humphrey Trevelyan, the British charge d'affaires in Peiping, met for two hours with Chou yesterday. The spokesman said whatever views were expressed were "not definitive" because the formal invitation from the U.N. has yet to be extended.

The spokesman described Chou's comments as "very considerable in length." Another official source said Chou "took great pains to make his attitude clear."

NAVY FURY JET CLIMBS 10,000 FT. IN 73 SECONDS

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 29 (AP)—For the second time in three days, a new Navy record for a climb to 10,000 feet has been set by a FJ-3 Fury jet plane.

Lt. Comdr. William J. Manby Jr. was timed yesterday in 73.2 seconds on a fourth try at the mark at the nearby Oceana naval air station.

The unofficial clocking, by members of his squadron, from the time he started moving down the runway until he hit 10,000 feet, was almost 10 seconds faster than the record of 83 seconds set two days earlier at Miramar, Calif., by Lt. Comdr. R. H. Moore Jr., also flying a Fury.

PRESIDENT SIGNS RESOLUTION ON FORMOSA CRISIS

said, "We are appraising and reappraising agonizingly our Far Eastern policy." The full effects of the action, Mansfield said, "no one knows."

Possible Effects.

One effect may be that Red China will get a seat in the United Nations and the Nationalists may lose their permanent seat on the U.N. Security Council, Mansfield said. That would be predicted on a separation of Formosa and Communist China permanently, as North and South Korea and East and West Germany are partitioned.

The resolution could lead to war with Communist China, war with China and Russia, or an outbreak of hostilities in Korea, Mansfield said, and we might have allies or we might not.

But Mansfield said that regardless of what might come, and despite the "faults" of the resolution, he would vote for it because "the Communists are looking for division among us" and because "the circumstances leave us no other choice."

Senator Morse (Ind.), of Oregon, who contended the resolution was tantamount to an authorization for preventive war, shouted in a hoarse voice:

"I hope history will prove all my fears unfounded, that it will prove I'm dead wrong, for God help America if I'm right."

But Morse, one of the three who voted against final passage, said the time to dissent was before the vote of the resolution and that after decision of the Government was made "the Senator from Oregon will support it—there will be no dissent from me."

Desire for United Front.

It was apparent in the debate that many of the Senators who voted reluctantly or with reservations for the resolution did so in a desire to present a united front to the world. Senator Kefauver (Dem.), of Tennessee, whose proposed substitute was defeated, expressed this when he said as the clerk started to call the roll, "It is now time to close ranks behind the President."

No one doubted the Senate would adopt the resolution by an overwhelming majority, but there was no certainty as to the time of the vote until shortly before it was taken at 9:50 p.m. There was no demonstration when the results were announced. The three bitter-end opponents, Morse, Langer and Lehman, were troubled and silent.

The first test vote came on a proposal by Langer to bar a strike against the China mainland and forbid support of any Nationalist-held island within 12 miles of the China coast. This would include Quemoy, a few miles from the mouth of the Communist harbor of Amoy, and some of the Matsu group of islands commanding the port of Foochow.

This resolution was turned down 83 to 3, with Morse, Langer and Lehman voting in favor of it.

Kefauver's proposal, which attracted more support but which was defeated 11 to 75, would have confined defensive action to Formosa and the Pescadores "pending effective action by the United Nations to maintain peace and security in the Formosa strait." Supporting the substitute were Kefauver, Morse, Lehman, Gore (Dem.), Tennessee, Humphrey (Dem.), Minnesota, Jackson (Dem.), Washington, Kilgore (Dem.), West Virginia, Long (Dem.), Louisiana, Magnuson (Dem.), Washington,, McNamara (Dem.), Michigan and Neuberger (Dem.), Washington.

An amendment originally sponsored by Humphrey but offered by Lehman would have eliminated Quemoy and Matsu from the defense area. It was defeated 13 to 74. Voting for it were Senators Byrd (Dem.), Virginia, Fulbright (Dem.), Arkansas, Humphrey, Kefauver, Kilgore, Langer, Lehman, Long Mansfield, McNamara, Morse, Murray (Dem.), Montana and Neuberger.

FIVE ECONOMISTS CALL FOR BIGGER BUDGET DEFICITS

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29—Five out of seven economists testifying before the congressional Joint Economic Committee yesterday said that the deficit in the Federal budget ought to be bigger, not smaller.

One panelist said the present budget, with its $2,400,000,000 deficit, is about right. Another said there ought to be more Government spending and that this could be matched on the revenue side by closing tax "loopholes," leaving the deficit about the same. Only one—the representative of the National Association of Manufacturers—said the budget ought to be balanced.

The N.A.M. man, Harley L. Lutz, went so far as to say, in fact, that the Economic Philosophy of the Administration "points toward the planned, and eventually the socialized, economy." He thought the Administration was not nearly "conservative" enough, while his fellow economists felt exactly the opposite.

No 'Real Deficit.'

Several of the panelists emphasized that there is no real deficit in the recent budget at all because the Government's cash accounts are approximately in balance. (This comes about because about two and a half billion dollars of the expenses in the budget are purely transactions within the Government.) Then they said there should be such a deficit because, in present economic conditions, this was the "safest possible policy."

The panelists emphasized that there is practically no danger of inflation from deficits as long as the economy is short of being fully employed.

Those who urged a bigger deficit this year included Arthur Elder, tax consultant of the American Federation of Labor; J. K. Galbraith, Harvard economics professor; Walter M. Heller, University of Minnesota economics professor; and William S. Vickery, Columbia University economics professor.

Other Views.

Alfred G. Buehler, economics professor of the University of Pennsylvania, said he thought a balanced "cash" budget for the next fiscal year—as estimated by the Administration—is a "logical" policy "until the situation becomes more definitely clarified." Harold M. Groves, University of Wisconsin economics professor, urged more spending without increasing the deficit.

Along with their advocacy of either more expenditure or lower taxation to increase the deficit, as an economic stimulant, several of the panelists sharply criticized the present tax laws as unfair. Heller quoted with approval this statement by Princeton Economist Paul Strayer: "No income tax law can be perfect . . . but few can be as bad as the current income tax law and still command the respect of any intelligent citizen or economist."

In general, the criticism centered on "loopholes" in the law rather than its defects as an economic instrument.

The panel also was overwhelmingly in favor of more Government spending in such areas as schools, highways and foreign economic aid. They argued that it is needed and can easily be afforded on economic grounds.

KANSAS CITY ADVERTISER SAYS STAR'S TV BARRED HIM

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 29 (AP)—A witness in the government's anti-trust suit against the Kansas City Star testified yesterday that he was told there was no time available for him on the newspaper's television station because he did not advertise in the Star.

Ronald E. Tidwell, who operated a furniture and appliance store, said he did most of his advertising on three radio stations, none owned by the Star, in 1952 and 1953. He testified he wanted time on the Star's TV station and was given the choice of four periods but that the solicitor failed to contact him again to close the deal. Tidwell said he called the advertising salesman and was told no time was available, that it was available only to Star advertisers.

The Star and its advertising director, Emil Sees, are accused of violating the anti-trust laws by using unfair practices in an attempt to monopolize the dissemination of news and advertising in the Kansas City area.

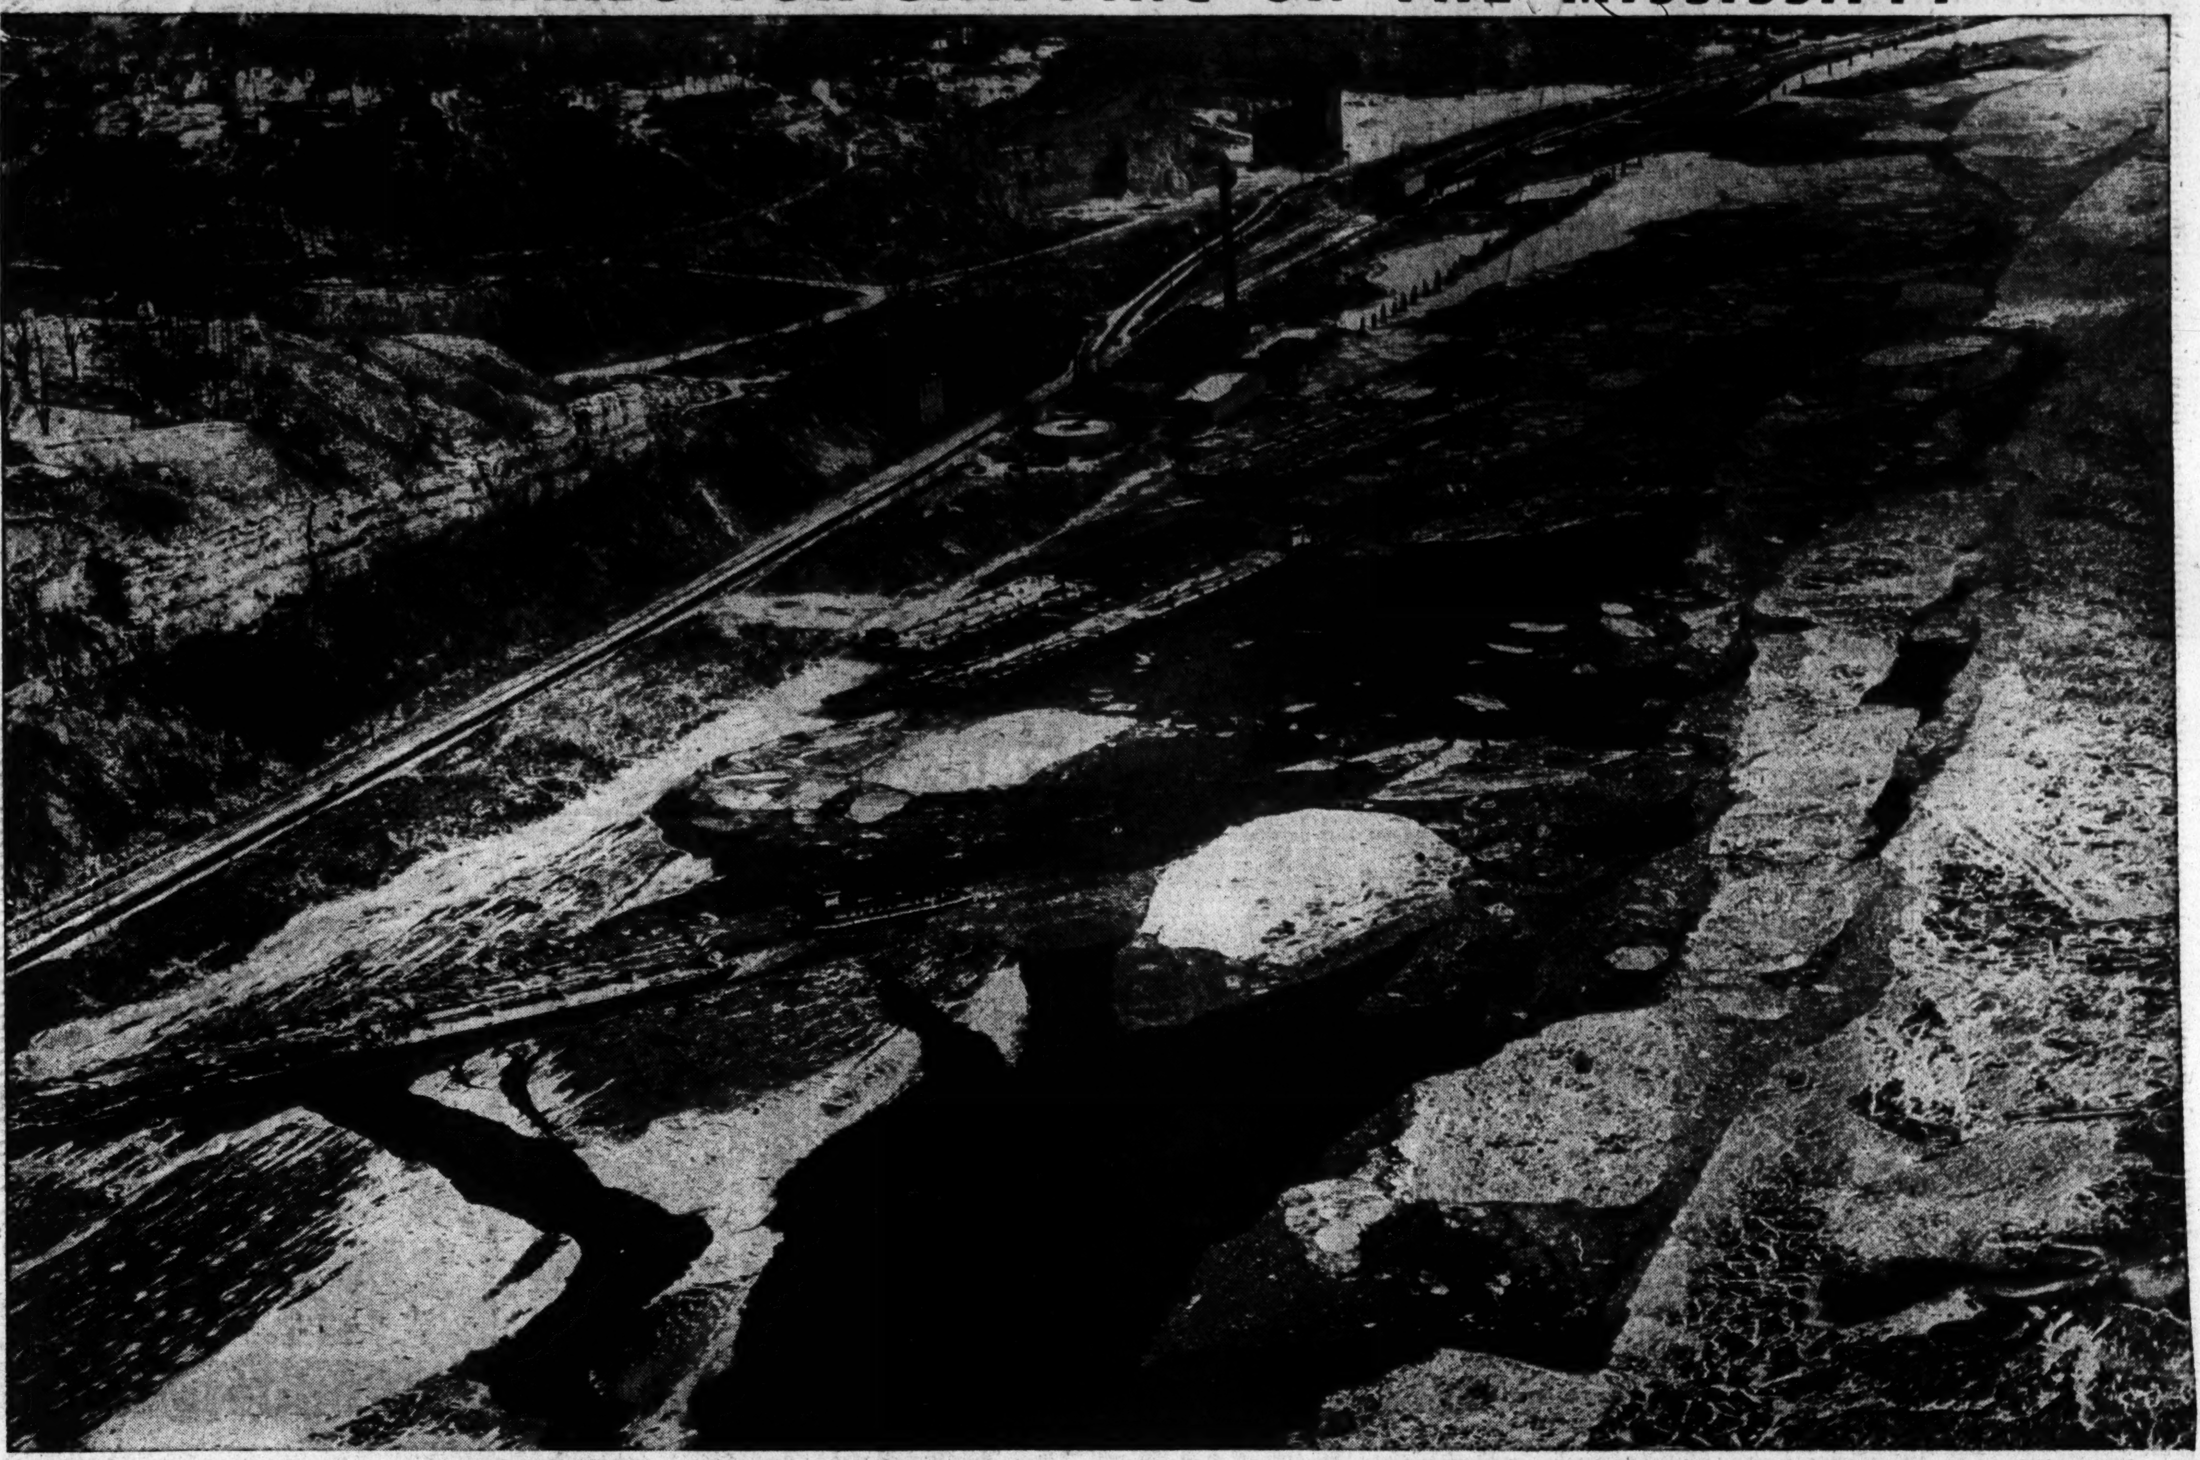
ICY HAZARDS FOR SHIPPING ON THE MISSISSIPPI



Aerial view of scene at Alton yesterday as heavy ice floes disrupted towboat operations on the Mississippi river. Halted tows shown are among those which were tied up or run up to the shoreline along the Piasa bluffs after leaving the Alton locks a short distance downstream. Further upstream, and on the Illinois river, some heavy barges were able to crash through the ice barriers and the Corps of Engineers was attempting to keep a channel clear with a Coast Guard icebreaker.

2 MEN CHARGED WITH MURDERING TEXAS WOMAN

Bomb in Auto Was Intended for Husband, Police Say — Former Son-in-Law Accused.

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 29 (AP) —Two men, one a former son-in-law, today were charged with murder in the gangster-fashion killing of Mrs. Harry E. Weaver, wealthy west Texas ranch woman.

Police charged the former son-in-law, Harry L. Washburn, 38 years old, and Carlton Henneger, 37, both of Houston.

Officers said Mrs. Weaver was killed by mistake. They said the bomb planted in Weaver's car was meant for him. The car exploded when Mrs. Weaver stepped on the starter.

Houston city detective H. E. Thompson said Washburn first tried to hire two men last March to ambush Weaver, who was an architect.

Washburn, an unsuccessful candidate for county commissioner here in 1948 and 1950, was once charged on three counts with terrorizing the Weavers with two guns and a knife.

Deal Described.

Washburn had no comment about his arrest or the charges against him. Henneger denied any connection with the killing, or with plans to kill Weaver.

Thompson said he took a written statement from Johnny McKinnis, 45, of Houston three days after the death of Mrs. Weaver. The detective said McKinnis came to him and told him that last March Washburn contacted him and another man and offered them an undetermined amount of money to kill Weaver.

McKinnis said they subsequently received payments of $40, $50, $90 and other amounts of money that he could not recall.

Not Told Why.

McKinnis told Thompson that Washburn never told them why he wanted Weaver killed.

They said that on several occasions Washburn would call long distance and talk to "someone" in that town who would tell Washburn of Weaver's whereabouts and moves.

EDITOR ACCEPTS PARIS MINISTER'S DUEL CHALLENGE

PARIS, Jan. 29 (AP) — Ex-Premier Edgar Faure, the new foreign minister in the government of Premier Mendes-France, challenged a strong supporter of Mendes-France to a duel yesterday.

An article in L'Express criticized Faure for signing an order easing the tax burden on horse feeders. Faure had signed the order as finance minister, a post he gave up to become foreign minister. The article noted that the new finance minister had countermanded Faure's order.

It is highly unlikely that any duel will take place. Duelling is illegal in France. Challenges are fairly common but the affairs are usually smoothed over.

TROPICAL BIRD VISITS NEW YORK ON COLDEST DAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—A subtropic bittern, the bird which at this time of the year normally hides in the rushes of southern swamps, showed up in mid-Manhattan yesterday, on the winter's coldest day.

The two-foot drab brown bird with green legs perched on an apartment house fire escape for two hours. Excited members of the National Audubon Society watched it.

Said Andrew Bihun Jr., an officer of the society: "This is the first time we've had a bittern inside the city in winter. Why, even in the summer it can only be found in Central Park. But here among apartment buildings? Never before!"

DIRECTORY FIRMS CONSENT TO ANTI-TRUST DECREE

DETROIT, Jan. 29 (AP)—Four publishers of city directories and the Association of North American Directory Publishers consented yesterday to a United States district court judgment restraining them from violating anti-trust laws and monopolizing their industry. A consent decree was offered to Judge Frank A. Picard for his approval.

With defendants agreeing to the decree, Government attorneys said charges of anti-trust law violations would be withdrawn against the association, R. L. Polk & Co., Detroit; H. A. Manning & Co., Springfield, Mass.; Price & Lee Co., New Haven, Conn., and C. B. Page Directory Co., Corpus Christi, Tex. The charges originally were filed a year ago.

NAVY LIEUTENANT CLEARED OF 15 COUNTS OF USURY

NEWPORT, R.I., Jan. 29 (UP) —Lt. (J.G.) Richard T. Fowler of Alexandria, Va., has been cleared of usury charges but a Navy court-martial board recommended that he be reprimanded for striking an enlisted man.

Fowler was convicted on two charges of overpayment to enlisted man and the board recommended that his name be dropped back 1000 unrestricted line numbers on promotion lists.

The board discarded 15 counts of usury against the officer, who had been charged with granting short-term loans to Navy personnel at 20 per cent interest.

U.N. 'LITTLE ASSEMBLY' HAS FIRST SESSION IN 3 YEARS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 29 (AP)—The United Nations interim committee, popularly known as the Little Assembly, met yesterday for the first time since March 17, 1952. It elected Oscar Thorsing of Sweden its chairman and then adjourned, because, Thorsing said, there was nothing on the agenda.

The Soviet bloc nations boycotted the session, as they have all that have been held since the committee was established by the General Assembly in 1947. Its purpose is to sit between Assembly sessions and consider any matter brought to its attention which may impair "the general welfare or friendly relations between nations."

BOY PARALYZED BY BULLET TO GO BACK TO SCHOOL

He is paralyzed from the chest down as the result of a spinal injury suffered last June when he was accidentally shot by a high school friend who was showing him a revolver.

After spending seven months as a resident patient at Miriam Rehabilitation Hospital in Webster Groves, young Eschenfelder, son of Mrs. Carrie Eschenfelder, 401 Monroe street, Belleville, walked out yesterday to go home.

Donald will return to Belleville Township High School where his twin sister, Donna, is also a student. The school will provide special equipment for him in the classroom. "I'm going to need some help," he said, "but I can get along pretty well on my own now."

NEWSPAPER GUILD STRIKE CLOSES BROOKLYN EAGLE

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Brooklyn Eagle, major daily newspaper in that borough, was shut down today by a strike of 315 members of the CIO American Newspaper Guild. Composing room workers, members of other craft unions, did not show up this morning for work and apparently were respecting the ANG picket lines.

Now in its 114th year, the Eagle has an afternoon circulation of 130,000 and 165,000 on Sunday. In addition to Brooklyn, much of its circulation is on Long Island.

The ANG workers are employed in the editorial, business and other departments of the paper. They are seeking a $5.80 package increase in a two-year contract. This is similar to the pattern recently established on seven papers in metropolitan New York. About 320 craft union workers on the Eagle also received the same increase. The Eagle had offered the guildsmen a $1.40 boost now and $1 next year under a two-year pact. The guild, which has a weekly top minimum of $131.50, rejected this.

TEAMSTER'S BOARD BACKS DAVE BECK

Finds No Violation of Constitution in Lending Million to Trailer Firm.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 29 (AP)—Dave Beck, president of the AFL Teamsters' Union, today had a vote of confidence from the union's executive board on a charge of violating the union's constitution.

Martin O. Crouse, former recording secretary of the Yakima (Wash.) Local No. 524, brought the charges against Beck. He alleged the union head violated the constitution by lending Fruehauf Truck-Trailer Co. more than a million dollars to aid the firm's president, Roy Fruehauf, in a stock proxy fight.

Fruehauf put up company stock as collateral for the loan but exercised the stock voting rights to help him keep control over his firm.

The union constitution says no more than $50,000 may be invested in corporate bonds but says nothing about investing union funds in stocks or loans.

Beck said he has sole authority to interpret the constitution, subject only to being reversed by the executive board.

The way he now interprets the constitution, he said, he can make loans but has "no present disposition to buy stock although I may feel differently about that some time."

Crouse, who brought the charges a year ago, also claimed Beck maintained a trusteeship over the Yakima local and this kept its affairs from being run by the membership.

Beck said "Crouse never had a chance in the world to sustain his position."

Chile to Buy U.S. Wheat.

SANTIAGO, Jan. 28 (UP) —Chile has agreed to buy $5,000,000 worth of surplus wheat and edible oils from the United States, it was announced today.

'RUSSIAN COLONEL' SEIZED ON SECOND TEST OF SECURITY

POTTSTOWN, Pa., Jan. 29 (AP)—A "Russian colonel" made his second visit of the week to this restricted area yesterday.

He was grabbed by three men and dragged to a waiting car amid shouts of "you dirty Communist. We'll run you out of town!" A policeman intervened to break up the melee.

On Monday, the "Colonel"—Normand Poirier, a reporter for the Pottstown Mercury—had wandered unmolested through the city in his rented Soviet uniform. He theoretically blew up bridges and poisoned the city's water system and actually took pictures of defense plants undisturbed.

Yesterday Columbia Broadcasting Co. sent a television crew to Pottstown to film a repeat of Poirier's test. Pottstown is part of the 27 per cent of the land area of the United States declared off limits to Russians.

It was during a series of interviews with local residents by the television crew that the unidentified men set on the 27-year-old reporter. Poirier said later he suspected the men knew him and were expressing their anger over Monday's publicized stunt which had subjected them to ridicule.

Wife Beats Husband.

LEWISTON, Mont., Jan. 29 (AP)—Reider Byfuglin took his automobile downtown at noon. It collided with another car—damage minor. His wife used the car at 5 p.m. It collided with another car—damage extensive.

SENATE APPLAUDS GEORGE ON HIS 77TH BIRTHDAY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (INS) —Senator George (Dem.), Georgia—who steered the Formosa resolution through the Senate—has a double reason for celebrating today. This is his seventy-seventh birthday.

Senator Barkley (Dem.), Kentucky, who turned 77 last November, called George's birthday to the attention of his colleagues. Barkley said he wanted to welcome George into the "fellowship of youth."

Martha Carr's OPINION

REG U S PAT OFF

Friday and Saturday columns are devoted to teen-agers who are invited to submit their questions to Martha Carr.

Deaer Martha:

FOR a long time I went around with a boy and girl who went steady. Then one day they broke up and said they would never go back together. I started going out with the boy and loved him very much, but his sister was a good friend with the girl he had formerly gone with and she broke us up. He is going with this girl again and never speaks to me. I can't forget him. I'd give anything to have him back. What should I do?

W.M.A.

Well, first of all let's see what you CAN do. You say you can't forget him. That may be so, but neither can you force him to come back to you. He was willing to let his sister break you up and then he hurried back to the other girl. Frankly, it doesn't seem likely that he would be ringing your telephone again soon. So, even though it sounds hard, I'm afraid all you can do is start going with other fellows.

* * *

Dear Martha:

I AM ONLY 16 and not one boy likes me. I am always home on weekends. I am never included with groups of girls and I am constantly at home crying. How can I overcome all this?

LONESOME.

Aren't there one or two girls you could go out with? I know it's no fun to be excluded from a crowd, so the next best thing is to create your own. Try not to feel sorry for yourself, although I grant you it's a temptation when the telephone doesn't ring. Instead, decide right now to do something about it. In the first place, do a little checking up on yourself—your looks, your grooming, your personality, your standards of conduct. Then call up a friend and ask her to go to a movie or just come over and listen to records. The next weekend, you two ask another friend to join you. You'd be surprised how easily you can get together a good group. Maybe it sounds dull and maybe it looks difficult, but it's a lot better than sitting at home and crying.

* * *

Dear Martha:

I HAVE A TWIN SISTER who takes ballroom dancing at school and my mother thinks I should take lessons too. I don't care about it and I don't care about boys. I would like to know if I should take dancing lessons too!

A READER.

I think you and your mother should decide this. However, even though you don't particularly care for the boys in your room, one of these days you'll want to go to dances and then those dancing lessons will come in mighty handy.

Send today for Martha Carr's leaflet prepared especially for teen-agers, "E For Etiquette." Be sure to inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Personal Inventory

By Angelo Patri

BOYS AND GIRLS, you want to be counted in on anything that goes on about you. You want to be invited to the parties, given a part in the play, asked to help with a community project, just to be recognized as the fine up and coming young person you are. Well, just what can you do that people need to have done? Better than an inventory of your talents and skills.

Can you sing before an audience? Can you talk clearly with dramatic appeal? Maybe you can cook? Drive a car? Use tools well? Perhaps you have social grace so you can act as an usher or as assistant to a hostess? Or are you quick with figures so you can be useful in an office job? Can you type? Do packages up with an air?

* * *

YOU HAVE ONE SKILL you can be sure. Maybe more. Cultivate whatever gift you have and offer it freely whenever there is need for it. That is the way to enrich your personality and make friends for yourself. Service to others is really service to yourself. You see there is a time when selfishness is born of truly unselfish acts. When you give yourself without thought of reward your unselfishness becomes the best kind of self love. Try it and see what a rich reward is yours in terms of affection.

This recipe is offered to the boy or girl who is worrying about being unpopular. Stevenson said that to have a friend you must be one. How can anyone know you want to be friendly if you stand on the sidelines, your face darkened by discontent, your whole attitude, perhaps your words too, indicating your low mood?

Of course, you will be left out if you act as if you wanted to be. People will let you alone if you insist but they will be delighted to take you in if you will let down the bars of your fear and offer to lend them a hand in whatever is going on. Sharing is what breaks down barriers.

* * *

TO SHARE YOU MUST BE ABLE to do something that needs doing. That is why you need to sit down and think about what you have to offer the people you would like to know. Nothing? Can you smile? That helps. Can you offer a compliment to someone who has done something well? That will make a friend for you right then and there. And surely there is one thing you can do.

Don't look for top place. Stars rise slowly. Take the job nobody wants and make it a place of honor by doing it so well that everybody is grateful for it. Say the cleaning-up job? If you haven't a big talent take a little one and pick up the broom, organize the clean-up squad and see how popular you will be. You'll be promoted in popular favor, never fear, and your star will rise in time. But you will have to DO something.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

A MOTHER writes: "We are planning to announce our daughter's engagement soon. Her fiance's parents are going to celebrate their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary shortly at a large reception. They thought it would be nice to have the engagement announced at this reception. Would this be proper, and if so, who should make the announcement, and how should it be made?"

It would be quite all right to announce the engagement at this reception, but the announcement should be made by your husband and not by the man's family. After a toast has been drunk to the anniversary couple, the husband rises, says thank you, and then introduces "Mr. Jones, father of the bride-to-be, who has an announcement to make." The bride's father then rises and announces the engagement of his Mary to their John.

Slender Gracefulness for Summer

By Elizabeth Hillyer

A GRACEFUL slenderness typifies the new summer furniture that's beginning to arrive in the stores now. The furniture is no less sturdy for its slimming. Somehow, so little of the sound and excellent materials that make it is needed to contrive comfort and convenience and the most wonderful furniture shapes.

Note, for example, the little bulk necessary for a chair which reclines, rocks, and folds (sketched at upper left). And the spare tracery of a lounge chair and a pull-up chair at right. Even redwood grows thin for the table top at top center, and rattan changes its own round legs for thinner legs of wrought iron, or tapered legs of aluminum.

Aluminum makes quite a showing with the new crop of furniture. It's used in the tubular form for the reclining-rocking chair, as well as for the tapered legs of the two small tables.

* * *

THESE two tables change the typical aluminum color for a gold color. This finish is rustproof, of course, and the aluminum with the redwood or the rattan produces furniture that can take almost anything the weather man can throw at it, outdoors.

* * *

SEE-THROUGH lightness is noticed both in the use of expanded metal, as in the serving cart, and in the woven peel panels in the rattan dining grouping. Even the rattan topped table has a very open weave except at one lowered end.

The three pieces of furniture at right are by the distinguished Italian architect-designer Maurizio Tempestini, who has been the great innovator in wrought iron. His amazing talent for making a few flowing lines of this material turn out to be a sturdy piece of furniture has had an unequaled influence on the so-called summer furniture of today.

Learn how to reclaim and restyle old furniture with beautiful finishes—and what to do about furniture finish repair. Send today for Elizabeth Hillyer's booklet, "Furniture Refinishing—How To Do It Yourself." Address Miss Hillyer at the Post-Dispatch and enclose 15c in coin, please, with a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Teen Tips On What to Talk About

By Elinor Williams

"WHAT can I talk about when I'm with boys? I never can think of a thing to say!"—that's the wail that comes in the mail from high school girls again and again. Let's see if we can find some answers.

First, don't worry about it so much. Try to be more relaxed and casual because it doesn't always matter so much what you say at first—as long as you say something to "break the ice," start a conversation and let him know that you're the friendly type. After all, it's better to be a little quiet than a "big mouth" or a "giggle girl."

As for subjects to talk about—what do you like to talk about? Things that interest you. And so does he. So spend a little time in your "think" department in advance and get some questions ready before you see him. . . . "What did you think of the game last night?" if he's a sports fan; "What did you think of the geometry exam?" if he's a whiz with a quiz.

Some girls declare that you can always please a boy by asking his help or advice with something,

Other date queens maintain that it's a good idea to talk to a book worm about sports (it flatters him) and to let a half-back know that it's his personality that you admire, not his muscles. A sort of reverse technique!

A compliment is a wonderful conversation starter. . . . "I heard something nice about you last week!" will help to make him wear a path to your door to satisfy his curiosity about what you heard.

Another girl says that one of these remarks will make him prick up his ears and his interest when you two are introduced:

"I've heard of you!" . . . or . . . "So you're Jack Jones!"

Furniture Scratches

Want to conceal a scratch on a piece of furniture? Lightly draw a wax stick, made especially for furniture in wood tones, over the scratch; then rub the wax in well with your finger. Now wipe with a soft dry cloth.

Question of Bigness

By Eleanor Roosevelt

SARASOTA, Fla.—

THE question of bigness is again being brought before the people of the country as it is at fairly regular intervals.

This time, Gardner Cowles, editor of Look magazine, has had a nation-wide survey made on the subject, "What the public thinks about big business."

I can remember hearing the late Justice Louis D. Brandeis say big business or big anything was a bad thing because it tended to belittle the individual. He felt very strongly that individual initiative and the development of one human personality was far more important than the mass production which lies at the base of our economic development.

The question that was first asked in the Look survey was: "In general, would you say that big business has been a good thing or not for the nation?"

Eighty per cent of the people questioned said it was a "good thing." Eight per cent thought it was not good. Seven per cent qualified their reply, and five per cent had no opinion.

* * *

THERE was an effort made, too, to find out the reasons for these attitudes. The main reason seemed to be the feeling that big business provided more jobs. Many others thought it lowered prices through mass production. Then there came a number of other reasons why people felt big business was important, such as promoting research, being the backbone of defense production, improving our standard of living, and helping the nation's growth and prosperity.

It is important to remember, though, that people on the whole have short memories. And it is evident in these answers that they have forgotten the day when the power of big business was unchallenged. The laws regulating it were insufficient and the labor unions were not strong enough to be a factor. As a result, some of the benefits now attributed to big business were at that time nonexistent.

Now, however, two out of every three people stated that the laws regulating business were sufficiently broad and strong, and more than half felt these laws were being adequately enforced. Fortunately three out of four felt that this regulation in its present form was necessary and proper.

* * *

ACCORDING to the Look survey, many more people today fear the power of labor unions. This probably is brought about by scandals that have been exposed in some unions, and also by the fact that labor unions are now going through the period that big business once went through. They will learn, just as big business learned, that with all power there must be responsibility. The balance probably will be held about equally between them in the near future.

Some things, however, are still not very well understood about big business. For instance, there was a marked rise in 1954 in the number of business enterprises in the country, and 55 per cent of the over-all increase in employment was in firms with less than 20 employes. This group accounts roughly for 95 per cent of all firms and for about one-fourth of all paid employes.

Macaroni and Cheese Sauce

Ingredients: ½-pound macaroni, two tablespoons butter or margarine, two tablespoons flour, two cups milk, one cup grated cheddar cheese, salt and pepper, paprika.

Method: Cook macaroni in large amount of boiling salted water until just tender; drain. Melt butter in saucepan over low heat; blend in flour. Add milk and cook and stir until bubbly and thickened. Add cheese; stir until melted. Mix cheese sauce and macaroni with salt and pepper to taste. Arrange in baking dish—8 by 10 inches is a good size—and sprinkle with paprika. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven for 20 minutes.

Hamburger Hint

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

WHEN a declarer loses such a contract as South had in the following hand, there can be only one reasonable explanation: he is the victim of a very pernicious habit.

West, dealer
Both sides vulnerable

NORTH
♠Q106
♥A95
♦8432
♣742

WEST
♠AKJ3
♥Q108
♦KJ7
♣Q93

EAST
♠987542
♥2
♦1096
♣865

SOUTH
♥KJ7643
♦AQ5
♣AKJ10

The bidding should have been a matter of high significance to South when it came to the play—namely:

| West | North | East | South |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 No-Trump | Pass | 2 ♠ | 3 ♥ |
| 3 ♠ | Pass | Pass | 4 ♣ |
| Pass | 4 ♥ | Pass | Pass |
| Double | Pass | Pass | Pass |

West was well known to be a thoroughly orthodox bidder, hence when he opened with one no-trump, he identified himself with every honor card, jack or higher, that South was missing when he started to play the hand. Perhaps South was vaguely aware of the fact that to count up the necessary 16 high-card points, West needed all of those honors, but if so, South gave no evidence that the knowledge impressed him. West laid down the king of spades as his opening lead, and South ruffed the trick with visible gusto. He then cashed the king of trumps and led low to the ace, after which he optimistically tried the club finesse. West won—which could scarcely surprise anyone—and, after cashing the queen of hearts, West had nothing to lose by leading the spade ace; dummy was dead.

South ruffed again, ran his good clubs, and finally came to the point where he could not help surrendering two diamonds. So East-West entered up 200 points in their own column.

Now, back to the "pernicious habit" mentioned originally. The fact is that less-than-expert declarers always seem to take pleasure in ruffing a high card when they're void of that suit. How can they be so blind? In this case, for instance, it should have been perfectly clear to South that nothing could be gained by ruffing the opening lead, and that it would be an excellent idea to discard a diamond and thus force West to lead again. The simple truth is that West would have been "end-played" then and there at Trick 2, and South should have known that this would be the effect.

Some Advice on Common Cold

By J. Earl Smith, M.D.

St. Louis Health Commissioner

THE common cold is the most common ailment of mankind, and reaches its highest prevalence during January and February.

Nearly everyone has at least one cold a year and most of us "catch cold" two or three times during the year.

Children have about twice as many colds during the year as adults, and mothers of school children have about twice as many as the fathers.

* * *

COLDS, by themselves, are seldom serious but they cause more real misery and time lost from school and work than all other sicknesses combined.

The average cold lasts from three days to a week, but complications—sinusitis, ear infections, pneumonia and tuberculosis, among others—may follow. Such complications are often caused by neglecting to take care of a simple cold in its early stages.

You may be able to prevent a cold if you:

Avoid chilling. Drafts, wet feet, damp clothing or exposure to bad weather—anything that causes chilling—helps to lower your resistance.

* * *

WHEN you do catch cold:

Protect others by always covering your mouth and nose when you cough or sneeze.

Eat lightly, simple food that agrees with you. Drink plenty of citrus fruit juices, water and other fluids.

Blow your nose gently. If you don't you may force infected material from your nose into the ears or sinuses, causing sinus or ear infections.

Call your physician if your cold starts with chills and fever, or lasts longer than usual.

Let's Explore Your Mind

By Dr. Albert E. Wiggam

1. WHY DO TEENAGERS NEED PSYCHOLOGICAL COUNSEL ON DATING? YOUR OPINION ______
2. IS IT EASY TO BECOME A VICTIM OF MARIHUANA? YES ☐ NO ☐
3. WITH ALL OUR SCIENTIFIC PROGRESS, WILL FUTURE PEOPLES REGARD US AS STUPID? YES ☐ NO ☐
1-29

Answer to Question 1.

NO teen-ager, not even the expert dater, knows it all, and he may be making serious mistakes without realizing them. The poor daters need such advice more than math or geometry. Indeed, healthy and carefree social life helps a young person to be better adjusted and more able to give attention to his studies.

Answer to Question 2.

No. Sociologist Howard Baker concludes from interviews with marihuana users that to get a kick out of marihuana is a long, hard learning process. At first, the smoker is disappointed, but he is egged on by other users until the habit finally "gets him." Fortunately, many give it up after trying their darndest to find any fun in it. Why start?

Answer to Question 3.

Yes, when they find two marriages in five fail, several million children are without classrooms or teachers, few parents give adequate sex education to their children, millions of people die of cancer because they put off or fear seeking medical care, and many other foolish things. They will have every right to regard us as having been social and political morons—if they are any better themselves.

Want people to like you? Then follow the simple methods outlined in the 28-page booklet, "How You, Too, Can Be Popular." Contains tests and 14 easily applied rules. For your copy, send 15 cents (coin only), plus self-addressed, stamped envelope (give name of city and state) to Dr. A. E. Wiggam, care of the Post-Dispatch.

Slim Suits

Slim suits to wear now and into the spring and summer are being made of lightweight materials. Many of these fabrics have a textured weave so that they look heavier than they are. Tweed effects are especially prominent, and there is an emphasis upon the beige and brown tones in contrast to the black and white patterns liked during the past season.

Original Hollywood Pattern

No. 293

IT'S a charmer for spring-to-summer time, and so easy-to-sew you'll marvel. The sacque-styling is figure-flattery for you, with the easy look of the flared skirt, bloused waistline defined by a buttoned belt. Note the simplicity of the two alternate versions: For sunning, there's a narrow neckline yoke band buttoned at the shoulders, forming a smart, sleeveless, warm-weather style. In the cover-up version, it's a demure, well-mannered style just right for cottons, with distinctive, front-buttoned collared yoke and set-in short sleeves.

Fabric Suggestions: It's really a cotton queen, so try it in any of the vast variety of stripes, plains or prints. The collared version is also attractive in tie silks and crepes.

GRANITE CITY STEEL CO. 1954 PROFIT AT $4,012,000

Granite City Steel Co. earned a net profit of $4,012,000 or $2.04 per share, in 1954, compared with $6,488,000 or $3.55 per share the previous year, it was announced yesterday.

Net sales decreased from $87,800,000 in 1953 to $69,300,000 last year. Ingot production also decreased from 938,000 tons to 635,000 tons in the same period.

John N. Marshall, board chairman and president of the company, said that despite lower profits, sales and production last year, the firm was able to improve quality and reduce costs. Orders on hand, he said, indicate the company will make and deliver more steel in the first quarter of this year than in any quarter of 1954.

SISTERS FROZEN TO DEATH

Death of Miss Mary Ann Ramsay, 75 years old, and her sister, Georgianna, 72, whose bodies were found yesterday in their bungalow at 4259 Connecticut street, was caused by freezing, an autopsy showed.

The sisters, who had suffered a series of strokes, lived alone. Discovery of the bodies was by a neighbor who went to the house to help them clean.

JUDGE RULES OUT PROLONGED 3-CENT AIR MAIL EXPERIMENT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—A United States district judge ruled yesterday the Postmaster General may conduct experiments with sending first-class (three-cent) mail by air, but said they must not be "prolonged."

Judge James R. Kirkland turned down a request of five major western railroads for an injunction prohibiting the shifting of three-cent mail from trains to planes along the Pacific slope.

The judge said that although the Postmaster General had the right to undertake the Pacific Coast experiment, it would be unlawful for him to make it prolonged. He did not indicate how long that might be.

The experiment in carrying three cent mail by air when cargo space is available on planes has been under way since last November. The judge said this was not sufficient time to warrant him granting the railroads an injunction.

U.S. PROTESTS AGAINST PERU'S DETENTION OF SHIPS

LIMA, Jan. 28 (UP)—The United States today filed a formal protest against the detention and fining by Peru of two Seattle fishing vessels for allegedly fishing in Peruvian waters without proper permission.

The American embassy handed a note to the foreign office. The vessels put into Callao Jan. 19, one with a damaged engine and the other with an injured seaman aboard.

Peruvian authorities claimed the ships were filled with 300 tons of bonito which, according to the logs, were caught inside the 200-mile territorial zone claimed by Peru. Each captain was ordered to pay a $5000 fine.

JAPAN IS RECEPTIVE TO SOVIET OVERTURE

Willing to Open Peace Treaty Talks if Russian Proposal Is Official.

TOKYO, Jan. 29 (AP)—Japan is not adverse to opening negotiations with Russia—presumably for a World War II peace treaty and the settlement of other problems—if a Soviet communication received here is official, Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu said today.

Shigemitsu told a news conference the Japanese government is checking the letter delivered to Premier Hatoyama yesterday by Andrei Dominitsky, chief of the unrecognized Soviet mission.

"We cannot start negotiations on the basis of imagination," he said. "Until confirmation is obtained. . . . Procedures for beginning such negotiations are not complete."

Second, Japan wants an understanding of the issues that would be taken up including its former territories now held by Russia.

Shigemitsu maintained that Japan's stand on Soviet relations has not changed since he spoke before the Diet last week. At that time he said the technical state of war between Japan and Russia is "extremely irrational and abnormal," and "we would like to see it changed."

He also expressed regret before the Diet that little progress was being made toward solution of "territorial issues" and the "question of Japanese nationals" still held in Russia.

The Soviet Union occupies the Kurile and Habomai islands and the southern half of Sakhalin island north of Japan, all former Japanese territories.

Thousands of Japanese captured in Russia's sweep through Manchuria in the closing days of World War II are also reported still held as prisoners.

Hatoyama said yesterday he was "confident the Soviet Union will shortly end its state of war with Japan . . ."

Russia has also stated in recent radio broadcasts it wanted to "normalize relations" with Japan.

Both Hatoyama and Shigemitsu have repeatedly stated, however, that friendship for the United States takes precedence over the issue of better Russian relations.

SOUTH KOREA PAYS TRIBUTE TO U.S. MARINE DIVISION

SEOUL, Jan. 29 (AP)—South Korea's National Assembly today presented a letter of appreciation to the First Marine Division, praising its war record here as one which will live "with the memory of all Korean people forever." The Marines are scheduled to depart soon for their home base at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The letter, presented by Assembly Chairman Lee Ki Pong to Maj. Gen. Merrill B. Twining cited the Marines' long combat record from the Inchon landing in September 1950, to its defense of the western front north of Seoul since March 1952.

COMMODITY INDEX RISES TO A NEW 1954-55 PEAK

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (AP) — The Associated Press index of important commodity prices rose this week to a new 1954-55 high. It registered 177.14 compared with 174.87 a week ago and 174.30 a year ago.

A major factor in the rise was the increase of 3 cents a pound in the price of copper. It sent the non-ferrous metals group to a new 1954-55 high.

Also higher were the industrials, food, livestock, grains and cotton and textiles.

HOG RUN UP 12 PER CENT BUT PRICE BASIS BETTER

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Jan. 29 (USDA)—Weekly review of livestock market:

Choice and prime slaughter steers and heifers closed the week Friday strong to 50c higher than a week ago. Other grades barely steady with instances 25@50c lower. Beef cows ruled about steady, canner and cutter cows 25@50c higher. Bulls were unchanged and vealers closed steady after losing an early $1 advance. Choice steers bulked at $25.50@27, prime 1102-lb. weights topping at $30. Most good steers turned at $22@25. Choice mixed yearlings reached a top of $26.50, most good and choice heifers and mixed yearlings selling at $21.50@25. Utility and commercial cows bulked at $10@12, a few $12.50. Utility and commercial bulls mainly $12.50@14. A few prime vealers reached $34, most good and choice $24@32. Commercial and good slaughter calves, $16@21.

All hogs advanced 25@50c except boars, on which there was no change. Prices fluctuated between tops of $18@18.50, closing at $18.50. Receipts both locally and twelve markets up 12 per cent for week. General demand broad although weight continued to be severely penalized. Preference for grade 1 and 2 resulted in daily tops but no very marked premium as compared fat-type hogs of same weight. Bulks for week as follows: 160-220 lbs., $17.50@18.50; 220-240 lbs., $17@18; 240-270 lbs., $16@17.50; 280-350 lbs., $15.50@16.25; 150-170 lbs. sparingly, $16.50@18; sows 400 lbs. down, $15@16; heavier sows, $13.25@15; boars, $10@12.50.

Receipts of sheep smallest and prices highest since August. Most lambs were choice with only moderate showing of prime. Nearly half of run comprised lambs 100 lbs. and over, many scaling 105-110 lbs. and above. Penalties for such weights very moderate. Top wooled lambs, $22.25 for about 200 head. Great bulk woolskins, $21@22; little under $18 except few culls. Only small showing clipped lambs. These No. 1 skins and fall clips from $20.75@21 largely; a few $21.25. Lambs 50@75c net higher for week; aged sheep steady to $1 higher. Bulk slaughter ewes, $5@6.

Mississippi Valley Stockyards.

Mississippi Valley Stockyard, Inc. reported as follows: For the week, most good to choice steers and butcher yearlings $22@25; top $27.50; better beef cows Friday $10@12.50; top sausage bulls $14; good to prime vealers $24@33.

St. L. Southwestern Income.

St. Louis Southwestern Railway (Cotton Belt) reported December net income of $2,006,276 compared with a deficit of $362,281 in December 1953. Railway operating revenues last month were $5,116,263 against $5,563,065 in December a year ago. For the 12 months net was $16,815,964 compared with $9,216,104 in the preceding year. Operating revenues in 1954 were $59,070,356 against $72,642,756 in 1953. Company said net income recorded in 1954 accounts included certain large non-recurring items aggregating $7,443,000. After allowance for such items, net applicable to 1954 operations approximated $9,373,000.

INDUSTRIAL STOCKS RISE FOR NINE WEEKS

Daily News Items Give Impetus to the Forward Movement.

By ELMER C. WALZER
United Press Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, Jan. 29 (UP)—Stocks advanced this week despite further pressure on credit. Industrial issues rounded out nine consecutive sessions of gain and rose 8.78 points on average (Dow-Jones industrials) for the week to close at 404.68. That was a new high since Jan. 6 and slightly higher than the close of 1954. Railroads gained 3.29 points in their average to close the week at $144.20, a new high since Jan. 12. They were below the 1954 close of 145.86. Utilities suffered a loss of nearly a full point but about half the loss was accounted for by a distribution by Commonwealth Edison of its Northern Illinois Gas stock.

16,811,180-Share Week.

Transactions for the week amounted to 16,811,180 shares, a daily average of 3,362,236 shares, against 14,016,960 and 2,803,392 shares respectively last week.

There were many reasons for the steady advance in the daily news items.

On Monday President Eisenhower asked Congress for authority to fight if necessary to protect Formosa.

This set off a big demand for defense stocks — steel, metal, shipbuilding, aircraft, electronic and miscellaneous issues—which carried through Tuesday.

After the close on Tuesday, United States Steel electrified the Street by ordering a two-for-one split in its common stock and raising the dividend. The latter had been anticipated. The former wasn't even talked about.

Steels Run Wild.

On Wednesday the steels ran wild. U.S. Steel opened on 100,000 shares at 78 up 5½ points—A block worth $7,800,000, reputedly the largest in value ever traded. Big steel closed that day with a gain of 7 points and Bethlehem of 7¾. The latter was to meet next day and immediately the Street concluded there would be a stock split.

Thursday was another good day. Coppers got into action on a three-cent price rise for the metal. Oils were bid up on demand for fuel oil caused by unseasonal cold weather in many sections.

Bethlehem's report hit a few minutes before closing on Thursday. It did not inculde a split. Immediately the stock fell from $120 to $112 and closed a '$114, off $3.75 on the day.

On Friday the market rose again. The street took a better view of Bethlehem and sent it higher. Other defense issues joined the steels. Finally the railroads got into action.

A Cabinet report on the railroads, setting forth methods to help them is expected shortly. This together with favorable December earnings for many roads brought the spurt which amounted to more than 3 points on Friday.

U. S. Bonds Sold.

Thus was rounded out a week of rise that came along with further selling of Government bonds by the Federal Reserve System and finally a long term Government bond issue—40 year 3 per cent bonds—designed to sop up some investment money from the stock market.

The London market rose despite a rise from 3 to 3½ per cent in the discount rate by the Bank of England. In that case the rise was smaller than expected. In the bond case the amount of the long term bonds was smaller than had been anticipated.

Copper—Chile 7¾; Magma 5¾: Kennecott 5.

Rails—Illinois Central 5⅛; Santa Fe 5¾; Katy preferred 6⅜.

Two Railroads Report.

CHICAGO, Jan. 29 (INS)—The Illinois Central Railroad and the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Co. (Rock Island) report larger earnings for December 1954, but lower profit for the year.

The I.C. reports net income of $3,095,569 for December before sinking fund provisions, compared with $1,446,930 in the like month of 1953. For the year profit totaled $22,014,194, as against $26,369,081 in 1953.

Net income of Rock Island for December was $3,597,624, as compared with $2,483,199 for the like month in 1953. Earnings for 1954 amounted to $18,669,148 as compared with $25,912,087 in 1953.

General Steel Castings Preferred.

CHESTER, Pa., Jan. 29 (AP)—Charles P. Whitehead, president of General Steel Castings Corp., announced that the firm's board of directors is considering a plan to redeem outstanding preferred stock on April 1 at a price of $110 plus accrued dividends of $1.50.

Board meeting was adjourned until Feb. 25 to permit formulation of the plan, Whitehead said, and action on dividends on preferred and common stock was deferred until that time.

Whitehead said that pending the proposed redemption the corporation may continue to purchase shares of its preferred stock in the open market.

Steel Scrap Delivery.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28 (AP)—The Chicago Mercantile Exchange said deliveries of cash steel scrap on all open commitments in the January futures contract have been completed. At the close of trading in the contract on Jan. 14 a total of 23 open trades remained for delivery.

January was the first month in which any contracts in the newly opened steel scrap futures have matured. Volume of trading in this contract, which started Sept. 7, totaled 205 contracts.

Erie Stock Retirement Plan.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 (AP)—The Erie Railroad Co. asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to retire its Series A preferred stock through a debenture issue. Erie proposes to issue $40,288,200 of 5 per cent income debentures, due Jan. 1, 2020, in exchange for 402,882 shares of outstanding preferred. The exchange, at the option of the preferred stockholder, would be on a basis of one $100 income debenture for each share of Series A preferred.

Directors Approve Merger.

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Jan. 29 (AP)—The agreement to merge Affiliated Gas Equipment, Inc., into Carrier Corp. has been approved by the boards of directors of both companies, Carrier President Cloud Wampler announced today. The formal agreement will be voted upon by stockholders Feb. 23. It is expected that the merger will become effective about March 1.

Southern Railway Car Order.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 29 (AP)—The Southern Railway system announced it had placed an order for 1150 steel boxcars with the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing Co.'s Bessemer plant, costing about $10,000,000. Delivery of the 50-ton cars is to begin in the second quarter of 1955.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

THE colonel rose at once and came over to shake hands with Grein. His face looked redder than usual, his eyes somewhat bloodshot. He had tricked Grein and lied to him, at least by indirection, and Grein was not one to forgive such tactics, and yet for a reason that escaped him, he could not help liking this aging, inadequate, harassed officer.

The colonel showed obvious embarrassment, but shook hands heartily.

"I didn't send for you, Grein. Must be some mistake. Glad to see you, however."

"I know you didn't send for me," said Grein. "But that woman at the door . . ."

"Teresa?" The colonel laughed. "She seems to think the Don is still here. Hard to get in. Very, very hard. Lt. Carmody was almost turned away the other night. Come in, Grein. You know these men, I think."

Busby, his bald head shining like varnished wood under the lights, kept his seat, stared at Grein with marked dislike. LeCompte, however, rose halfway uneasily, then sat down again.

LeCompte was a clever little man, except at the work he got paid for doing. He was a conniver, a trimmer, a politician. He knew how to butter up the Big Boys, how to flatter them, and run errands for them and make himself indispensable. He knew as little about Indian scouting as the colonel knew about how to handle irregular troops, the only kind of any real value in the Southwest.

Grein took the cigar the colonel offered him, lit it, and sat down.

"When are you leaving for Wyoming, Mr. Grein?" asked Busby, as if to make conversation, but there was a certain gleam of satisfaction in his eyes. After all, he himself, practically unaided, had cut this insolent, arrogant, semi-illiterate savage down to size.

"Haven't made up my mind yet, Busby," said Grein. "When are you leaving for Washington?"

"As soon as this little Indian business is cleared up."

"Then you're going to be here a long time, the way you are going at it."

"I don't need any advice from you, Grein."

"I know. I know," said Grein. Then he turned to LeCompte. "August, couldn't you find a couple of better scouts to send with Carmody? Hildy's no good and you know it. One Eye carries his own whisky in the saddlebag."

* * *

LECOMPTE squirmed. He felt himself shrinking from Grein, a man who had always made him very uneasy, a hard-eyed unfriendly man who would barely pass the time of day with you. All the same, he himself was the boss now, and he had to show Busby and Col. Weybright that he knew how to handle things. "Oh, I don't know, Grein," he said. "Neither one has ever been ambushed as far as I know."

Busby's face glowed with satisfaction and he smiled at LeCompte. The colonel stared unhappily at the floor.

"You know," said Grein, after a pause, "that James Eagle is a mighty persuasive fellow—and smart. Maybe he did learn something while he was back East at school—at least something about how to handle politicians."

Grein looked steadily at Busby for a moment. "James Eagle saw a big bird up in the mountains and went all to pieces—a condor, Mr. Busby, with a 10-foot wingspread. A bird big enough to carry you off, Mr. Busby, watch-chain, watch, and all: carry you off, feed you to its young, and pick your bones. Well . . . James he went all to pieces, like a hysterical young girl. And then when the fighting started, five against 10 or 12—we got one man wounded, and we killed six broncos—James, he ran away like the coward he is.

"Then what did he do? He beat us down into town because we took two days getting a wounded soldier in, and started telling lies about us. And you all believed them, and played right into the hands of the Hoot Owls, who are now laughing at you up in the mountains and also on the reservation — and James Eagle is probably up in the mountains laughing with them."

"James Eagle is going to bring Toriano in," snapped Busby. "All this fighting and killing will soon be over and then things will be dull for you, Grein, won't they? That's your whole life, Grein, isn't it? Hunting men down, killing them. Do you know what you are called in this country, Grein?"

"You are called the White Apache."

"You, Mr. Busby, are called Egg Head."

* * *

LE COMPTE looked as if he might faint. His little mustache quivered like the feelers of a cat. The colonel choked and almost swallowed his cigar, and his face turned purple. But Busby jumped up, livid with range, and began to shout and wave his arms.

"Colonel," he cried, his voice rising and breaking, "I demand that this brute be ejected from the house at once. I see no earthly reason why I, a Government official, should be subjected to such insolence by this incompetent . . . this killer . . . this hunter of men . . . this pitiless . . ."

The colonel rose quickly, sobered. "Grein," he said sharply, "leave this house at once. Enough is enough. Consider yourself suspended. I am now revoking your transfer to Wyoming. I'll take your case up later."

Grein rose and stood trying to calm himself. "I'm sorry, colonel. But you're all making a big mistake and I hate to see you do it. It's going to set us back 10 years with the Apaches."

Busby, sweating profusely, stood wiping his face with a big white silk handkerchief. He looked as if he might have a stroke at any minute. He was outraged. Nobody in his whole life had ever talked that way to him before, except his wife.

"I disagree with you, Grein," said the colonel, "I think we are now very near a painless solution of our problem. I've sent Lt. Carmody to escort Toriano into Agua Prieta. He's willing to parley here."

"How you know? You taking James Eagle's word? What's he got to do with Toriano?"

"We're not arguing," said Grein. "I'm going right away. Keep your shirt on."

The colonel went on. "There's a lot you don't know about the situation, Grein. It all developed while you were in Big Sheep range. Lt. Bryant failed to prevent Porfirio from getting into Mexico. Porfirio crossed the line and then was attacked by Mexican Indians. Porfirio whipped them, but now he can't come down out of the mountains, or won't. We sent emissaries to him, begging him to come in. . . ."

"He'll never come in while Toriano's alive. That's the whole point."

"We beg to differ," said Busby, loudly.

"One more thing," said Grein, "then I'm going. Toriano needs a victory, a Big Sky Coup, to put himself solid with the Apaches. If he gets it, look out. Porfirio will never come in, and the next thing you know you'll have a real break from the reservation, the whole works maybe. Then the Government will have to send all the Regular Cavalry they got to the Southwest. . . ."

The colonel shot an angry glance as Busby, then lowered his eyes.

"I'm real sorry, colonel," said Grein. "You're in a spot. Don't think I don't know it and understand it. Good night, sir."

He turned and went out.

"Insolent brute," cried Busby. "Savage."

But the colonel said nothing. He sank down into his chair, badly shaken, and LeCompte was so nervous that he dropped his cigar on the priceless rug and got down on his hands and knees to retrieve it, making loud clucks of self-recrimination.

FORECAST

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

Weather conditions as of 12:30 a.m., C.S.T., Jan. 29. Temperature figures show average for area. Arrows denote wind flow; shaded areas indicate rain; dotted areas indicate snow. Barometric highs and lows in inches.

Cold weather prevailed again today in the St. Louis area, and Meteorologist Harry F. Wahlgren said little change in subnormal temperature is expected through Monday. He predicted a range tomorrow and Monday of 5 to near 20 with partly skies.

The coldest weather of the season was spread over wide areas of the nation today with below zero temperature readings from northern Missouri and Illinois eastward. Minimums in Missouri early today ranged from five below zero at Kirksville to 13 above at Joplin. It was 7 in St. Louis and 4 at the Lambert-St. Louis Field weather station. Lowest in the nation was 34 below zero at International Falls, Minn.

The freezing line extended this morning to the Gulf states, but a warming trend was reported in the eastern slopes of the Rockies and western Great Plains with temperatures up 10 to 35 degrees higher than yesterday.

Light precipitation in the 24-hour period ending early today fell from the Plains states eastward to the Atlantic coast. St. Louis's .08 of an inch of precipitation brought one inch of snow. Rainfall here this year totals 1.52 inches to date as compared with the normal of 2.18.

By Ramon Coffman

LAST Saturday I quoted a letter from Harry Ullery, telling about strange weblike material dropped on the roof of his home, as well as on trees in the yard.

A newspaper reporter visited the Ullery home and wrote a long article in which he brought up "flying saucers from Mars" which might have dropped the substance. The reporter described it as "like webs in thickness but more like ribbons in width." He added:

"It was elastic, like a melted plastic. Some strings were draped from trees as well as from the house. They may have been from 40 to 60 feet long."

* * *

MR. ULLERY told about the suggestion of a friend that the material was made up of floating spider webs. From the facts as I understand them, I would say that the friend probably had the right explanation.

There are ballooning spiders, and hundreds of them may start wandering at the same time. A young spider of this kind goes to the top of a tall blade of grass or a fence post or some other object, and then lets out a bit of silk.

* * *

IF ALL GOES WELL, a gust of wind catches hold of the streaming thread and lifts it into the air. Then the spider starts on a trip which may take it many miles. Ballooning spiders have been found on the ocean hundreds of miles from land.

It is common for the young spiders to part company, landing in various places. Sometimes, however, many of them are let down in the same field. A field containing acres of ground may be almost covered with webs spun by spiders of this kind. Sometimes the webs unite and form "ribbons of gossamer."
